Baltic Sea Academy, Philipp Jarke, Max Hogeferster, 2015-03-19 At the 10th Hanseatic Conference 2015 in Hamburg representatives from business organisations academic institutions and policy makers from all countries around the Baltic Sea exchanged their experiences This book contains the presented papers and a summary of the participants discussion Vocational training has dramatically lost its appeal More and more young people rather opt for study programmes at the university and refuse to learn practical skills in vocational education However the qualifications of the high number of academics do not match the demand of SMEs for skilled workers and entrepreneurs as their knowledge is mostly theoretical At the same time due to demographic changes the number of school leavers in the Baltic Sea Region is declining Both developments have led to a dramatic shortage of skilled workers and entrepreneurs which is severely limiting growth and innovativeness of SMEs In order to overcome this crisis dual vocational training and dual degree study programmes have to be promoted substantially In dual vocational training enterprises can actively influence and improve the quality of the education their apprentices receive and in dual degree study programmes students can test and apply their theoretical knowledge which they acquire at the university simultaneously in the enterprises The contributors of this book describe how this reform of education policy can be implemented in practice Work-Based Learning David Boud,Nicky Solomon,2001-02-16 Work Based Learning Global Perspectives on Work-Based Learning Initiatives Talbot, Jon,2018-10-05 The purpose of education has been debated in recent years especially surrounding its curriculum and structure In order to fully understand this discussion the relationship between education and the labor market must be explored Global Perspectives on Work Based Learning Initiatives is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on recent progress in selected countries across the globe in educational programs designed to better prepare students for the workforce through the use of work related learning While highlighting topics such as degree apprenticeships integrated learning strategy and economic development this book is ideally designed for education administrators professors business and education professionals academicians researchers and graduate level students seeking current research on the relationship between the education and labor market Placements and Work-based Learning in Education Studies Jim Hordern,Catherine A. Streumer,2006-03-14 Work related learning can be broadly seen to be concerned with all forms of education and training closely related to the daily work of new employees and is increasingly playing a central role in the lives of individuals groups or teams and the agenda s of organizations However as this area of study becomes more prominent debates have opened about the nature of the field as well as about its configurations and effects For example some authors have a broad definition of WRL and define it as learning for work at work and through work ranging from formal through semi structured to informal learning Others prefer to use the concept of WRL mainly in connection to informal incidental learning processes during work leading to competent workplace learners Formal and informal learning are distinguished from each other with respect to the level of intention implicit non intentional incidental versus deliberative intentional structured Another point of discussion originates from the different theoretical backgrounds of the authors the learning theorists versus the organizational theorists The first group is mainly interested in the question of how learning comes about the second group is predominantly interested in the search for factors affecting learning

Work Based Learning in Health Care Katherine Rounce, 2005-02-10 This book is about sharing knowledge and practice It arose from a conference that was hosted by the Work Based Learning and Accreditation Unit of the School of Health and Social Sciences at Middlesex University We believed that as a Unit and within the University we have the expertise and experience to make a significant contribution to the debates surrounding the development and implementation of work based learning in health care However we were also aware that we are by no means alone in this and that excellent work is being developed and practised in many other universities and organisations and so the idea of the conference as a platform from which to share knowledge and practice was born Whilst this book doesn't provide a how to guide it addresses a topic that has become increasingly important in government business and education the role of the workplace in the generation of knowledge in a complex and changing society The book presents a range of ideas and practice that cross many of the debates in work based learning including the student experience the organisational experience of accreditation and professional impact as well as academic and policy reviews As such we believe that those who are experienced in work based learning and those who are just beginning to think about it will find something here to stimulate thinking and the development of new ideas
