Reynolds, 2013-11-07 In Britain we have lost touch with the Great War Our overriding sense now is of a meaningless futile bloodbath in the mud of Flanders of young men whose lives were cut off in their prime for no evident purpose But by reducing the conflict to personal tragedies however moving we have lost the big picture the history has been distilled into poetry In The Long Shadow critically acclaimed author David Reynolds seeks to redress the balance by exploring the true impact of 1914-18 on the 20th century Some of the Great War's legacies were negative and pernicious but others proved transformative in a positive sense Exploring big themes such as democracy and empire nationalism and capitalism and re-examining the differing impacts of the War on Britain Ireland and the United States The Long Shadow throws light on the whole of the last century and demonstrates that 1914-18 is a conflict that Britain more than any other nation is still struggling to comprehend Stunningly broad in its historical perspective The Long Shadow is a magisterial and seismic re-presentation of the Great War Collective Traumas Conny Mithander, 2007 Collective Traumas is about the traumatic

European history of the 20th century war genocide dictatorship ethnic cleansing and how individuals communities and nations have dealt with their dark past through remembrance historiography and legal settlements Memories and especially collective memories serve as foundations for national identities and are politically charged Regardless whether memory is used to support or to challenge established ideologies it is inevitably subject to political tensions Consequently memory history and amnesia tend to be used and abused for different political and ideological purposes From the perspectives of historical literary and visual studies the essays focus on how the experiences of war and profound conflict have been represented and remembered in different national cultures and communities This volume is a vital contribution to memory studies and trauma theory Collective Traumas is a result of the multidisciplinary research project on Memory Culture that was initiated in 2002 at Karlstad University Sweden A previous publication with Peter Lang is Memory Work The Theory and Practice of Memory 2005

Kerby, Denise Burkhard, Alison Bedford, Marion Gymnich, Margaret M. Baguley, 2025-09-30 This book is grounded in the belief that every nation had its own Great War and that children's picture books are an important barometer of each country's national approach To explore the depiction of the Great War in modern Australian British and French children's picture books where this historical event is reimagined in different ways as a futile conflict as a painful victory and as part of one country's founding mythology this book uses the concept of the hero's journey as an underlying framework It claims that this monomythic pattern as developed by Joseph Campbell and modified by Christopher Vogler not only informs all picture books selected for this project but can also be used to highlight the extent to which modern children's picture book authors and illustrators conform to their respective nation's cultural memory. It further maintains that the specific historical context of the Great War in these children's picture books can be used to identify a variant of the hero's journey: the ordinary soldier's journey. This analysis of children's picture books about the Great War through the lens of Campbell's hero's journey will be of interest to both students and researchers in the fields of children's literature, literary theory, history, cultural studies, and education.

The History of Emotions Jan Plamper, 2015. The history of emotions is one of the fastest growing fields in current historical debate and this is the first book-length introduction to the field synthesizing the current research and offering direction for future study. The History of Emotions is organized around the debate between social constructivist and universalist theories of emotion that has shaped most emotions research in a variety of disciplines for more than a hundred years. Social constructivists believe that emotions are largely learned and subject to historical change, while universalists insist on the timelessness and pan-culturalism of emotions. In historicizing and problematizing this binary, Jan Plamper opens emotions research beyond constructivism and universalism; he also maps a vast terrain of thought about feelings in anthropology, philosophy, sociology, linguistics, art history, political science, the life sciences, from nineteenth-century experimental psychology to the latest affective neuroscience and history from ancient times to the present day.

Defamiliarizing the Aboriginal Julia Emberley, 2007-01-01. In Defamiliarizing the Aboriginal, Julia V. Emberley examines the historical production of aboriginality in colonial cultural practices and its impact on the everyday lives of indigenous women, youth, and children.

Henri de Rothschild, 1872-1947 Harry W. Paul, 2011. This is a fascinating and vividly written study of Henri de Rothschild, a somewhat neglected figure in the history of the illustrious Rothschild family. It will make a valuable addition to the libraries of scholars from several branches of the history of medicine and those studying child health and welfare; the portrayal of doctors in literature and more broadly the social and cultural life of early twentieth-century Paris.
