Yıldırım,2023-05-09 The essays and original visualizations collected in Natural Things in Early Modern Worlds explore the relationships among natural things ranging from pollen in a gust of wind to a carnivorous pitcher plant to a shell like skinned armadillo and the humans enthralled with them Episodes from 1500 to the early 1900s reveal connected histories across early modern worlds as natural things traveled across the Indian Ocean the Ottoman Empire Pacific islands Southeast Asia the Spanish Empire and Western Europe In distant worlds that were constantly changing with expanding networks of trade colonial aspirations and the rise of empiricism natural things obtained new meanings and became alienated from their origins Tracing the processes of their displacement each chapter starts with a piece of original artwork that relies on digital collage to pull image sources out of place and to represent meanings that natural things lost and remade Accessible and elegant Natural Things is the first study of its kind to combine original visualizations with the history of science Museum goers scholars scientists and students will find new histories of nature and collecting within Its playful visuality will capture the imagination of non academic and academic readers alike while reminding us of the alienating capacity of the modern life sciences

All Elevations Unknown Sam Lightner Jr.,2001-09-18 In 1999 when mankind had successfully mapped the surface of the Moon Venus and Mars there were still sections of Borneo that man had nothing to say about other than all elevations unknown In the spring of 1999 armed with little more than a description from a book and a map labeled all elevations unknown Sam Lightner and his German rock climbing buddy Volker found themselves deep in the jungles of Borneo on a mission to climb a mountain that was only rumored to exist They had only their climbing expertise to rely on and a copy of a little known book titled World Within written by Major Tom Harrison a British World War II soldier who had been one of the first white men ever to explore the interior jungles of the island and interact with its native peoples He had also conducted one of the most daring and unusual campaigns in military history In 1945 he had been assigned the near impossible mission of parachuting blindly into the thick Borneo rain forests to unite the feuding native tribes who then had a grisly habit of cutting off heads against the Japanese in order to reclaim the island for the Allies A captivating utterly original combination of travel adventure memoir and historical re creation All Elevations Unknown charts Lightner s exhilarating often harrowing quest to ascend the mountain Batu Lawi in the face of leeches vipers and sweat bees and to keep his team together in one of the earth s most treacherous uncharted pockets Along the way Lightner reconstructs a fascinating historical narrative that chronicles Tom Harrison s adventures on Borneo during the war and illuminates an astonishing piece of forgotten World War II history Rife with suspense and vivid detail the two intertwining tales open up the island of Borneo its people and its history in a powerful unforgettable way and take adventure writing to new heights A daring twist on the travel adventure genre that places the talented Lightner in the ranks of authors such as Jon Krakauer Sebastian Junger and Redmond O Hanlon All Elevations Unknown is ultimately the remarkable story of two adventurers separated by fifty years and united by one mountain

Forgiving the Boundaries Terry Caesar,1995 Caesar attempts to historicize the sustaining interplay between romanticism and travel writing but also emphasizes that his understanding of American travel writing has more to do with narrative form epistemology and cultural inheritance than particular historical shapings *Cassette Books Library of Congress. Frederick J. Ruf, 2012-10-05 Why do we travel Ostensibly an act of leisure travel finds us thrusting ourselves into jets flying miles above the earth only to endure dislocations of time and space foods and languages foreign to our body and mind and encounters with strangers on whom we must suddenly depend Travel is not merely a break from routine it is its antithesis a voluntary trading in of the security one feels at home for unpredictability and confusion In Bewildered Travel Frederick Ruf argues that this confusion which we might think of simply as a necessary evil is in fact the very thing we are seeking when we leave home Ruf relates this quest for confusion to our religious behavior Citing William James who defined the religious as what enables us to front life Ruf contends that the search for bewilderment allows us to point our craft into the wind and sail headlong into the storm rather than flee from it This view challenges the Eliadean tradition that stresses religious ritual as a shield against the world's chaos Ruf sees our departures from the familiar as a crucial component in a spiritual life reminding us of the central role of pilgrimage in religion In addition to his own revealing experiences as a traveler Ruf presents the reader with the journeys of a large and diverse assortment of notable Americans including Henry Miller Paul Bowles Mark Twain Mary Oliver and Walt Whitman These accounts take us from the Middle East to the Philippines India to Nicaragua Mexico to Morocco and in one threatening instance simply to the edge of the author's own neighborhood What gives value to travel is fear wrote Camus This book illustrates the truth of that statement South-East Asia on a Shoestring Chris Rowthorn, 2001 Eleventh edition budget travel guide in the Shoestring series first published in 1975 Guide to bargain travel for backpackers to countries including East Timor Laos Myanmar Philippines Singapore Indonesia Thailand and Vietnam Provides facts about the country facts for the visitor transport information suggested itineraries and information on things to see and do Also outlines entertainment accommodation history climate flora and fauna and shopping region by region Includes basic language and phrases maps full colour photos glossary and index War and Peace with the Beasts Brian Griffith, 2020-09-01 The animals that one culture likes are often hated in the next and it seems that the animals themselves know it well Basically one culture's animal partner is often another culture's nightmare from hell Naturally I wonder how relations between people and animals got to be so different around the world How did it happen that some cultures treat bats snakes wolves or ravens as embodiments of evil while other people treat the same animals with affection or even reverence Our wars with the animals go way back Beyond the light cast by our prehistoric campfires the eyes glowing in the night seemed to represent a great hostile force As we began to cultivate crops and husband a few favoured animals we generally regarded other creatures as threats to our chosen few Using the logic of war we sought to maximize the populations of certain creatures and the destruction of others In the past that war effort was our great crusade for the advancement of civilization as we knew it The war had a frontier a front line and an ongoing battle on the home front Expanding outward from our various cradles of civilization we progressively tamed the forests and grasslands converting them to monocrop plantations or pastures Then we had to defend our monocrops from encroaching weeds insects and wild animals In this immediately engaging story and fact filled page turner of a book Brian Griffith looks at the range of ways we relate to animals and the stories we tell about them He asks how we choose whether buddyhood fearful respect businesslike predation or genocidal war is the most appropriate response to each species we meet He watches how our treatment of inferior beings affects our treatment of inferior people and traces some of the chain reactions we unleash when we try to weed out species we don't like Without much hope of making animals fit my personal preferences he writes I wonder how good our relations can get
