The Washington Post Index ,1989      The Obituary Writer Patrick Oster, 2020-07-04 Something just didn't seem right when Wallace McRae got word in the middle of the night that an eminent chemist he'd just interviewed had taken his own life by slashing his wrists with a straight razor in his bath tub McRae's job which he'd been forced to take after getting fired for drinking was to prepare obituaries of famous older people so his new employer dead.com could respond to a person's death with a quick story ideally full of dirt and rumors that would attract online viewers and advertising His odious boss's motto on how far to go in writing an obituary was You can't libel a dead man Taking the job was a Faustian bargain McRae known to all as just Mack had traded his skills as a prize winning investigative reporter for health insurance that covered the mounting medical bills of his dying wife Mack had often interviewed the dead chemist who was obsessed with winning the Nobel Prize for his breakthrough work on obesity and dementia As he told his boss the night he got the news of the man's death He didn't have a suicidal bone in his body Intrigued his boss ordered him to dig into the matter mostly because he saw the possibility of millions of eyeballs coming to his obituary website to read a juicy viral story Mack saw something different a chance to redeem himself with a legitimate scoop that showed the man's official suicide had been something more sinister As he would find others with a huge financial interest in the true story were willing to resort to threats and even murder to muzzle Mack before he could print the truth      Principles and Practice of Aviation Psychology Pamela S.
