Jackson II, Elaine B. Richardson, 2014-05-22 This is an extraordinarily well balanced collection of essays focused on varied expressions of African American Rhetoric it also is a critical antidote to a preoccupation with Western Rhetoric as the arbiter of what counts for effective rhetoric Rather than impose Western terminology on African and African American rhetoric the essays in this volume seek to illumine rhetoric from within its own cultural expression thereby creating an understanding grounded in the culture s values The consequence is a richly detailed and well researched set of essays The contribution of African American rhetoric can no longer be rendered invisible through neglect of its tradition The essays in this volume neither seek to displace Western Rhetoric nor function as an uncritical paen to Afrocentricity and Africology This volume is both timely and essential timely in advancing a better understanding of the richly textured history that is expressed through African American discourse and essential as a counterpoint to the hegemonic influence of Greek and Roman rhetoric as the origin of rhetorical theory and practice Written in the spirit of a critical rhetoric this collection eschews traditional focus on public address and instead offers a rich array of texts in musical and other forms that address publics 21st Century Communication: A Reference Handbook William F. Eadie, 2009-05-15 Highlights the most important topics issues questions and debates affecting the field of communication in the 21st Century Expel the Pretender Eve Wiederhold, 2015-04-01

Political fights are not waged over who is speaking the truth but over whether any given claim seems to be authentic. Expel the Pretender: Rhetoric Renounced and the Politics of Style examines how rhetorical style influences judgments about how to communicate integrity and good will. Eve Wiederhold argues that attitudes about style's significance to judgment are both undertheorized and over determined especially when style is regarded as an embellishment rather than as a constitutive aspect of language use. Examining news reports covering controversial speakers including President Bill Clinton, Linda Tripp, and the Rev. Jeremiah Wright, she demonstrates how rhetorical style is both belittled and yet remains a focal point for assessing public figures who have been publicly rebuked and discredited. Expel the Pretender claims style as a conflicted site of materiality, critiquing contemporary rhetorical theories that configure style as a dependable resource for democratic inquiry. Wiederhold argues that conceptions of style's significance to judgment must be reframed to understand how we make decisions about who and what to believe. Whiteness, Pedagogy, Performance Leda M. Cooks, Jennifer S.

Simpson, 2008-03-01. Whiteness, Pedagogy, Performance is unique in bringing together these three important topics in the context of communication teaching and scholarship with an eye toward interdisciplinary perspectives. In fourteen chapters, the leading whiteness scholars in the field of communication analyze the process of teaching and learning and the complicated intersections of whiteness, racial identity, and cross-racial dialogue. Toward these ends, these essays offer a variety of theoretical and practical approaches to the analysis of identity construction, racial privilege, and pedagogies toward equality and social justice. Above all, for teachers, students, and anyone interested in these issues, this book is a challenge to rethink the ways our curricula, texts, disciplinary boundaries, and moreover, how our interactions and performances reinscribe racial privileges. Chapters provide innovative and accessible analyses of teaching and learning that will appeal to students, teachers, administrators, and anyone interested in how race works. Keepin' It Hushed Vorris L. Nunley, 2011-02-14

Examines the barbershop as a rhetorical site in African American culture across genres including fiction, film, poetry, and theater. In Keepin' It Hushed: The Barbershop and African American Hush Harbor Rhetoric, Vorris L. Nunley investigates the role of the hush harbor, a safe place for free expression among African American speakers, as a productive space of rhetorical tradition and knowledge generation. Nunley identifies the barbershop as an important hush harbor for black males in particular and traces the powerful cultural trope and its hidden tradition of African American knowledge through multiple texts. From Dunbar's We Wear the Mask to the recent barbershop movies and the provocative rhetoric of Reverend Jeremiah Wright, Nunley's study touches on a range of time periods and genres. Nunley's introduction connects African American Hush Harbor Rhetoric (AAHHR) to everyday considerations of what may or may not be spoken in public and how African American speakers manage numerous hidden transcripts. In the first three chapters, Nunley charts different iterations of hush harbors and their function in the context of residual and emergent rhetorical traditions. He investigates public sphere theory and its application and misapplication to black civil society and hush harbors and connects AAHHR to the power of the word.

In chapters 4 and 5 Nunley examines the ubiquity of the hush harbor trope in African American culture and considers barbershops as pedagogical sites using literature poetry philosophy and film to make his case In chapter 6 he analyzes the Barbershop movie in detail arguing that the movie s commodified neoliberal version of AAHHR did not represent a hush harbor although that was ostensibly the aim Keepin It Hushed concludes with a presentation of a hush harbor pedagogy in chapter 7 and a distinctive analysis of hush harbor oriented speeches by then Senator Obama and Rev Jeremiah Wright Rhetoricians and readers interested in African American life and culture will appreciate the cogent analysis in Nunley s volume
