Bears in the Forest Karen Wallace, 1994 With a clear informative text by Karen Wallace including fascinating facts about black bear behavior and biology and large sunny watercolors by Barbara Firth Bears in the Forest takes young readers through two warm summers and two snowy winters with a mama bear and her cubs Young Researchers Margaret Mallett, 2002-02-07 Informational kinds of reading are crucial in every lesson This book looks at how we can encourage children from the very beginning to think of themselves as young researchers using skills and strategies for clear purposes It argues that the creative practitioner nurtures children's sense of wonder and curiosity about the world and all its phenomena Packed full of advice on how to use the most stimulating and exciting texts and the liveliest approaches the book celebrates the good practice of teachers and student teachers in a large number of classroom case studies The content includes a summary of the recent developments and a framework of principles to inform good practice in this challenging aspect of literacy chapters concentrating on particular age groups beginning with the nursery and ending with the later primary years and thus taking up an essentially developmental approach an assessment of recent research and how findings can be put to practical and creative use in the classroom A central message is that children benefit from collaborating with teachers and peers at every stage of finding out The spoken language energises informational reading and writing making the sharing of the fruits of children's research highly enjoyable This book will inspire you and lead to the very best practice Reading the Mountains of Home John Elder, 1998 Small farms once occupied the heights that John Elder calls home but now only a few cellar holes and tumbled stone walls remain among the dense stands of maple beech and hemlocks on these Vermont hills Reading the Mountains of Home is a journey into these verdant reaches where in the last century humans tried their hand and where bear and moose now find shelter As John Elder is our guide so Robert Frost is Elder's companion his great poem Directive seeing us through a landscape in which nature and literature loss and recovery are inextricably joined Over the course of a year Elder takes us on his hikes through the forested uplands between South Mountain and North Mountain reflecting on the forces of nature from the descent of the glaciers to the rush of the New Haven River that shaped a plateau for his village of Bristol and on the human will that denuded and farmed and abandoned the mountains so many years ago His forays wind through the flinty relics of nineteenth century homesteads and Abenaki settlements leading to meditations on both human failure and the possibility for deeper communion with the land and others An exploration of the body and soul of a place an interpretive map of its natural and literary life Reading the Mountains of Home strikes a moving balance between the pressures of civilization and the attraction of wilderness It is a beautiful work of nature writing in which human nature finds its place where the reader is invited to follow the last line of Frost's Directive to Drink and be whole again beyond confusion Bears in the Forest Karen Wallace, Barbara (ill.)
