A Butler, 2009-07-16 Tall green grass Subtle melodies of songbirds Sharp whines of muskrats Rustles of water running through the grasses And at low tide a pungent reminder of the treasures hidden beneath the surface All are vital signs of the great salt marshes natural resources Now championed as critical habitats for plants animals and people because of the environmental service and protection they provide these ecological wonders were once considered unproductive wastelands home solely to mosquitoes and toxic waste and mistreated for centuries by the human population Exploring the fascinating biodiversity of these boggy wetlands Salt Marshes offers readers a wealth of essential information about a variety of plants fish and animals the importance of these habitats consequences of human neglect and thoughtless development and insight into how these wetlands recover Judith S Weis and Carol A Butler shed ample light on the human impact including chapters on physical and biological alterations pollution and remediation and recovery programs In addition to a national and global perspective the authors place special emphasis on coastal wetlands in the Atlantic and Gulf regions as well as the San Francisco Bay Area calling attention to their historical and economic legacies Written in clear easy to read language Salt Marshes proves that the battles for preservation and conservation must continue because threats to salt marshes ebb and flow like the water that runs through them     By Monomoy Light North T. Cairn, 2000 In this beautifully written book North T Cairn reflects on her three extended summer stays on Monomoy an island wildlife sanctuary Residing alone in an abandoned lighthouse keeper s cottage she lived simply in the wilderness studying the diverse habitats of the refuge and its creatures Cairn recalls her sojourns on Monomoy seamlessly blending memoir with natural and social history to trace the transformations that come from encounters with nature and its inhabitants Her evocative observations of the barrier island paradise sea and sand light flora migrating birds white tailed deer gray and harbor seals echo larger transcendent issues of life in a changing world For Cairn the outer world of nature also becomes a metaphor for the inner world of reflection new discoveries and healing particularly of her own childhood trauma and long estrangement from family By Monomoy Light will reawaken the reader to the necessities of rest and peace of space apart for meditative listening and quiet of the imperative to
