Talking Bodies Vol. II Bodie A. Ashton, Amy Bonsall, Jonathan Hay, 2020-05-07 This volume brings together scholars from across disciplines and continents in order to continue to analyse query and deconstruct the complexities of bodily existence in the modern world Comprising nine essays by leading and emerging scholars and spanning issues ranging from literature history sociology medicine law and justice and beyond Talking Bodies vol II is a timely and prescient addition to the vital discussion of what bodies are how we perceive them and what they mean As the essays of this volume demonstrate it is imperative to question numerous established presumptions about both the manner by which our bodies perform their identities and the processes by which their ownership can be impinged upon      Sounding the Soul Mary Lynn Kittelson,1996 In this delightful phenomenological account Kittelson writes in lively pursuit of the language of hearing an ode to the persistent primacy of the ear It s right here she says just around the corner from our noses      The Bells in Their Silence Michael Gorra,2009-01-10 Nobody writes travelogues about Germany The country spurs many anxious volumes of investigative reporting books that worry away at the German problem World War II the legacy of the Holocaust the Wall reunification and the connections between them But not travel books not the free ranging and impressionistic works of literary nonfiction we associate with V S Naipaul and Bruce Chatwin What is it about Germany and the travel book that puts them seemingly at odds With one foot in the library and one on the street Michael Gorra offers both an answer to this question and his own traveler s tale of Germany Gorra uses Goethe s account of his Italian journey as a model for testing the traveler s response to Germany today and he subjects the shopping arcades of contemporary German cities to the terms of Benjamin s Arcades project He reads post Wende Berlin through the novels of Theodor Fontane examines the role of figurative language and enlists W G Sebald as a guide to the place of fragments and digressions in travel writing Replete with the flaneur s chance discoveries and rich in the delights of the enduring and the ephemeral of architecture and flood The Bells in Their Silence offers that rare traveler s tale of Germany while testing the very limits of the travel narrative as a literary form      The 'Imagined Sound' of Australian Literature and Music Joseph Cummins,2019-09-20 Imagined Sound is a unique cartography of the artistic historical and political forces that have informed the post World War II representation of Australian landscapes It is the first book to formulate the unique methodology of imagined sound a new way to read and listen to literature and music that moves beyond the dominance of the visual the colonial mode of knowing controlling and imagining Australian space Emphasising sound and listening this approach draws out and re examines the key narratives that shape and are shaped by Australian landscapes and histories stories of first contact frontier violence the explorer journey the convict experience non Indigenous belonging Pacific identity and contemporary Indigenous Dreaming Imagined Sound offers a compelling analysis of how these narratives are reharmonised in key works of literature and music      Landscapes of Our Hearts Matthew Colloff,2020-06-30 Compelling multifarious and essential Don Watson Drink in its wisdom Andrew Leigh MP On this ancient continent waves of people have made their mark on the landscape in turn it too has shaped them If we look afresh at our history through the land we live on might Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians find a path to a shared future An epic exploration of our relationship with this country Landscapes of Our Hearts takes us from the Great Barrier Reef to the Central Desert the High Country to Canberra s Limestone Plains It is a book of hope and offers the possibility that a renewed connection to the landscape and to each other could pave the way towards reconciliation It will change the way you see this land      Writing Travel John Zilcosky,2008-11-13 Interest in travel writing has grown rapidly within the disciplines of postcolonial and cultural studies however recent scholarship has failed to place travel writing within the larger literary tradition Writing Travel assembles a superb collection of essays that demonstrate how travel attempts to reconfigure the world and in so doing to become a metaphor for imagination subjectivity and representation itself Examining a broad range of texts and travellers from across the world the contributors discuss canonical authors such as Homer Goethe and Baudelaire alongside lesser known writers such as Theodor Herzl Hans Erich Nossack and William Gibson This theoretically rich volume draws connections between travel and narrative and provides powerful insights into the relationship between travel and the spoken act of storytelling as well as the more ambivalent act of story writing An engaging collection of essays by first rate scholars Writing Travel is an illuminating exploration of the history of travel writing its influence on other literary genres and the origins of narrative

God's Ways with the World Daniel Hardy, 2005-01-01 This book is devoted to recovering the truth and vitality of Christian faith by attempting to trace the ways of God with the modern world Professor Hardy contends that the profundity of God's interaction with the world despite centuries of valuable contemplation can best be understood by addressing those aspects of human thought which often give modern life its vitality These are the very features with which theology has tended to lose touch but which here are explored as areas in which the character and purposes of God may be manifest Following the example of the great eras of theological understanding in the past this book seeks a new and deeper synthesis of faith theology and other disciplined forms of life and thought to recover the dynamic of God's life and work in and from them As it does so it concentrates on the heartlands of Christian faith worship the Triune God and the activity of God in the world in language and cultures in cosmology and the human being in society and the form of the Church and in the forms of human understanding scientific historical cultural religious and theological The result is an uncompromising study which attempts to show the possibilities for a theology which becomes more fully realised by discovering and following the ways of God with the modern world      Performances Greg Denning, 1996-09-30 With elegance and candor Greg Denning offers a panoramic collection of rich and densely textured essays that demonstrate how we can only understand our present through our consciousness of the past and how in thinking about the past we mirror the time and place of our own living For Denning history saturates every moment of our cultural and personal existence Yet he is keenly aware that the actual past remains fundamentally irreplicable All histories are culturally crafted artifacts commensurate with folk tales stage plays or films Whether derived from logbooks and letters or displayed on music hall stages and Hollywood back lots history is in essence our making sense of what has and continues to happen creating for us a sense of our cultural and individual selves Through juxtapositions of actual events and creative reenactments of them such as the mutiny on the Bounty in 1787 and the various Hollywood films that depict that event Denning calls attention to the provocative moment of theatricality in history making where histories cultures and selves converge Moving adeptly across varied terrains from the frontiers of North America to the islands of the South Pacific Denning marshals a striking array of diverse often recalcitrant sources to examine the tangled histories of cross cultural clash and engagement Refusing to portray conquest colonization and hegemony simply as abstract processes Denning in his own culturally reflexive performance painstakingly evokes the flesh and form of past actors both celebrated and unsung whose foregone lives have become our history
