

The background of the cover is a dramatic landscape. In the foreground, a person with long blonde hair, wearing a dark jacket and pants, stands on a rocky cliff edge, looking out over the ocean. The cliff is covered in green vegetation. In the middle ground, a large, multi-masted sailing ship is on the water. A bright lightning bolt strikes the ship from a dark, stormy sky. The title 'THE UNICORN TREE' is written in large, yellow, serif capital letters across the top half of the image. The author's name 'CYNTHIA COLLINS' is at the bottom in white, serif capital letters, with some faint, illegible script visible behind it.

The Unicorn Tree By Cynthia Collins:

The Unicorn Tree Cynthia Collins,2012-02 Lisa Duncan a seventeen year old high school senior has an assignment to tour a historic site and write a report about it She chooses Mirabelle Manor a large estate overlooking the ocean built by a nineteenth century sea captain for his wife During the tour she thinks Mirabelle s portrait is watching her One of the items on display is a diary open to a passage about going to a place called the unicorn tree to watch for ships This appeals to Lisa because her brother is currently on a commemorative voyage sailing across the Atlantic When news arrives that his ship is lost at sea Lisa s interest in the diary changes from curiosity to determination in hopes of discovering what happened to her brother

Anthology of Magazine Verse and Yearbook of American Poetry ,1980 The Making of Modern Children's Literature in Britain Lucy Pearson,2016-03-03 Lucy Pearson s lively and engaging book examines British children s literature during the period widely regarded as a second golden age Drawing extensively on archival material Pearson investigates the practical and ideological factors that shaped ideas of good children s literature in Britain with particular attention to children s book publishing Pearson begins with a critical overview of the discourse surrounding children s literature during the 1960s and 1970s summarizing the main critical debates in the context of the broader social conversation that took place around children and childhood The contributions of publishing houses large and small to changing ideas about children s literature become apparent as Pearson explores the careers of two enormously influential children s editors Kaye Webb of Puffin Books and Aidan Chambers of Topliner Macmillan Brilliant as an innovator of highly successful marketing strategies Webb played a key role in defining what were in her words the best in children s books while Chambers work as an editor and critic illustrates the pioneering nature of children s publishing during this period Pearson shows that social investment was a central factor in the formation of this golden age and identifies its legacies in the modern publishing industry both positive and negative

Moondust and Mystery John Foster,2002 In this spirited selection of poems about magic you will find witches and wizards dragons and trolls black cats and magic carpets all the ingredients in fact for a wonderfully atmospheric magical brew stirred and seasoned to perfection by our most tried and trusted poetry anthologist Brilliant selection of poems by top children s poets including Jack Prelutsky Brian Moses and Grace Nichols John Foster s books for OUP have sold over 1 million copies His previous book of magic poems which was illustrated by Korky Paul has sold over 50 000 copies alone Bewitching cover artwork and lively black and white tone illustrations throughout by Peter Bailey who is well known for his illustrations for Philip Pullman s younger novels and for the inside artwork for Tony Mitton s poetry collection Plum Topical subject especially with the current popularity of novels for both young and teenage age groups that feature a magical theme
