Participation in School Management Kazuro Shibuya,2022-09-12 Nobody denies that trust in schools is key to success in generating any educational outcomes However trust is often eroded resulting in conflicts alienation and differentiation among school level stakeholders This book analyses school based management SBM of education through the lens of relational trust in the context of Ghana revealing how community participation in school management leads to educational outcomes Conducting quantitative analysis of headteacher questionnaires from public basic schools and qualitative analysis of case study schools in the Akatsi South District of Ghana Shibuya offers critical insights into building sustainable relationships between individual households and geographical school communities He argues it is critical to highlight relational trust as an analytical tool to examine relationships between actors and factors in school management The research finds that trust in schools is a two way mechanism and the mutuality of expectations and obligations among stakeholders is essential if children s learning outcomes are to improve With its mixed methods approach this book will be a valuable resource for scholars in comparative education those in educational development and those interested in African contexts

Ghana International Monetary Fund. African Dept.,2024-07-11 This Medium Term National Development Policy Framework MTNDPF 2022 2025 seeks to operationalize Article 36 Clause 1 of Ghana s 1992 constitution which enjoins Government to ensure that the national economy is managed efficiently to maximize the welfare of the citizenry It was prepared with broad based stakeholder participation including the use of cross sectoral planning groups CSPGs as enjoined by article 15 of the National Development Planning Commission Act 1994 Act 479 Public consultations were also undertaken across the country including engagement with parliament and the presidency It was finally approved by the Commission following approval from the presidency and presented to Parliament Modern Mathematics Dirk De Bock,2023-03-08 The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century It attracted the attention of local and international politicians of teachers and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels kindergarten to college graduate in many nations After garnering much initial support it began to attract criticism But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17 some of the effects became entrenched This volume edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium provides an outstanding overview of the New Math modern mathematics movement Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America The background leaders in Europe were Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who since the 1930s had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki In the United States there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U S mathematics curricula and teaching especially in secondary schools and colleges This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik the first satellite Undoubtedly this is a landmark publication in education The foreword was written by Professor Bob Moon one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel a historian draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development especially in science education including recent globalization trends From Linear to Circular Food Supply Chains Stella Despoudi,Uthayasankar Sivarajah,Manoj Dora,2021-07-22 This book aims to provide the reader with an understanding of the concept of the circular economy in relation to food supply chains The current food supply chain system based upon the linear supply chain model is unquestionably unsustainable make use dispose The circular supply chain model on the other hand aims to keep resources in use for as long as possible while regenerating products materials at the end of their service life In short reduce reuse recycle This book puts forwards the circular economy as an alternative to the traditional supply chain management models The circular economy aims to minimise material energy and environmental damage without restricting economic growth and social and technological progress It involves transition to renewable energy sources and it builds on economic natural and social capital This shortform monograph will appeal to academics working in the fields of supply chain logistics operation management agricultural management and sustainability more broadly Dr Stella Despoudi is Lecturer in Operations and Supply Chain Management at Aston University UK and Adjunct Lecturer in Supply Chain Management at University of Western Macedonia Greece Prof Uthayasankar Sivarajah is Head of School of Management and Professor of Technology Management and Circular Economy at the School of Management University of Bradford UK Dr Manoj Dora is Director of Collaborative Projects and Outreach at Brunel Business School UK Manoj s areas of specialisation are Sustainable Value Chain and Quality Management with a focus on Lean Six Sigma in the agro food sector

Children, Childhood, and the Future Andrea Kleeberg-Niepage,2020-01-10 Although most of the world s children live in the Global South much of the corpus of scientific knowledge which forms the basis of the current notion of good childhood worldwide is drawn from research on Western middle class children Even cross cultural research often applies the Western model of childhood as the standard to which others must correspond This volume serves to bridge this gap by both bringing up significant features of the development and socialisation of children in African countries and presenting cross cultural procedures which help to discuss and develop differentiated and joint ideas about childhood instead of implementing one sided standards which are disconnected from most children s lives

Primary Mathematics Pedagogy at the Intersection of Education Reform, Policy, and Culture Sarah Murray,Princess Allotey,2021-11-29 This volume provides an in depth comparative examination of how primary mathematics education is influenced by national education reform policy local resources and culture in three different countries By drawing on first hand observations and interviews as well as analysis of policy documents and learning resources the book considers the viability of transferring best practices in primary mathematics education across global contexts Three diverse countries Ghana the US and Singapore are explored Similarities and differences are highlighted and the influence of national and regional initiatives related to pedagogical strategies teacher education and cultural expectations are considered to offer an insightful examination of how best practices might be shared across borders This book will benefit researchers academics and postgraduate scholars with an interest in international and comparative education mathematics and educational policy Those with a specialization in primary mathematics education including pedagogy and teacher preparation will also benefit from this book

Selected Issues

Education, Privatisation and Social Justice Ian Macpherson, Susan Robertson, Geoffrey Walford, 2014-05-12. The involvement of private actors in education is not new yet in the last decade critical issues have arisen that demand close scrutiny. This volume explores emerging forms of the private through case studies from Africa, South Asia and South East Asia and makes three related observations. First, what is new about these manifestations is their scale, scope and penetration into almost all aspects of the education endeavour from the administrative apparatus to policymaking and from formal provision in education settings to out-of-school activities such as private tutoring. Second, what is particularly controversial about these developments is how education itself is being recast as a sector it is increasingly being opened up to profit making and trade and to agenda setting by private commercial interests. Third, the learner is increasingly conceptualised as a consumer and education a consumer good. The case studies therefore enable us to see more clearly how different forms of the private in education alter what is at stake for whom and with what outcomes and the consequences for individuals and societies. In turn, these raise the very important question about what they mean for our conceptualisations of education, learning and teaching on the one hand and for education as a site and means for emancipation on the other. These are profound social justice concerns and ones that make this volume distinctive. This book sets out to address these hard but urgent questions and will be of interest to academics and students of education, education researchers, government personnel and policymakers.
