The Ask Sam Lipsyte, 2010-06-08 Milo Burke husband to a touched out wife father to a three year old son fund raising officer at a third tier university has just joined the swelling ranks of the unemployed As he grasps after odd jobs to support his family Milo is contacted by Purdy Stuart a wealthy one time university friend with a sinister agenda The Ask Sam Lipsyte, 2010-03-02 After he loses his job as a development officer at a university family man Milo Burke is given a chance to regain his permission but only if he can reel in a potential donor one who has requested his involvement and turns out to be his sinister college classmate By the author of Home Land Ancient Oceans of Central Kentucky David Connerley Nahm, 2014-08-04 One of the Best Books of 2014 NPR Flavorwire A Top 10 Independently Published Title Overlooked by the National Book Foundation Electric Literature Leah's little brother Jacob disappeared when the pair were younger a tragedy that haunts her still When a grown man arrives at the non profit Leah directs claiming to be Jacob she is wrenched back to her childhood an iridescent tableau of family joy and strife swimming at the lake sneaking candy late night fears and the stories told to quell them Ancient Oceans of Central Kentucky is a wrecking ball of a novel that attempts to give meaning and poetry to everything that comprises small town life in central Kentucky Listen they are the ghost stories that children tell one another the litter that skirts the gully the lines at department stores A gorgeous haunting prismatic jewel of a book Wonderful While this isn't a thriller at least in any traditional sense of the word it's deeply suspenseful More than anything it's Nahm's deep sense of place that's most apparent in his novel His descriptions of rural Kentucky are gorgeous but he digs far below the surface to portray the real soul of the town Remarkable it's impossible to stop reading until you've gone through each beautiful line a beauty that infuses the whole novel even in its darkest moments Michael Schaub NPR Baby Geisha Trinie Dalton, 2012-01-16 Half ingenuous and half wily winningly hard to pin down The result is a kind of everyday fantastic Dalton nails the Walserian trick of evincing a sincerity nearly indistinguishable from irony The effect is a poised instability more uncanny than the magic the stories sometimes describe Bookforum Dalton handles her narratives with a deft skill and a keen distinct confident voice that never eases up never ceases to surprise leaving readers happy to experience her intriguing world up close Just the way we like it Brooklyn Rail The stories feel like brilliant sexual fairy tales on drugs Dalton writes of self discovery and sex with a knowing humility and humor Interview Magazine Pura Vida about an emotionally unavailable journalist on assignment to cover a sloth clinic in Costa Rica is a standout its final moment between woman and sloth arriving with breathtaking lightness like the first flower of spring Other memorable outings include trips to the Missouri Ozarks Wet Look the Alps Shrub of Emotion and the Painted Desert Baby Geisha with men and women on the verge of but never quite reaching psycho sexual breakthroughs Los Angeles Magazine Critic's Pick Baby Geisha pokes fun it's satirical there's an underlying delicious irony to it and the telling parts are the ones where Dalton coins names cuts down trees with her paragraphs gives us just a touch of the absurd Dalton's skill as a writer and above all her expertise in choosing words that play into a darker cultural picture an offsetting of America's natural high are not to be missed here Fanzine Baby Geisha is a collection of thirteen sexually charged stories that roam from the Coney Island Ferris wheel to the Greek Isles True to Trinie Dalton's form the stories in Baby Geisha are distinctly imagined while also representing a more grounded approach in the author's style There's the Joan Didion obsessed starving journalist of Pura Vida struggling to maintain a relationship with her performance artist sisters or anyone for that matter on assignment in Costa Rica to write an article on sloth hugging Millennium Chill is about a woman who discovers that her body heat is mysteriously linked to that of an elderly beggar Baby Geisha serves to support Dalton's reputation as a remarkable stylist and a very original artist for Building Better Girls Elissa Schappell, 2012-07-10 Elissa Schappell a diva of the encapsulating phrase capable of conveying a Pandora's box of feeling in a single line The New York Times Book Review delivers eight provocative darkly funny linked stories that map America's shifting cultural landscape from the late 1970s to the present day Blueprints for Building Better Girls delves into the lives of an eclectic cast of archetypal female characters from the high school slut to the good girl the struggling artist to the college party girl the wife who yearns for a child to the reluctant mother mapping America's shifting cultural landscape from the late 1970s to the present day Its interconnected stories explore the commonly shared but rarely spoken of experiences that build girls into women and women into wives and mothers In revealing all their vulnerabilities and twisting our preconceived notions of who they are Elissa Schappell alters how we think about the nature of female identity and how it evolves

College

Andrew Delbanco, 2023-04-18 The strengths and failures of the American college and why liberal education still matters As the commercialization of American higher education accelerates more and more students are coming to college with the narrow aim of obtaining a preprofessional credential The traditional four year college experience an exploratory time for students to discover their passions and test ideas and values with the help of teachers and peers is in danger of becoming a thing of the past In College prominent cultural critic Andrew Delbanco offers a trenchant defense of such an education and warns that it is becoming a privilege reserved for the relatively rich In describing what a true college education should be he demonstrates why making it available to as many young people as possible remains central to America's democratic promise In a brisk and vivid historical narrative Delbanco explains how the idea of college arose in the colonial period from the Puritan idea of the gathered church how it struggled to survive in the nineteenth century in the shadow of the new research universities and how in the twentieth century it slowly opened its doors to women minorities and students from low income families He describes the unique strengths of America's colleges in our era of globalization and while recognizing the growing centrality of science technology and vocational subjects in the curriculum he mounts a vigorous defense of a broadly humanistic education for all Acknowledging the serious financial intellectual and ethical challenges that all colleges face today Delbanco considers what is at stake in the urgent effort to protect these venerable institutions for future generations

Contemporary World Narrative Fiction and the Spaces of Neoliberalism Michael K. Walonen, 2016-04-26 This book is a transnational study of how contemporary fiction writers from the United States and Canada to Nigeria to India to Dubai have conceptualized the emergent social spaces of the diverse corners of the neoliberal world system Over the span of the past three to four decades free market economic policies have been sold to or pushed upon every society on the globe in some way shape or form The upshot of this has been a world system structured in terms of a vast shift of power and resources from government to private enterprise dwindling civic life replaced by rising consumerism an emerging oligarchic rentier class large segments of population faced with meager material conditions of existence and few prospects of socio economic mobility and a looming sense of a near future dominated by further economic collapses and mounting social strife This book analyses a wide cultural array of some of the most poignant narrative engagements with neoliberalism in its various localized manifestations throughout the world
