with Decay Siobhan Lyons, 2018-07-03 This collection is the first book to comprehensively analyse the relatively new and under researched phenomenon of ruin porn Featuring a diverse collection of chapters the authors in this work examine the relevance of contemporary ruin and its relationship to photography media architecture culture history economics and politics

This work investigates the often ambiguous relationship that society has with contemporary ruins around the world challenging the notions of authenticity that are frequently associated with images of decay With case studies that discuss various places and topics including Detroit Chernobyl Pitcairn Island post apocalyptic media online communities and urban explorers among many other topics this collection illustrates the nuances of ruin porn that are fundamental to an understanding of humanity's place in the overarching narrative of history

Preserving and Constructing Place Attachment in Europe Oana-Ramona Ilovan, Iwona Markuszewska, 2022-10-10 This book offers a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches to place attachment from a European perspective Starting from a dynamic relational and participatory concept of place attachment the book discusses place making and place attachment processes through place based development and community place driven actions It also presents examples of creating place attachment through nature and culture based contexts and focuses on how sustainable planning and territorial identities enhance place attachment Finally this book presents and discusses re constructing place attachment within transition processes and through strategic solutions for urban recovery and regeneration of post industrial areas By considering the social environmental economic and political effects of building strengthening and maintaining place attachment this book is a valuable read for all those working with and interested in learning more about place attachment geographers landscape planners sociologists psychologists environmental and political scientists and members of community movements

Flyover Fictions Cornelia Klecker, Sascha Pöhlmann, Asfuriyyeh Joelle M Abi-Rached, 2020-11-17 The development of psychiatry in the Middle East viewed through the history of one of the first modern mental hospitals in the region Afriyyeh formally the Lebanon Hospital for the Insane was founded by a Swiss Quaker missionary in 1896 one of the first modern psychiatric hospitals in the Middle East It closed its doors in 1982 a victim of Lebanon's brutal fifteen year civil war In this book Joelle Abi Rached uses the rise and fall of Afriyyeh as a lens through which to examine the development of modern psychiatric theory and practice in the region as well as the sociopolitical history of modern Lebanon Abi Rached shows how Afriyyeh's role shifted from a missionary enterprise to a national institution with wide regional influence She offers a gripping chronicle of patients and staff members experiences during the Lebanese Civil War and analyzes the hospital's distinctive nonsectarian philosophy When Afriyyeh closed down health in general and mental health in particular became more visibly sectarianized monopolized by various religious and political actors Once hailed for its progressive approach to mental illness and its cosmopolitanism Afriyyeh became a stigmatizing term a byword for madness and deviance ultimately epitomizing a failed project of modernity Reflecting on the afterlife of this and other medical institutions especially those affected by war Abi Rached calls for a new ethics of memory more attuned to our global yet increasingly fragmented unstable and violent present

Post-Industrial Precarity: New Ethnographies of Urban Lives in Uncertain Times Gillian Evans, 2020-01-15 The United Nations predicts that by the year 2050 almost 70% of the planet's population will be living in cities The onus on social scientists is to explain the contemporary challenges posed by the urbanization of the world A growing body of literature raises the alarm about the precarity of human existence in the uncertain conditions of rapidly transforming contemporary cities This volume brings together a diverse collection of new ethnographies of precarious lives in various cities of the world The specific focus on post industrial cities in the UK allows for a wider consideration of the urban conditions and the political and economic climates which combine to produce extremely precarious living conditions for urban populations elsewhere in the world The productive consequence of the comparisons and contrasts of various urban contexts made possible by the volume is an analytical focus on what it means for humans to live and occupy different subject positions under the advancing conditions of contemporary global capitalism The volume s chapters are also united by the shared commitment of early career social science scholars to ethnography as a research method This gives a common methodological focus to diverse topics of substantive concern located in various cities of the world from Manchester Newcastle and Salford in the north of England to Detroit in the USA Rio de Janeiro in Brazil Turin in Italy and Beirut in Lebanon Ethnography relying as it does on long term participant observation and in depth open ended interviewing is uniquely valuable as a resource for bringing to life the unpredictable ways in which humans survive and develop forms of resilience among for example the ruins of dying cities Ethnography also enables social scientists to understand and add depth to the surprising stories and apparent contradictions of everyday protest in the face of the increasing privatization of the public good and extreme inequalities of wealth Ethnographically grounded analyses of urban life are therefore uniquely positioned to explain and critically analyse the new politics of popular resistance as the people who feel left behind by society or expelled from what might be described as the exclusification of urban environments push back against an economy and politics that appears to exist only for the private benefit of an indifferent elite population

Fabricating Modern Societies: Education, Bodies, and Minds in the Age of Steel ,2019-09-02 Fabricating Modern Societies Education Bodies and Minds in the Age of Steel edited by Karin Priem and Frederik Herman offers new interdisciplinary and transnational perspectives on the history of industrialization and societal transformation in early twentieth century Luxembourg The individual chapters focus on how industrialists addressed a large array of challenges related to industrialization borrowing and mixing ideas originating in domains such as corporate identity formation mediatization scientification technological innovation mechanization capitalism mass production medicalization educationalization artistic production and social utopia while competing with other interest groups who pursued their own goals The book looks at different focus areas of modernity and analyzes how humans created mediated and interacted with the technospheres of modern societies Contributors Klaus Dittrich Irma Hadzalic Frederik Herman Enric Novella Ira Plein Fran oise Poos Karin Priem and Angelo Van Gorp The Routledge International Handbook of Deindustrialization Studies Tim Strangleman,Sherry Lee Linkon,Steven High,Jackie Clarke,Stefan Berger,2025-04-23 The Routledge International Handbook of Deindustrialization Studies is a timely volume that provides an overview of this interdisciplinary field that emerged in response to the widespread decline of manufacturing and heavy industry from the 1980s onward Edited by prominent figures in the field the volume brings together many of the leading scholars from a range of countries across the globe to offer a multifaceted overview of deindustrialization and its impact Deindustrialization has been cited as one of the factors behind the rise of the far right and to a lesser extent the far left across Europe the rise and success of Trumpism in the US and the Brexit vote as well as the more recent and sudden erosion of UK Labour's Red Wall of the North of England This collection brings together scholars of deindustrialization around the globe and from a wide variety of academic disciplines including history sociology politics geography economics anthropology literature arts practice photography heritage and cultural studies In doing so the volume explores the roots of deindustrialization across the world highlights the key themes and issues in the field illustrates the intersectional and interdisciplinary character of the field and shows how deindustrialization lies at the heart of many of the key political cultural social and economic issues of our time Written in a clear and accessible style the Handbook is a comprehensive interdisciplinary volume for this young but maturing field The volume is a valuable resource for students teachers and researchers interested in industrial decline closure and the multifaceted impacts they cause It speaks to readers across the arts humanities and social and political sciences concerned with deindustrialization broadly defined Chapter 27 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 International license

Modernism at the Beach Hannah Freed-Thall, 2023-03-07 Winner 2024 MSA Book Prize Modernist Studies Association At the beach bodies converge with the elements and strange treasures come to light Departing from the conventional association of modernism with the city this book makes a case for the coastal zone as a surprisingly generative setting for twentieth century literature and art An unruly and elusive confluence of human and more than human forces the seashore is also a space of performance a stage for loosely scripted improvisatory forms of embodiment and togetherness The beach Hannah Freed-Thall argues was to the modernist imagination what mountains were to Romanticism a space not merely of anthropogenic conquest but of vital elemental and creaturely connection With an eye to the peripheries of capitalist leisure Freed-Thall recasts familiar seaside practices including tide pooling beachcombing gambling and sunbathing as radical experiments in perception and sociability Close readings of works by Marcel Proust Virginia Woolf Claude McKay Samuel Beckett Rachel Carson and Gordon Matta Clark among others explore the modernist beach as a queer refuge a precarious commons a scene of collective exhaustion and endurance and a visionary threshold at the end of the world Interweaving environmental humanities queer and feminist theory and cultural history Modernism at the Beach offers new ways of understanding twentieth century literature and its relation to ecological thought

Non-Representational Theory and the Creative Arts Candice P. Boyd, Christian Edwardes, 2019-03-15 This book presents distinct perspectives from both geographically oriented creative practices and geographers working with arts based processes In doing so it fills a significant gap in the already sizeable body of non representational discourse by bringing together images and reflections on performances art practice theatre dance and sound production alongside theoretical contributions and examples of creative writing It considers how contemporary art making is being shaped by spatial enquiry and how geographical research has been influenced by artistic practice It provides a clear and concise overview of the principles of non representational theory for researchers and practitioners in the creative arts and across its four sections demonstrates the potential for non representational theory to bring cultural geography and contemporary art closer than ever before

American Cities in Post-Apocalyptic Science Fiction Robert Yeates, 2021-11-15 Visions of the American city in post apocalyptic ruin permeate literary and popular fiction across print visual audio and digital media American Cities in Post Apocalyptic Science Fiction explores the prevalence of these representations in American culture drawing from a wide range of primary and critical works from the early twentieth century to today Beginning with science fiction in literary magazines before taking in radio dramas film video games and expansive transmedia franchises Robert Yeates argues that post apocalyptic representations of the American city are uniquely suited for explorations of contemporary urban issues Examining how the post apocalyptic American city has been repeatedly adapted and repurposed to new and developing media over the last century this book reveals that the content and form of such texts work together to create vivid and immersive fictional spaces in ways that would otherwise not be possible Chapters present media specific analyses of these texts situating them within their historical contexts and the broader history of representations of urban ruins in American fiction Original in its scope and cross media approach American Cities in Post Apocalyptic Science Fiction both illuminates little studied texts and provides provocative new readings of familiar works such as Blade Runner and The Walking Dead placing them within the larger historical context of imaginings of the American city in ruins

Street, Text, and Representation in African American Literature Mattius

Rischar,2024-05-31 Comprehensive and comparative this volume investigates African American street novelists since the Chicago Black Renaissance and the semiotic strategies they employ in publication consumption and depiction of street life Divided into three chapters this text analyzes the content style and ethics of street narrative through a discursive rhetorical lens exploring the development of street literature s formal and contextual concerns to resolve the sociocultural and political questions surrounding cultural work The book also gives emphasis to text or post structural literary analysis by answering questions about the genre s aesthetic and linguistic techniques that respond to the injustices of urban planning The last chapter Representation investigates the phenomenological hermeneutics of more recent street literature and its satire highlighting the political stakes for authorship credibility and subjectivity Through historical and contemporary studies of urban space Blackness and adaptations of street literature this work attempts to network activists artists and scholars with the greater reading public by providing a functional ontology of reading the inner city

Calling Memory into Place Dora

Apel,2020-09-17 How can memory be mobilized for social justice How can images and monuments counter public forgetting And how can inherited family and cultural traumas be channeled in productive ways In this deeply personal work acclaimed art historian Dora Apel examines how memorials photographs artworks and autobiographical stories can be used to fuel a process of unforgetting reinterpreting the past by recalling the events people perspectives and feelings that get excluded from conventional histories The ten essays in Calling Memory into Place feature explorations of the controversy over a painting of Emmett Till in the Whitney Biennial and the debates about a national lynching memorial in Montgomery Alabama They also include personal accounts of Apel s return to the Polish town where her Holocaust survivor parents grew up as well as the ways she found strength in her inherited trauma while enduring treatment for breast cancer These essays shift between the scholarly the personal and the visual as different modes of knowing and explore the intersections between racism antisemitism and sexism while suggesting how awareness of historical trauma is deeply inscribed on the body By investigating the relations among place memory and identity this study shines a light on the dynamic nature of memory as it crosses geography and generations Urban Discourses of Crisis, Resilience, and Resistance Eric Prieto, Liam Lanigan, Anni Lappela, 2025-07-11 This volume seeks to address questions of urban crisis from an interdisciplinary perspective that foregrounds the particular roles that literature and the creative arts play in both conceptualizing and addressing the multiple challenges facing cities Noting that the successive crises of recent years from the 2008 recession to COVID 19 seem to have put an end to the triumphalist tone of much urban writing in the 1990s this book argues that the current historical moment calls for a different kind of urban discourse focused on reassessment and regrouping This edited collection features a variety of different approaches including close readings of literary works interviews essays in cultural and architectural history and sociological ethnographic and urban planning studies These chapters explore a range of challenges currently faced by cities and foreground the search for solutions Post-Horror David Church, 2021-02-01 Horror's longstanding reputation as a popular but culturally denigrated genre has been challenged by a new wave of films mixing arthouse minimalism with established genre conventions Variouslly dubbed elevated horror and post horror films such as The Babadook It Follows The Witch It Comes at Night Get Out The Invitation Hereditary Midsommar A Ghost Story and mother represent an emerging nexus of taste politics and style that has often earned outsized acclaim from critics and populist rejection by wider audiences Post Horror is the first full length study of one of the most important and divisive movements in twenty first century horror cinema How Ruins Acquire Aesthetic Value Tanya Whitehouse, 2018-11-30 This book provides the first recent philosophical account of how ruins acquire aesthetic value It draws on a variety of sources to explore modern ruins the ruin tradition and the phenomenon of ruin porn It features an unusual and original combination of philosophical analysis the author's photography and reviews of both new and historically influential case studies including Richard Haag's Gas Works Park the ruins of Detroit and remnants of the steel industry of Pennsylvania Tanya Whitehouse shows how the users of ruins can become architects of a new order transforming derelict sites into aesthetically significant places we should preserve
