 Your Spanish identifies and classifies the common errors frequently made by students of Spanish By explaining why these errors are made the book enables students to learn from their mistakes and enhance their understanding and mastery of the Spanish language Third Language Learners Maria Pilar Safont Jordà, 2005-01-01 The book aims to provide a bridge between two applied linguistics subfields namely those of interlanguage pragmatics and third language acquisition It examines the production and identification of request acts formulas on the part of bilingual learners of English in the Valencian Community Spain Previous to the empirical study itself we present an overview of the theoretical background and the sociolinguistic context where the experiment was conducted The Handbook of Language in Public Health and Healthcare Pilar Ortega, Glenn Martínez, Maichou Lor, A. Susana Martínez, 2024-04-02 An interdisciplinary overview of theory history and leading research in the field With a joint linguistic and medical perspective The Handbook of Language in communication assessment and mass communication Contributions by a diverse panel of experts address a wide range of key topics including language concordance in clinical care medical interpreting the role of language as a social determinant of health reaching linguistically diverse audiences during public health crises assessing clinician language skills and more Organized into five parts the Handbook covers the theory history and context of linguistics language interpretation and translation language concordance medical language education pedagogy and mass communication of health information with linguistically diverse populations Throughout the text detailed chapters present solutions and strategies with the potential to improve the health and healthcare of linguistically diverse populations worldwide In an increasingly multilingual global society language has become a critical area of interest for advancing public health and healthcare The Handbook of Language in Public Health and Healthcare Helps professionals integrate language appropriate communication in healthcare settings Addresses clinician patient communication assessment research and mass public health communication Offers key theoretical insights that inform the intersection of language public health and healthcare Highlights how various approaches in the field of linguistics have enriched public health and healthcare practices The Handbook of Language in Public Health and Healthcare is essential reading for undergraduate postgraduate and professional students of applied linguistics health communication and medicine It is also an invaluable reference for language educators clinicians medical educators linguists health policy experts and researchers

Lexical Errors and Accuracy in Foreign Language Writing María Pilar Agustín Llach, 2011 This book explores how lexical competence develops in a foreign language and also argues for the importance of lexical accuracy as a measure of the quality of foreign language writing and as an indicator of receptive vocabulary knowledge

The Determinant Phrase in the Spanish Interlanguage of Native Speakers of Swahili Maria Landa Buil, 2014-06-02 This book makes a significant contribution to the Second Language Acquisition research field as it is the only study that exists on the acquisition of the Spanish Determiner Phrase DP by speakers of a Bantu language The corpus was compiled using data from 14 interviews carried out over a 25 month period The subjects of the study were four Swahili speakers learning Spanish as a third language English is their L2 at the State University of Zanzibar Tanzania The data collected longitudinally was used to characterize the DP of the Swahili Spanish IL and observe Bantu transfer This study also represents an important contribution to the discussion on Creole formation since it provides valuable information on the role played by adult speakers in the formation of Creole languages In this book the features of the DP in the IL are compared with those of the DP found in three Spanish lexifier Creoles Palenquero Chabacano and Papiamentu Although similar work has been done comparing the interlanguage of learners of English and French with Creoles that have these languages as lexifiers no comparative studies of this type have been conducted for Spanish Moreover in the case of Palenquero this study also represents the first of its kind to examine languages in which the substrate and the L1 involved belong to the same family of Bantu languages

Learning a non-native language in a naturalistic environment: Insights from behavioural and neuroimaging research Christos Pliatsikas, Vicky Chondrogianni, 2015-09-02 It is largely accepted in the relevant literature that successful learning of one or more non native languages is affected by a number of factors that are independent of the target language s per se these factors include the age of acquisition AoA of the target language s the type and amount of formal instruction the learners have received as well as the amount of language use that the learners demonstrate Recent experimental evidence suggests that one crucial factor for efficient native like performance in the non native language is the amount of naturalistic exposure or immersion that the learners receive to that language This can be broadly defined as the degree to which language learners use their non native language outside the classroom and for their day to day activities and usually presupposes that the learners live in an environment where their non native language is exclusively or mostly used Existing literature has suggested that linguistic immersion can be beneficial for lexical and semantic acquisition in a non native language as well as for non native morphological and syntactic processing More recent evidence has also suggested that naturalistic learning of a non native language can also have an impact on the patterns of brain activity underlying language processing as well as on the structure of brain regions that are involved expressed as changes in the grey matter structure This Research Topic brings together studies on the effects of learning and speaking a non native language in a naturalistic environment These include more efficient or native like processing in behavioural tasks tapping on language lexicon morphology syntax as well as changes in the brain structure and function as revealed by neuroimaging studies

Books in Print Supplement ,2002 Age and the Acquisition of English as a Foreign Language María del Pilar García Mayo, Maria Luisa Garcia Lecumberri, 2003-01-01 This book provides an overview of current research on the age factor in foreign language learning addressing issues which are critical for language planning It presents new research on foreign language learning within bilingual communities in formal instruction settings focussing on syntax phonology writing oral skills and learning strategies
