Writing Between Languages

Sheela Mahadevan, 2025-08-21 This open access book casts light on an understudied corpus of Indian Francophone literatures by writers originally from former French territories of India and from other regions of India who also engage in processes of translation Ari Gautier Pondicherry M Mukundan Mah Manohar Rai Sardessai Goa Toru Dutt Calcutta and Shumona Sinha Calcutta By examining the range of ways in which these writers write between languages Sheela Mahadevan advances theories of translation and literary multilingualism Moreover the book demonstrates how the self reflective process of translating Indian Francophone writing into English can be employed as a theoretical tool that unlocks fresh ways of conceptualizing literary multilingualism and translation Applying this methodology the author explores the ways in which the linguistic framework and region of the readership of a text can determine the visibility and effects of literary multilingualism and demonstrates how a text may consequently be interpreted as simultaneously monolingual and multilingual The book thereby also intervenes in debates about translation as research in Translation Studies Ultimately the book offers a more nuanced and alternative vision and understanding of the Indian literary landscape by exploring not only how and why Indian Francophone writers adopt French in their writing but also by demonstrating how certain regional literary traditions of India have been significantly shaped by French literatures owing to processes of translation undertaken by these writers The author also advances existing research on Indian translation traditions including the concept of transcreation and the meaning of originality in the Indian context Through the lens of Indian Francophone writing the book explores the various factors which trigger the fluidity of boundaries between translation and creative writing that is commonplace in the Indian context The ebook editions of this book are available open access under a CC BY NC ND 4 0 licence on bloomsburycollections preoccupied the minds of Buddhist jurists Schopen has in essence brought the Buddha down to earth revealing that this is precisely where most Indian Buddhists encountered him The contributions in this celebratory volume reflect this legacy and Schopen's considerable impact on our understanding of Buddhists in India The Bhāgavata Purāṇa Ravi M. Baruchello,Ársæll Már Arnarsson,2022-11-07 Humor has been praised by philosophers and poets as a balm to soothe the sorrows that outrageous fortune s slings and arrows cause inevitably if not incessantly to each and every one of us In mundane life having a sense of humor is seen not only as a positive trait of character but as a social prerequisite without which a person s career and mating prospects are severely diminished if not annihilated However humor is much more than this and so much else In particular humor can accompany cruelty inform it sustain it and exemplify it Therefore in this book

we provide a comprehensive reasoned exploration of the vast literature on the concepts of humor and cruelty as these have been tackled in Western philosophy humanities and social sciences especially psychology Also the apparent cacophony of extant interpretations of these two concepts is explained as the inevitable and even useful result of the polysemy inherent to all common sense concepts in line with the understanding of concepts developed by M Polanyi in the 20th century Thus a thorough nuanced grasp of their complex mutual relationship is established and many platitudes affecting today s received views and scholarship are cast aside Like Aristotle and Dewey Arnarsson and Baruchello do not define their terms at the outset but instead they relentlessly pursue the meanings of two ordinary words that everyone vaguely understads to arrive at a critical insight into the concepts these words represent which are both disparate and interrelated Richard Marc Rubin
