A Buddhist History of the West David R. Loy, 2002-01-24 A Buddhist interpretation of Western history that shows civilization shaped by the self's desire for groundedness A Buddhist History of the West David R. Loy, 2012-02-01 Buddhism teaches that to become happy greed, ill will and delusion must be transformed into their positive counterparts generosity, compassion and wisdom The history of the West like all histories has been plagued by the consequences of greed, ill will and delusion A Buddhist History of the West investigates how individuals have tried to ground themselves to make themselves feel more real To be self-conscious is to experience ungroundedness as a sense of lack but what is lacking has been understood differently in different historical periods Author David R. Loy examines how the understanding of lack changes at historical junctures and shows how those junctures were so crucial in the development of the West

Interpreting Amida Galen Dean Amstutz, 1997-01-01 Examines the history of Japanese Pure Land Buddhism and how orientalist assumptions have caused the West to ignore this important tradition Religious Understandings of a Good Death in Hospice Palliative Care Harold Coward, Kelli I. Stajduhar, 2012-06-13 Winner of the 2012 AJN American Journal of Nursing Book of the Year Award in the Hospice and Palliative Care category In the 1960s English physician and committed Christian Cicely Saunders introduced a new way of treating the terminally ill that she called hospice care Emphasizing a holistic and compassionate approach her model led to the rapid growth of a worldwide hospice movement Aspects of the early hospice model that stressed attention to the religious dimensions of death and dying while still recognized and practiced have developed outside the purview of academic inquiry and consideration Meanwhile global migration and multicultural diversification in the West have dramatically altered the profile of contemporary hospice care In response to these developments this volume is the first to critically explore how religious understandings of death are manifested and experienced in palliative care settings Contributors discuss how a good death is conceived within the major religious traditions of Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, Judaism, Buddhism, Chinese religion and Aboriginal spirituality A variety of real world examples are presented in case studies of a Buddhist hospice center in Thailand Ugandan approaches to dying with HIV/AIDS Punjabi extended family hospice care and pediatric palliative care The work sheds new light on the significance of religious belief and practice at the end of life at the many forms religious understanding can take and at the spiritual pain that so often accompanies the physical pain of the dying person Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1997

Buddhist-Christian Dialogue as Theological Exchange Ernest M. Valea, 2015-04-14 This book is intended to encourage the use of comparative theology in contemporary Buddhist-Christian dialogue as a new approach that would truly respect each religious tradition's uniqueness and make dialogue beneficial for all participants interested in a real theological exchange As a result of the impasse reached by the current theologies of religions exclusivism, inclusivism and pluralism in formulating a constructive approach in dialogue this volume assesses the thought of the founding fathers of an academic

Buddhist Christian dialogue in search of clues that would encourage a comparativist approach These founding fathers are considered to be three important representatives of the Kyoto School Kitaro Nishida Keiji Nishitani and Masao Abe and John Cobb an American process theologian The guiding line for assessing their views of dialogue is the concept of human perfection as it is expressed by the original traditions in Mahayana Buddhism and Orthodox Christianity Following Abe's methodology in dialogue an Orthodox contribution to comparative theology proposes a reciprocal enrichment of traditions not by syncretistic means but by providing a better understanding and even correction of one's own tradition when considering it in the light of the other while using internal resources for making the necessary corrections Buddhism in Canada Bruce Matthews, 2006-04-18 This insightful study analyzes the phenomenon of Buddhism in Canada from a regional perspective providing an important examination of the place of Buddhism in a developed western country associated with a traditional Judeo Christian culture but undergoing profound sociological transformation due to large scale immigration and religious cultural pluralism Religion and the Subtle Body in Asia and the West Geoffrey Samuel, Jay

Wisdom A. Christian van Gorder, 2021-12-09 Buddhism and Christianity are ancient rich and multivalent wisdom spirituality traditions that often have insightful similarities as well as distinct perspectives from entirely different starting points Fragrant Rivers of Wisdom explores some of these paths and encourages readers to gain as far as is possible a participant's appreciation of another faith This book aims to help readers celebrate and enjoy the rich wisdom legacies of a teacher revealing a pure lotus blossoming from mud and the legacies of a peasant Jewish carpenter from Galilee revealing love on a cross Both teachers share the power of love the joys of healing encouragement and the creative resources of spirit-filled living Their ancient words and their modern communities still following these paths are dynamically relevant for our modern context of confusion and challenge All Beings are Buddhas Sandy Hinzelin, 2023-04-20 Each of us has the possibility to become awakened to perceive reality as it is and to liberate ourselves from what enchains us and leads us to dissatisfaction No one is excluded the only condition is to remove the different veils that cover what is already there This situation can be compared to a person sitting on a treasure except that the latter is buried underground It is only by digging that we will take advantage of it any search at the surface of the ground will not lead anywhere Consciousness is also a treasure but it remains inaccessible as long as perception lacks depth Which path is to be walked to see what we truly are How is awakened consciousness Buddhahood characterized In the Treatise on Pointing Out Buddha Nature the 3rd Karmapa Rangjung Dorje 1284 1339 Tibetan master from the Kagy lineage concisely presents Buddha nature and he gives some elements to see it directly Based on this treatise and a commentary from Jamg n Kongtrul Lodr Thay 1813 1899 a phenomenological approach is offered to touch on these questions Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2003 Moral Theory in Santideva's Siksasamuccaya Barbra R. Clayton,2006-04-07 This book analyses the moral theory of the seventh century Indian Mahayana master Santideva Buddhism and Bioethics Damien Keown,2016-07-27 Buddhism and Bioethics discusses contemporary issues in medical ethics from a Buddhist perspective The issues examined include abortion embryo research and euthanasia Drawing on ancient and modern sources the book shows how Buddhist ethical principles can be applied consistently to a range of bioethical problems It is suggested that moral judgements can be objective and that there can be a Buddhist view on ethical issues Inherited Land Whitney A. Bauman,Richard R. Bohannon II,Kevin J. O'Brien,2011-08-04 Religion and ecology has arrived What was once a niche interest for a few academics concerned with environmental issues and a few environmentalists interested in religion has become an established academic field with classic texts graduate programs regular meetings at academic conferences and growing interest from other academics and the mass media Theologians ethicists sociologists and other scholars are engaged in a broad dialogue about the ways religious studies can help understand and address environmental problems including the sorts of methodological terminological and substantive debates that characterize any academic discourse This book recognizes the field that has taken shape reflects on the ways it is changing and anticipates its development in the future The essays offer analyses and reflections from emerging scholars of religion and ecology each addressing her or his own specialty in light of two questions 1 What have we inherited from the work that has come before us and 2 What inquiries concerns and conversation partners should be central to the next generation of scholarship The aim of this volume is not to lay out a single and clear path forward for the field Rather the authors critically reflect on the field from within outline some of the major issues we face in the academy and offer perspectives that will nurture continued dialogue Discourse and Practice Frank E. Reynolds,David Tracy,1992-05-14 Discourse and Practice strives to stretch the boundaries of commonly accepted notions of philosophical discourse in order to introduce comparative considerations It is united by a concern to tease out the philosophical discourse and practices which inhere in seemingly unphilosophical texts These texts range from ethnographical materials to mythical and fictive narratives and finally to explicitly theoretical traditions Each author in attending to the details of his or her area study strives to demonstrate the implicit and explicit philosophical agendas at play The comparative examples offer valuable insights for how discourse can be redefined One consistent assumption presented here is that the element of practice which has long been posed in opposition to theory must be treated as an integral aspect of the philosophical import of any tradition Historical traditions covered include East Asia Papua New Guinea and Tibet as well as the more familiar territory of Western disciplinary fields
