Growing Old Danielle Quinodoz, 2014-05-22 People react very differently to the process of ageing Some people shy away from old age for as long as they can and eventually spend it reflecting on times when they were physically and mentally stronger and more independent For others old age is embraced as a new adventure and something to look forward to In this book psychoanalyst Danielle Quinodoz highlights the value of old age and the fact that although many elderly people have suffered losses either of their own good health or through bereavement most have managed to retain the most important thing their sense of self Quinodoz argues that growing old provides us with the opportunity to learn more about ourselves and instead of facing it with dread it should be celebrated Divided into accessible chapters this book covers topics including the internal life history remembering phases of life anxiety about death being a psychoanalyst and growing old Throughout Growing Old the author draws on both her clinical experience of working with the elderly and her own personal experience of growing old This makes it an interesting read for both practising psychoanalysts and those who wish to gain a greater insight of the natural progression into later life Conversations with Jay Parini Michael Lackey, 2014-06-27 Jay Parini b 1948 is best known for his novel about Leo Tolstoy's last year The Last Station which has been translated into more than twenty five languages and made into a Hollywood film But he has also published numerous volumes of poetry biographies of William Faulkner Robert Frost and John Steinbeck novels and literary and cultural criticism This book contains the most important interviews with the former Guggenheim fellow former Fowler Hamilton Fellow at Christ Church Oxford and former fellow of the Institute for Advanced Studies at the University of London Parini's work is valuable not just because of its high quality and intellectual range Parini's life and writings often seem like a seminar table with friends gathered talking and trading stories He has openly written poems in conversation with writers he knew personally Robert Penn Warren Gore Vidal Jorge Luis Borges and others He has in his own life kept an ongoing conversation with many literary friends over the years Alastair Reid Seamus Heaney Anne Stevenson Ann Beattie Julia Alvarez Peter Ackroyd A N Wilson and countless others These interviews offer a more comprehensive understanding of Parini s work as a poet scholar public intellectual literary critic intellectual historian biographer novelist and biographical novelist More importantly these interviews will contribute to our understanding of the history of ideas the condition of knowledge and the state of literature all of which Parini has played an Love's Executioner Irvin D.
