Africa's New Oil Celeste Hicks,2015      Africa's New Oil Celeste Hicks,2015-04-09 The development of Africa s oil has greatly accelerated in recent years with some countries looking at the prospect of almost unimaginable flows of money into their national budgets But the story of African oil has usually been associated with conflict corruption and disaster with older producers such as Nigeria having little to show for the many billions of dollars they ve earned In this eye opening book former BBC correspondent Celeste Hicks questions the inevitability of the so called resource curse revealing what the discovery of oil means for ordinary Africans and how China s involvement could mean a profound change in Africa s relationship with the West A much needed account of an issue that will likely transform the fortunes of a number of African countries for better or for worse      The Rise of China and India in Africa Fantu Cheru,Cyril Obi,2010-03-11 In recent years China and India have become the most important economic partners of Africa and their footprints are growing by leaps and bounds transforming Africa s international relations in a dramatic way Although the overall impact of China and India s engagement in Africa has been positive in the short term partly as a result of higher returns from commodity exports fuelled by excessive demands from both countries little research exists on the actual impact of China and India s growing involvement on Africa s economic transformation This book examines in detail the opportunities and challenges posed by the increasing presence of China and India in Africa and proposes critical interventions that African governments must undertake in order to negotiate with China and India from a stronger and more informed platform      Africa Analysis ,1993 A fortnightly bulletin on financial and political trends      Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1989-01      The Spectator ,1975      The Trial of Hissène Habré Celeste Hicks,2018-04-15 When Hiss ne Habr the deposed dictator of Chad was found guilty of crimes against humanity in 2016 it was described as a watershed for human rights justice in Africa and beyond For the first time an African war criminal had been convicted on African soil Having followed the trial from the very beginning and interviewed many of those involved journalist Celeste Hicks tells the remarkable story of how Habr was brought to justice His conviction followed a heroic 25 year campaign by activists and survivors of Habr s atrocities which succeeded despite international indifference opposition from Habr s allies and several failed attempts to bring him to trial in Europe and elsewhere In the face of such overwhelming odds the conviction of a once untouchable tyrant represents a major turning point with profound implications for African justice and the future of human rights activism globally      Billions at Play NJ Ayuk,2020-12-15 Wall Street Journal Best Selling Book Two decades of negotiating African oil and gas deals have given NJ Ayuk a grasp of the continent s energy landscape that few can match The American educated African energy lawyer serves up generous doses of that insight in his second book Billions at Play The Future of Africa Energy and Doing Deals Serving as a road map for the continent to do a better job of using its vast energy resources to improve its peoples lives Ayuk addresses how African countries can use their energy industries as springboards for diversifying and growing their overall economies In addition Ayuk shows how African governments and local companies can negotiate better deals with international energy companies and how the continent's countries can use marginal oil and gas fields to develop domestic energy industries that once strong will compete globally Questions posed and answered Why Africa's fledgling natural gas resources can allow the continent to emerge as a key global player in the industry What changes African countries can make in order to become attractive investment destinations The role that access to reliable sustainable and affordable power can play in the acceleration of economic growth Why and how American energy companies should stop curtailing their investments in Africa And why the continent's energy industry needs more women The book's underlying theme is that too often natural resources create wealth for foreign investors and a select group of African elites while everyday people and in turn African economies fail to benefit While it is easy to see that there is a lack of local participation in African projects and an ongoing challenge in securing necessary investment we also need to understand our role in this We have to understand the importance of creating enabling environments with attractive fiscal terms for local and foreign investors the role of stronger local content policies in ensuring more local participation in the sector and the weight government and political uncertainty carries in moving projects forward It's up to Africans to fix Africa writes Ayuk This statement can be considered a living theme throughout the book as he encourages that local companies and governments have to enter into collaborative agreements rather than passive engagements with IOCs and majors We need investors who show that they want to fully participate with us by coming in and building long term sustainable businesses that last and make a profit create jobs and further development If you're ready to dive headfirst into accessing a frank analysis and examination of the African energy landscape and how Africans can begin to fix Africa jump into the pages of Billions at Play I agree with the points made and with Ayuk's case for the critical role that OPEC will play in helping African oil products achieve a much deserved voice in the petroleum industry OPEC Secretary General H E Mohammad Sanusi Barkindo

Africa's New Energy Producers Jennifer G. Cooke, David L. Goldwyn, 2015-02-05 Sub Saharan Africa is on the verge of an energy boom New discoveries off the East and West coasts have raised hopes of significant revenues that can accelerate poverty reduction and enhance Africa's status as a destination for industrial investment The question that African governments citizens and international partners confront is whether this time will or can be different Can the harsh lessons offered by Africa's more established producers and the continent's previous energy booms be learned

Untapped John Ghazvinian, 2009-09 Africa a region long known to be rich in oil is the scene of a competition between major powers that recalls the 19th century scramble for colonization there But what does this new oil boom mean for America for the world for Africans themselves To find out John Ghazvinian traveled through twelve African countries from Sudan to Congo to Angola talking to warlords industry executives bandits activists priests missionaries oil rig workers scientists and ordinary people whose lives have been transformed by the riches beneath their feet The result is a high octane narrative that reveals the reasons for despair and reasons for hope emerging from the world's newest energy hot spot      Africa's New Energy Producers Jennifer G. Cooke, David L.
