Tiger Check Steven A. Fino,2017-11 The fielding of automated flight controls and weapons systems in fighter aircraft from 1950 to 1980 challenged the significance ascribed to several of the pilots historical skillsets such as superb hand eye coordination required for aggressive stick and rudder maneuvering and perfect eyesight and crack marksmanship required for long range visual detection and destruction of the enemy Highly automated systems would proponents argued simplify the pilot s tasks while increasing his lethality in the air thereby opening fighter aviation to broader segments of the population However these new systems often required new unique skills which the pilots struggled to identify and develop Moreover the challenges that accompanied these technologies were not restricted to individual fighter cockpits but rather extended across the pilots tactical formations altering the social norms that had governed the fighter pilot profession since its establishment In the end the skills that made a fighter pilot great in 1980 bore little resemblance to those of even thirty years prior despite the precepts embedded within the myth of the fighter pilot As such this history illuminates the rich interaction between human and machine that often accompanies automation in the workplace It is broadly applicable to other enterprises confronting increased automation from remotely piloted aviation to Google cars It should appeal to those interested in the history of technology and automation as well as the general population of military aviation enthusiasts Provided by publisher

Soviet Aces of World War 2 Hugh Morgan,2013-01-20 At the time of publication no single volume in English had ever appeared in the West dealing with this intriguing subject area. Once restrictions relaxed in the former Soviet Union the records of their elite pilots' deeds detailed in this book came to light. Although initially equipped with very poor aircraft and robbed of effective leadership thanks as much to Stalin's purges in the late 1930s as to the efforts of the Luftwaffe, Soviet fighter pilots soon turned the tables through the use of both lend lease aircraft like the Hurricane, Spitfire, P-39 and P-40 and home grown machines like the MiG-3, LaGG-3, Lavochkin La-5, La-7 and the Yak-1.

3 Workplace-based Assessments in Psychiatry Dinesh Bhugra, Amit Malik, Nick Brown, 2007. A new competency based curriculum in psychiatry approved by PMETB will come into place in August 2007. This requires that far more teaching, learning and assessment will occur in the workplace in real clinical time and real situations. This book will be a general introduction to the workplace based assessments that are to accompany the new curriculum. It will explore how the best potential way to collect data on trainees' performance is the personal witnessing of patient interactions over a period of time. The book will outline the theory and practice behind various assessments such as case based discussions, long case and short case evaluations, patient satisfaction, directly observed practice and multi source feedback. In addition to examples, rating schedules which the College is currently piloting will be included.
