A Neurolinguistic Theory Of Bilingualism Studies In Bilingualism:

A Neurolinguistic Theory of Bilingualism Michel Paradis, 2004-01-01 The relationship between language and thought in bilinguals is examined in the light of evidence from pathology BOOK JACKET Declarative and Procedural Determinants of Second Languages Michel Paradis, 2009 This volume is the outcome of the author's observations and puzzlement over seventeen years of teaching English and French as second languages followed by 30 years of research into the neurolinguistic aspects of bilingualism It examines within the framework of a neurolinguistic theory of bilingualism Paradis 2004 the crucial and pervasive contributions made by declarative and procedural memory to the appropriation representation and processing of a second language This requires careful consideration of a number of concepts associated with issues pertaining to second language research consciousness interface modularity automaticity proficiency accuracy fluency intake ultimate attainment switching implicit linguistic competence and explicit metalinguistic knowledge It is informed by data from a variety of domains including language pathology neuroimaging and from each side of the fence practical classroom experience This book introduces four further proposals within the framework of a neurolinguistic theory of bilingualism 1 There are two sets of cerebral representations those that are capable of reaching consciousness and those that are not implicit grammar is inherently not capable of reaching consciousness 2 The increased activation observed in neuroimaging studies during the use of a second language is not devoted to the processing of implicit linguistic competence 3 Intake is doubly implicit 4 Given the premise that metalinguistic knowledge cannot be converted into implicit competence there can be no possible interface between the two Third Language Acquisition in Adulthood Jennifer Cabrelli Amaro, Suzanne Flynn, Jason Rothman, 2012 Provides an overview of present trends in the study of adult additive multilingualism from formal psycholinguistic and sociolinguistic perspectives adding new insights into adult multilingual epistemology This book includes critical reviews of L3 Ln morphosyntax phonology and the lexicon Incomplete Acquisition in Bilingualism Silvina Montrul, 2008 Age effects have played a particularly prominent role in some theoretical perspectives on second language acquisition This book takes an entirely new perspective on this issue by re-examining these theories in light of the existence of apparently similar non-native outcomes in adult heritage speakers who unlike adult second language learners acquired two or more languages in childhood Despite having been exposed to their family language early in life many of these speakers never fully acquire or later lose aspects of their first language sometime in childhood The book examines the structural characteristics of incomplete grammatical states and highlights how age of acquisition is related to the type of linguistic knowledge and behavior that emerges in L1 and L2 acquisition under different environmental circumstances By underscoring age of acquisition as a unifying factor in the study of L2 acquisition and L1 attrition it is claimed that just as there are age effects in L2 acquisition there are also age effects or even perhaps a critical period in L1 attrition The book covers adult L2 acquisition attrition in adults and in children and includes a comparison of adult heritage language speakers and second language learners Sign Bilingualism Carolina Plaza Pust, Esperanza Morales López, 2008 This volume provides a unique cross disciplinary perspective on the external ecological and internal psycholinguistic factors that determine sign bilingualism its development and maintenance at the individual and societal levels Multiple aspects concerning the dynamics of contact situations involving a signed and a spoken or a written language are covered in detail i e the development of the languages in bilingual deaf children cross modal contact phenomena in the productions of child and adult signers sign bilingual education concepts and practices in diverse social contexts deaf educational discourse sign language planning and interpretation This state of the art collection is enhanced by a final chapter providing a critical appraisal of the major issues emerging from the individual studies in the light of current assumptions in the broader field of contact linguistics Given the interdependence of research policy and practice the insights gathered in the studies presented are not only of scientific interest but also bear important implications concerning the perception understanding and promotion of bilingualism in deaf individuals whose language acquisition and use have been ignored for a long time at the socio political and scientific levels Bilingual Cognition A. M. B. de Groot, 2011-04-27 The first introductory level textbook that comprehensively covers the psycholinguistic study of bilingualism and multilingualism including traditional and brain based approaches Each chapter covers a key series of topics in clear accessible language and includes a description of the relevant methodological issues It provides a valuable resources for students and researchers in psycholinguistics

Bilingualism in Action Luna Filipović, 2019-10-24 A new model of bilingualism unifying psycholinguistics and sociolinguistics that explains how multiple factors interact within and across bilingual minds The Neurolinguistics of Bilingualism Franco Fabbro, 2013-05-24 This book introduces the reader to both neurolinguistics per se and the neuropsychological aspects of bilingualism Neurolinguistics may roughly be defined as a subset of neuropsychology namely the study of the representation and processing of language in the brain To this effect the first chapters of the book focus on the basic neuropsychology of language processing and acquisition The second half of the book addresses the issues of cerebral representation and processing of language in bi or multilingual subjects All aspects are systematically dealt with namely the definition of bilingualism an analysis of all the issues related to bilingual aphasia i e patterns of recovery of the patients carious languages in diverse population an investigation of the methodologies used in the study of the neuropsychological aspects of the various linguistic functions such as comprehension production and translation and lastly the issues of cerebral lateralization and neuroanatomical localization of the numerous cortical and subcortical structures subserving the various language system components in multilingual subjects It is an excellent introduction to both the neuropsychology of language and the phenomena related to bilingualism This book will be of particular interest to students of language therapy aphasiology applied psycholinguistics neurolinguistics and in general to students of medicine who wish to become more knowledgeable about the specific needs of patients in a multilingual society Declarative and Procedural Determinants of Second Languages Michel Paradis, 2009-01-14 This volume is the outcome of the author's observations and puzzlement over seventeen years of teaching English and French as second languages followed by 30 years of research into the neurolinguistic aspects of bilingualism. It examines within the framework of a neurolinguistic theory of bilingualism Paradis 2004 the crucial and pervasive contributions made by declarative and procedural memory to the appropriation, representation and processing of a second language. This requires careful consideration of a number of concepts associated with issues pertaining to second language research: consciousness, interface, modularity, automaticity, proficiency, accuracy, fluency, intake, ultimate attainment, switching, implicit linguistic competence and explicit metalinguistic knowledge. It is informed by data from a variety of domains including language pathology, neuroimaging and from each side of the fence: practical classroom experience. This book introduces four further proposals within the framework of a neurolinguistic theory of bilingualism: 1. There are two sets of cerebral representations: those that are capable of reaching consciousness and those that are not. Implicit grammar is inherently not capable of reaching consciousness. 2. The increased activation observed in neuroimaging studies during the use of a second language is not devoted to the processing of implicit linguistic competence. 3. Intake is doubly implicit. 4. Given the premise that metalinguistic knowledge cannot be converted into implicit competence, there can be no possible interface between the two.

The Blackwell Guide to Research Methods in Bilingualism and Multilingualism Li Wei, Melissa G. Moyer, 2017-11-27 As globalization has increased awareness of the extent of language contact and linguistic diversity, questions concerning bilingualism and multilingualism have taken on an increasing importance from both practical and scholarly points of view. Written by leading experts and practitioners in the field, The Blackwell Guide to Research Methods in Bilingualism and Multilingualism highlights the interdisciplinary nature of research on bilingualism and multilingualism and offers a practical guide to the procedures and tools for collecting and analyzing data. Specifically, it addresses methodological issues, discussing research topics, core concepts and approaches, and the methods and techniques available. It links theory to method and to data and answers a real need for a know-how volume on bilingualism and multilingualism that deals with its methodology in a systematic and coherent way.

Contemporary Approaches to Second Language Acquisition María del Pilar García Mayo, María Junkal Gutierrez Mangado, Maria Martinez Adrian, 2013 Second language acquisition (SLA) is a field of inquiry that has increased in importance since the 1960s. Currently, researchers adopt multiple perspectives in the analysis of learner language, all of them providing different but complementary answers to the understanding of oral and written data produced by young and older learners in different settings. The main goal of this volume is to provide the reader with updated reviews of the major contemporary approaches to SLA, the research carried out within them, and wherever appropriate, the implications and/or applications for theory, research and pedagogy that might derive from the available empirical evidence. The book is intended for SLA researchers as well as for graduate MA/PhD students in SLA research, applied linguistics and linguistics, as the different chapters will be a guide in their research within the approaches presented The volume will also be of interest to professionals from other fields interested in the SLA process and the different explanations that have been put forward to account for it

Cognitive Aspects of Bilingualism Istvan Kecskes, Liliana Albertazzi, 2007-08-19 A unique feature of this book is that chapters favor that line of cognitive linguistics which makes a clear distinction between real world and projected world Information conveyed by language must be about the projected world Both the experimental results and the systematic claims in this volume call for a weak form of whorfianism Also chapters add some relatively unexplored issues of bilingualism to the well known ones such as gender systems in the bilingual mind context and task synergic concepts blending the relationship between lexical categorization and ontological categorization among others

Researching Cognitive Processes of Translation Defeng Li, Victoria Lai Cheng Lei, Yuanjian He, 2018-10-26 This edited volume covers an array of the most relevant topics in translation cognition taking different approaches and using different research tools It explores theoretical and methodological issues using case studies and examining their practical and pedagogical implications It is a valuable resource for translation studies scholars graduate students and those interested in translation and translation training enabling them to conceptualize translation cognition in order to enhance their research methods and designs manage innovations in their translation training or simply understand their own translation behaviours

Speech and Language Disorders in Bilinguals Alfredo Ardila, Eliane Ramos, 2007 During the last years a significant number of papers books and monographs devoted to speech and language impairments in bilingual children have been published Different aspects and questions have been approached and today we have a relatively good understanding of the specific characteristics of the speech and language difficulties potentially observed in bilingual and multilingual children This interest has been significantly resulted from the potential developmental and educational consequences of bilingualism Our understanding of the communication disorders in adult populations is notoriously more limited even though over 50% of the adult population can speak at least another language in addition to his her native language That simply means that over 50% of the communication disorders observed in adults are bilingual speech and language disorders bilingual aphasia bilingual dementia bilingual stuttering etc This book was written with the specific purpose of filling this gap The major purpose of this book has been to integrate the state of the art on the different aspects of the communication disorders observed in adult bilinguals The book is organised in such a way that an integrated perspective of bilingualism is presented from the normal conditions to the pathology from the clinical descriptions to the rehabilitation issues from the biological factors to the cultural variables

Jesus and Gospel Traditions in Bilingual Context Sang-Il Lee, 2012-04-26 Most historical Jesus and Gospel scholars have supposed three hypotheses of unidirectionality geographically the more Judaeo Palestinian the earlier modally the more oral the earlier and linguistically the more Aramaized the earlier These are based on the chronological assumption of the earlier the more original These four long held hypotheses have been applied as authenticity criteria However this book proposes that linguistic milieu of 1st century Palestine and the Roman Near East were bilingual in Greek and vernacular languages and that the earliest church in Jerusalem was a bilingual Christian community The study of bilingualism blurs the lines between each of the temporal dichotomies The bilingual approach undermines unidirectional assumptions prevalent among Gospels and Acts scholarship with regard to the major issues of source criticism textual criticism form criticism redaction criticism literary criticism the Synoptic Problem the Historical Jesus provenances of the Gospels and Acts the development of Christological titles and the development of early Christianity There is a need for New Testament studies to rethink the major issues from the perspective of the interdirectionality theory based on bilingualism

Modeling Bilingualism Monika S. Schmid, Wander Lowie, 2011-03-14 This volume presents an overview of changes in paradigms perspectives and contexts of research into bilingual development over the past two decades During this time the focus of perspective has changed In the early 1990s most investigations still proceeded from models that assumed modular components hierarchical relationships and linear processes and investigated what were perceived to be the typical contexts of bilingual development sequential usually instructed bilingualism where the second language would remain the weaker one and the speakers investigated were typically young adults More recently it has been proposed that such models may not be complex enough to accommodate bilingual development in all its facets and settings bimodal bilingualism attrition aging This change has recently culminated in applications of chaos theory to Applied Linguistics and in the widening range of situations of language acquisition learning and deterioration which have been investigated

Foreign Language Research in Cross-cultural Perspective Kees De Bot, Ralph B. Ginsberg, Claire J. Kramsch, 1991-01-01 This volume focuses on priorities for research in language pedagogy The aim is to give an up to date

overview of current thinking about important research issues such as the viability of large scale comparisons the quantitative qualitative research controversy new trends in language testing and evaluation and the role of different learning environments In their discussions of these issues researchers from the US and from different countries in Europe show to what extent the priorities differ on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean
