The Politics of Public Broadcasting in Britain and Japan Henry Laurence, 2022-07-29 The BBC and NHK have dominated their national media systems since the 1920s and still play a central role in shaping political social and cultural life Both are highly trusted news organizations and vitally influence national identity Yet despite remarkably similar organizational and funding structures they differ in their editorial autonomy relationship to the state and in the social and cultural roles they play While the BBC proud of its independence acts as a watchdog on the powerful NHK prefers a guide dog role cooperating with rather than confronting political elites The BBC is also more willing to challenge prevailing social norms often serving as an agent of social change NHK prefers to avoid controversy serving as an agent of social stability The book argues that these differences were shaped by decades of conflict and cooperation between broadcasters governments commercial media interest groups and audiences The broadcasters adopted distinctive editorial strategies to retain public support and elite approval in the face of technological upheaval hostility from commercial rivals and continuous political interference Both however continue to uphold the belief that democratic and social goals are better served by public rather than commercial media

Falling Down Phil Burton-Cartledge, 2021-09-14 The Fall of the Tory Party Despite winning the December 2019 General Election the Conservative parliamentary party is a moribund organisation It no longer speaks for or to the British people Its leadership has sacrificed the long standing commitment to the Union to Get Brexit Done And beyond this it is an intellectual vacuum propped up by half baked doctrine and magical thinking Falling Down offers an explanation for how the Tory party came to position itself on the edge of the precipice and offers a series of answers to a question seldom addressed as the party is poised to press the self destruct button what kind of role and future can it have This tipping point has been a long time coming and Burton Cartledge offers critical analysis to this narrative Since the era of Thatcherism the Tories have struggled to find a popular vision for the United Kingdom At the same time their members have become increasingly old Their values have not been adopted by the younger voters The coalition between the countryside and the City interests is under pressure and the latter is split by Brexit The Tories are locked into a declinist spiral and with their voters not replacing themselves the party is more dependent on a split opposition putting into question their continued viability as the favoured vehicle of British capital
