The Gateway to the Pacific Meredith Oda,2019-01-03 In the decades following World War II municipal leaders and ordinary citizens embraced San Francisco s identity as the Gateway to the Pacific using it to reimagine and rebuild the city The city became a cosmopolitan center on account of its newfound celebration of its Japanese and other Asian American residents its economy linked with Asia and its favorable location for transpacific partnerships The most conspicuous testament to San Francisco s postwar transpacific connections is the Japanese Cultural and Trade Center in the city s redeveloped Japanese American enclave Focusing on the development of the Center Meredith Oda shows how this multilayered story was embedded within a larger story of the changing institutions and ideas that were shaping the city During these formative decades Oda argues San Francisco s relations with and ideas about Japan were being forged within the intimate local sites of civic and community life This shift took many forms including changes in city leadership new municipal institutions and especially transformations in the built environment Newly friendly relations between Japan and the United States also meant that Japanese Americans found fresh if highly constrained job and community prospects just as the city s African Americans struggled against rising barriers San Francisco s story is an inherently local one but it also a broader story of a city collectively if not cooperatively reimaging its place in a global economy

Rhetoric and Demagoguery Patricia Roberts-Miller, 2019-02-05 One of Library Journal s Top 20 Best Selling Language Titles of 2019 In a culture of profit driven media demagoguery is a savvy short term rhetorical strategy Once it becomes the norm individuals are more likely to employ it and in that way increase its power by making it seem the only way of disagreeing with or about others When that happens arguments about policy are replaced by arguments about identity and criticism is met with accusations that the critic has the wrong identity weak treacherous membership in an out group or the wrong feelings uncaring heartless Patricia Roberts Miller proposes a definition of demagoguery based on her study of groups and cultures that have talked themselves into disastrously bad decisions She argues for seeing demagoguery as a way for people to participate in public discourse and not necessarily as populist or heavily emotional Demagoguery she contends depoliticizes political argument by making all issues into questions of identity She broaches complicated questions about its effectiveness at persuasion proposes a new set of criteria and shows how demagoguery plays out in regard to individuals not conventionally seen as demagogues Roberts Miller looks at the discursive similarities among the Holocaust in early twentieth century Germany the justification of slavery in the antebellum South the internment of Japanese Americans in the United States during World War II and the U S led invasion of Iraq in 2003 among others She examines demagoguery among powerful politicians and jurists Earl Warren chief justice of the U S Supreme Court as well as more conventional populists Theodore Bilbo two time governor of Mississippi E S Cox cofounder of the Anglo Saxon Clubs of America She also looks at

The volume brings together ten chapters with themes ranging from a bioarchaeology of Neanderthal healthcare to Roman air quality decontamination strategies at Australian quarantine centres to local resistance to colonial medical structures in South America. Within their chapters the contributors argue for greater integration between archaeology and both the medical and environmental humanities while the Introduction presents suggestions for future engagement with emerging discourse in community and public health, environmental and planetary health, genetic and epigenetic medicine, exposome studies and ecological public health, microbiome studies and historical disability studies. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of World Archaeology.

Extravagant Camp Chris A. Eng, 2025-02-04 Winner of the 2023 2024 CLAGS Fellowship Award. Illuminates an irreverent queer cultural strategy for grappling with and remaking abject histories of violence. Extravagant Camp takes as its point of critical departure the multiple valences of the word camp: the camp as a geopolitical space and process of concentrating racialized populations and the campy as a mode of queer expressiveness. Engaging its double meaning, Chris A. Eng explores how camp and encampment have contoured the figure of the Asian American. The book follows campy performances that imaginatively restage the camps that have been central to dominant narratives of Asian American history: Chinese railroad labor, Japanese American incarceration, Vietnam War refugee resettlement and counterinsurgency camps across US imperial entanglements in the Philippines. Illuminating an eclectic ensemble of performances that grapple with Asian American history from classical works in the Asian American literary tradition to emerging works of theater and film, Extravagant Camp uncovers Asian American camp as a prevalent yet underappreciated cultural strategy for contesting accounts of Asian American racialization that overly rely on terms of abjection. Theorizing Asian American camp as both a performance strategy and reading practice, Eng examines how artists drag up the maligned racial roles of the coolie, the internee, the refugee and the diva to make different sense of these histories. Extravagant Camp shows how Asian American camp takes on queerness as a resource to enliven modes of joy, beauty and pleasure within structures of constraint, revealing the types of power camp retrieves for racialized communities in the face of abjection. Geared toward the extravagant Asian American camp, it demands a recognition of queer abjection not as the basis for our undoing but rather the grounds for a more radical social remaking.

The volume reviews surveillance technology from the days of colonial conquest to the digital era, focusing on countries such as the United States, Canada, the UK, South Africa, the Philippines, India, Brazil and Palestine. Weaving together narratives on how technology and surveillance have developed over time to reinforce racial discrimination, the book delves into the often overlooked origins of racial surveillance from skin branding, cranial measurements and fingerprinting to contemporary manifestations in big data.
