China's Coercion of States in the Asia-Pacific Region Maximilian Ernst, 2025-02-11 This book explains why China chooses to coerce Asia Pacific regional states despite the risk of such actions creating a backlash and complicating its strategic calculus China's coercion of neighboring states often a variation of heavy informal economic sanctions combined with diplomatic pressure and gray zone coercive measures has been increasingly observable in the past decade It has become an important tool in China's foreign policy toolbox and is frequently used by Beijing to shape the security political environment of the Asia Pacific The book begins with an appreciation of China's complicated geopolitical exposition and an understanding that such coercion creates backlash since the target state will likely be alienated and pushed into closer security cooperation with the United States China's main geopolitical rival Through two in depth case studies of Chinese coercion targeting the Philippines and South Korea respectively the book demonstrates that first the reason China coerces is that the secondary state engages in actions that fundamentally threaten China's security interests and second it will coerce these states only if other policy options geared to change the secondary state's course of action have not worked Employing balance of power theory and particularly wedge strategies the book solves a pertinent research question and improves our knowledge of contemporary security politics in the Asia Pacific This book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners of Asia Pacific security Chinese foreign policy and international relations

Unpacking the Death Penalty in ASEAN Sriprapha Petcharamesree, Mark P. Capaldi, Alan Collins, 2023-03-20 This book contributes conceptually theoretically and morally to a deeper understanding of the distinctive Asian perceptions of punishment justice and human rights Researched and prepared by scholars who have not only been conducting studies on the death penalty in the region but have also been advocating for legal reforms this edited book touches upon the different justifications for the use of capital punishment in the ASEAN region exposing the secrecy sensitivities and dilemmas that mask violations of international human rights laws The chapters bring in numerous new perspectives which have been overlooked in the traditional discourse surrounding the use of the death penalty such as that around crimes that do not meet the threshold of most serious the dignity of death row inmates and their families contradictions within religion and capital punishment and the way in which growing authoritarianism and the media are adversely influencing the public's perception and support for capital punishment in the region In examining how public opinion shapes state policies towards the death penalty and how it varies according to different offences and different states the authors critically analyse how the international human rights mechanisms have specifically called for ASEAN member states to refrain from extending the application of the death penalty and to limit it to the most serious crimes Relevant to socio legal scholars focused on crime and punishment in Southeast Asia and in the Global South more broadly this is a landmark collection in criminology and human rights scholarship Chapter ASEAN and the Death Penalty Theoretical and Legal Views and a Pathway to Abolition is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com

Decolonizing Global Intelligence Pak Nung Wong, 2025-07-24 From September 11 to the calamitous withdrawal of United States troops from Afghanistan Western intelligence has failed to negotiate the largest military and humanitarian crises across the world This book proposes to decolonize global intelligence from the peripheries of the Global South and put forward a new intelligence practice of inclusive statecraft It shows how dominant Western intelligence systems have failed to protect the very ideas they promised to uphold and the discrepancy between the West's Responsibility to Protect R2P liberalist doctrine and the realist on the ground complex reality as observed by the Failure to Protect F2P scholars Drawing theoretical insights and empirical both historical and contemporary materials from a wide array of case studies of Western and non Western intelligence settings and practices as well as their interactions it argues that the next generation of global security and intelligence practitioners will necessitate genuine interracial non anthropocentric and cross cultural inclusivity especially the capability to take the non Western intelligence cultures and their realist strategic thoughts seriously This book will not just add new knowledge to the larger field of security and intelligence studies but will also pioneer the relatively underdeveloped fields of comparative intelligence cultures and interstellar intelligence cultural studies It will be indispensable for policymakers bureaucrats and government officials

Tan, 2013-12-13 This book is the first systematic examination of the emerging arms race in Asia The global trade in arms is to a large degree underpinned by the strong demand for arms in Asia and the Middle East the two largest arms export markets in the world Of these two regions Asia has become particularly significant led by the emergence of China and India as major powers It is therefore not surprising that the rapid military modernisation in Asia accompanied by significant increases in the size and sophistication of armed forces has generated attention as to its trends key characteristics causes and implications This phenomenon which has become evident since the end of the Cold War has also been widely described as an Asian arms race This book evaluates the key conceptual ideas which can shed light on this phenomenon as well as examining the complex mix of internal external and technological factors that have led to its emergence The volume explores the way in which the arms race is leading ultimately to three distinctive blocs in the emerging geostrategic landscape a loose bloc of US allies in the region a counter bloc of potential US adversaries and a neutral bloc of states with industrial age armed forces whose allegiances will vary according to circumstances and geostrategic developments The Arms Race in Asia concludes that if the emerging arms race is left unchecked it is likely that Asia will increasingly become a region of instability marked by conflicts and interstate wars The book will be of great interest to students of Asian politics strategic studies defence studies security studies and IR in general

Populist Foreign Policy Philip Giurlando, Daniel F. Wajner, 2023-05-09 This book explores the global phenomenon of populism in relation to states foreign policy addressing two key questions How do populists mold their foreign policies What are the domestic and external factors that enable and constrain it To this end the book brings together a diverse group of scholars who have already researched on populist foreign policies PFP in specific countries to contribute shared chapters that examine their drivers patterns and effects according to distinctive regions North America Western Europe Southern Europe Central Eastern Europe Latin America South East Asia the Middle East Oceania and Africa The empirical analysis sheds new light on how populists distinctive conception of a world divided antagonistically between the people and the elites influences behaviour towards multilateral organizations such as the United Nations and the European Union and regional or global hegemonic powers like the United States Germany Russia and China The book also shows how ideas related to identity ideology status and emotions impinge on populists conduct vis vis other international actors and how national and international structures affect the implementation of populist foreign policies in the regional interregional and global arenas The wide geographical diversity and regional representation are also valuable in identifying cultural similarities and differences Hence the findings contribute to lively debates on whether there is a unified and coherent foreign policy among populist leaderships and whether populism leads to a gradual corrective of transnational trends in contemporary politics or conversely to a more radical structural shift in the liberal international order

Reforming Intelligence Thomas C. Bruneau, Steven C. Boraz, 2009-04-20 These days it s rare to pick up a newspaper and not see a story related to intelligence From the investigations of the 9 11 commission to accusations of illegal wiretapping to debates on whether it s acceptable to torture prisoners for information intelligence both accurate and not is driving domestic and foreign policy And yet in part because of its inherently secretive nature intelligence has received very little scholarly study Into this void comes Reforming Intelligence a timely collection of case studies written by intelligence experts and sponsored by the Center for Civil Military Relations CCMR at the Naval Postgraduate School that collectively outline the best practices for intelligence services in the United States and other democratic states Reforming Intelligence suggests that intelligence is best conceptualized as a subfield of civil military relations and is best compared through institutions The authors examine intelligence practices in the United States United Kingdom and France as well as such developing democracies as Brazil Taiwan Argentina and Russia While there is much more data related to established democracies there are lessons to be learned from states that have created or re created intelligence institutions in the contemporary political climate In the end reading about the successes of Brazil and Taiwan the failures of Argentina and Russia and the ongoing reforms in the United States yields a handful of hard truths In the murky world of intelligence that s an unqualified achievement

Personalism and Personalist Regimes Alex Baturo, Luca Anceschi, Francesco Cavatorta, 2024-07-04

Personalist leaders such as Russia s Vladimir Putin Belarus s Alexander Lukashenko or Venezuela s Nicol s Maduro are increasingly prominent players in the international landscape their motivations and policies however are poorly understood The regimes they lead are difficult to examine mostly because of their most defining feature an inordinate concentration of power in the hands of one single individual Yet personalist leaders do not rule alone even if they do not always govern through institutional channels How do personalist regimes really work How do their rulers acquire and maintain personal control How does contemporary personal rule differ from how it was practised during the Cold War These are the key questions addressed in Personalism and Personalist Regimes which offers a systematic examination of the logic of personalism or personalist rule tackling comprehensively the study of personalist leaders and personalist regimes The book is underpinned by a theoretical framework that combines historical and comparative analyses brought forward through a series of detailed country studies authored by a distinguished group of comparativists and area studies experts The book also revisits and builds upon Sultanistic Regimes the seminal study by H E Chehabi and Juan Linz In contrast to Sultanistic Regimes that studied sultanism an extreme form of personalism Personalism and Personalist Regimes examines personal rule on its full continuum from Turkey under Erdo an or Venezuela under Maduro to Turkmenistan under Berdimuhamedov or Libya under Gaddafi Because personalism or personal rule can be present across all regimes the book also includes several studies of personalism and institutions in party dictatorships China or Cuba amongst others
