Abstract. The relationship between the quality of the work environment and the health of employees is a complex one. The purpose of this study was to investigate the relationship between the quality of the work environment and the health of employees in the manufacturing sector. The study was conducted in a large manufacturing company in Sweden. The results showed that there was a significant positive relationship between the quality of the work environment and the health of employees. The quality of the work environment was measured using a questionnaire that assessed various factors such as workload, social support, and participation in decision-making. The health of employees was measured using a questionnaire that assessed various factors such as stress, anxiety, and depression. The results of the study suggest that improving the quality of the work environment can lead to improved health outcomes for employees.
