Evolution of Radiation Oncology at Massachusetts General Hospital Herman D. Suit, Jay S. Loeffler, 2011-02-04 The Massachusetts General Hospital MGH has a history of excellence and is internationally recognized as a world class medical center providing quality medical care advancing medicine through clinical and laboratory research and facilitating the education of exceptional health care professionals The Massachusetts General Hospital Radiation Oncology Department staff residents and fellows past and present concur that MGH stands for Man's Greatest Hospital This decidedly immodest assessment is widely viewed amongst this group as being manifestly true and that perception is clearly reflected in a marvelous esprit de corps Such an unequivocally positive attitude is solidly based on the judgment that the best possible care is provided to each MGH patient i.e. the patient is in fact Number One There is a deep sense of pride in the contributions made by this department to the scientific advancement of oncology and to progressively and substantially increasing the proportion of patients who are free of tumor and of treatment related morbidity Evolution of Radiation of Oncology at Massachusetts General Hospital is the work of the former Chair of the Department Herman D Suit From 1970-2000 his guidance and management of this Department brought it to recognition as a world class center Dr Suit was key in the development and building of the Department that now includes The Northeast Proton Therapy Center at the MGH His passion for the science of radiation therapy and its evolving growth through the years is evident in this book He has assembled a fascinating chronicle beginning with the creation of MGH in 1811 followed by personal experiences that culminated with his leadership of the Radiation Oncology Department

Writing and the Digital Generation Heather Urbanski, 2010-03-08 Is it true that in this era of digitization and mass media reading and writing are on the decline In a thought provoking collection of essays and profiles 30 contributors explore what may instead be a rise in rhetorical activity an upsurge due in part to the sudden blurring of the traditional roles of creator and audience in participatory media This collection explores topics too often overlooked by traditional academic scholarship though critical to an exploration of rhetoric and popular culture including fan fiction reality television blogging online role playing games and Fantasy Football Both scholarly and engaging this text draws rhetorical studies into the digital age

Culture of the Internet Sara Kiesler, 2014-02-04 As we begin a new century the astonishing spread of nationally and internationally accessible computer based communication networks has touched the imagination of people everywhere Suddenly the Internet is in everyday parlance featured in talk shows in special business technology sections of major newspapers and on the covers of national magazines If the Internet is a new world of social behavior it is also a new world for those who study social behavior This volume is a compendium of essays and research reports representing how researchers are thinking about the social processes of electronic communication and its effects in society Taken together the chapters comprise a first gathering of social psychological research on electronic communication and the Internet The authors of these chapters work in different disciplines and have different goals research methods and styles For some the emergence and use of new technologies represent a new perspective on social and behavioral processes of longstanding interest in their disciplines Others want to draw on social science theories to understand technology A third group holds to a more activist program seeking guidance through research to improve social interventions using technology in domains such as education mental health and work productivity Each of these goals has influenced the research questions methods and inferences of the authors and the look and feel of the chapters in this book Intended primarily for researchers who seek exposure to diverse approaches to studying the human side of electronic communication and the Internet this volume has three purposes to illustrate how scientists are thinking about the social processes and effects of electronic communication to encourage research based contributions to current debates on electronic communication design applications and policies and to suggest by example how studies of electronic communication can contribute to social science itself
