A business can decide which of the following two inventory systems to use to record and control their inventory.

SYSTEM	IMPORTANT POINTS
Perpetual	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Entries are made in a Balance Sheet account called trading stock (an asset account) every time goods are bought and sold.</li> <li>b) Cost of sales needs to be calculated and recorded every time goods are sold.</li> <li>c) When stock is purchased the trading stock account is debited with the cost price (the asset is increasing).</li> <li>d) When stock is sold the trading stock account is credited with the cost price (the asset is decreasing).</li> <li>e) Any additional costs when purchasing stock are debited to the trading stock account (e.g. carriage on purchases).</li> <li>f) This system is better for the internal control of inventory.</li> </ul>
Periodic	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Businesses would decide to use this system when it is not always feasible to calculate cost of sales every time goods are sold.</li> <li>b) Stock purchases are recorded in a nominal account called purchases (an expense account).</li> <li>c) Additional expenses when purchasing stock (e.g. carriage on purchases) are recorded separately in a nominal account called carriage on purchases (an expenses account).</li> <li>d) Cost of sales is therefore only calculated periodically by using the formula:  <math display="block">\text{Opening stock} + \text{purchases} + \text{carriage on purchases} + \text{import duties} + \text{customs duties} - \text{closing stock} = \text{cost of sales}.</math> </li> </ul>

Blumenthal-Dramé, Adriana Hanulíková, Bernd Kortmann, 2017-06-05 Recent years have seen an upsurge of interest in the notion of salience in linguistics and related disciplines While in top down salience perceivers endogenously direct their attention to a certain stimulus in the bottom up salience it is the stimulus itself which attracts attention In prototypical cases of bottom up salience the stimulus stands out because it is incongruous with a given ground by virtue of intrinsic physical characteristics But a stimulus may also cause surprise by virtue of deviating from a cognitive ground e g when violating social or probabilistic expectations This has prompted researchers to examine the relationship between expectations and the perceptual salience of linguistic stimuli in new ways This e book features contributions from different scientific frameworks The reader will find commentaries reviews and original research articles on models of sociolinguistic and morphological salience the role of attention affect and predictability and on how salient items are processed categorized and learned Taken together the articles in this volume contribute to our understanding of how the perceptual salience of linguistic forms and variants can be theoretically framed and methodologically operationalized in different areas of linguistic processing
