idea Point of View and the Art of Narrative in Susan Sontag's The Volcano Lover Linda S. Moyer,1996 Postmodern Utopias and Feminist Fictions Jennifer A. Wagner-Lawlor,2013-07-31 This study examines feminist speculative fiction from the late twentieth and early twenty first century and finds within it a new vision for the future Rejecting notions of postmodern utopia as exclusionary Jennifer A Wagner Lawlor advances one defined in terms of hospitality casting what she calls imaginative sympathy as the foundation of utopian desire Tracing these themes through the works of Atwood Butler Lessing and Winterson as well as those of well known Muslim feminists such as El Saadawi Parsipur and Mernissi Wagner Lawlor balances literary analysis with innovative extensions of feminist philosophy to show how inclusionary utopian thinking can inform and promote political agency Examining these contemporary fictions reveals the rewards of attending to a community that acknowledges difference diversity and the imaginative potential of every human being The Cambridge Companion to the Eighteenth-Century Novel John Richetti,1996-09-05 In the past twenty years our understanding of the novel s emergence in eighteenth century Britain has drastically changed Drawing on new research in social and political history the twelve contributors to this Companion challenge and refine the traditional view of the novel s origins and purposes In various ways each seeks to show that the novel is not defined primarily by its realism of representation but by the new ideological and cultural functions it serves in the emerging modern world of print culture Sentimental and Gothic fiction and fiction by women are discussed alongside detailed readings of work by Defoe Swift Richardson Henry Fielding Sterne Smollett and Burney This multifaceted picture of the novel in its formative decades provides a comprehensive and indispensable guide for students of the eighteenth century British novel and its place within the culture of its time Telling it Slant Marek Wilczyński,Magdalena Zapędowska,1999 The Material Image Brigitte Peucker,2007 Focusing on intermediality The Material Image situates film within questions of representation familiar from the other arts What is meant by figuring the real How is the real suggested by visual metaphors and what is its relation to illusion How is the spectator figured as entering the text and how does the image enter our world The film s spectator is integral to these concerns Cognitive and phenomenological approaches to perception alike claim that spectatorial affect is real even when it is film that produces it Central to the staging of intermediality in film tableaux moments in film also figure prominently in the book Films by Scorsese Greenaway Wenders and Kubrick are seen to address painterly photographic and digital images in relation to effects of the real Hitchcock s films are examined with regard to modernist and realist effects in painting Chapters on Fassbinder and Haneke analyze the significance of tableau for the body in pain while a final chapter on horror film explores the literalism of psychopathic tableau Here too art and the body images and the real are juxtaposed and entwined in a set of relations British Women Travellers in the Long Nineteenth Century Marilyn D. Button,Jessica A. Sheetz-Nguyen,2025-03-05 During the long nineteenth century British women reframed the masculine paradigm of the Grand Tour They created a feminist travel gaze intentionally or unintentionally that differed from that of male peers Unlike their brothers who went for personal edification women with means left their English homes for the great Italian cities of Florence Naples and Rome to escape personal disappointments and the social limitations imposed by parents spouses and society The anonymity of travel to a distant land and new freedoms fostered political and creative achievements including entrepreneurial journalism literary masterpieces and social advocacy for their gender which redefined the contours of the Anglo Italian cultural landscape The historical evidence presented here testifies to the life changing capacity of travel and firmly demonstrates how British women s history and literature enriches and broadens narratives about Britain and the World

The Fatal Gift of Beauty Manfred Pfister,1996 This is the first anthology of British travel writing on Italy which traces the development of the genre and the history of the British perception of Italy from the Renaissance to the present As an anthologie raissonn eit presents the texts in thematic clusters and chronological order providing commentary and annotations for each of them and their nearly hundred authors some of them like Smollett Byron Dickens or Huxley well known others virtually unknown amongst them many unduly neglected women writers Further features are a substantial introduction to the travelogue and the writing of Italy more than thirty illustrations visualizing the British experience of Italy and an extensive bibliography of primary and secondary sources

Illness as Narrative Ann Jurečič, 2012-03-12 For most of literary history personal confessions about illness were considered too intimate to share publicly By the mid twentieth century however a series of events set the stage for the emergence of the illness narrative The increase of chronic disease the transformation of medicine into big business the women s health movement the AIDS HIV pandemic the advent of inexpensive paperbacks and the rise of self publishing all contributed to the proliferation of narratives about encounters with medicine and mortality While the illness narrative is now a staple of the publishing industry the genre itself has posed a problem for literary studies What is the role of criticism in relation to personal accounts of suffering Can these narratives be judged on aesthetic grounds Are they a collective expression of the lost intimacy of the patient doctor relationship Is their function thus instrumental to elicit the reader s empathy To answer these questions Ann Jurecic turns to major works on pain and suffering by Susan Sontag Elaine Scarry and Eve Sedgwick and reads these alongside illness narratives by Jean Dominique Bauby Reynolds Price and Anne Fadiman among others In the process she defines the subgenres of risk and pain narratives and explores a range of critical responses guided alternately by narrative empathy the hermeneutics of suspicion and the practice of reparative reading Illness as Narrative seeks to draw wider attention to this form of life writing and to argue for new approaches to both literary criticism and teaching narrative Jurecic calls for a practice that s both compassionate and critical She asks that we consider why writers compose stories of illness how readers receive them and how both use these narratives to make meaning of human fragility and mortality

Criticism and Literary Theory 1890 to the Present Chris Baldick, 2014-06-11 Presents a coherent and accessible historical account of the major phases of British and American Twentieth century criticism from decadent aestheticism to feminist deconstructionist and post colonial theories Special attention is given to new perspectives on Shakesperean criticism theories of the novel and models of the literary canon The book will help to define and account for the major developments in literary criticism during this century exploring the full diversity of critical work from major critics such as T S Eliot and F R Leavis to minor but fascinating figures and critical schools Unlike most guides to modern literary theory its focus is firmly on developments within the English speaking world

Women Against Napoleon Gertrud M. Roesch, 2007 Although Prussia s beloved Queen Luise and the Swiss born aristocrat and writer Germaine de Sta l were Napoleon Bonaparte s best known female opponents women s discontent with Napoleon and the Napoleonic wars was more widespread and vocal than once assumed Women against Napoleon expands our awareness of the range of women s responses to the despot by presenting an international spectrum of female opposition including contemporary letters diaries and published writings as well as historical fiction of the twentieth century By setting these materials together this volume forges new links between literary historical and gender scholarship
