Agape Chapter One The Triangle:

AGAPE-Chapter One Darryl L. Montague, 2006-04-01 AGAPE Chapter One The Triangle is a compelling story of love. The characters of this story portray dimensions of love that every reader has experienced at one time during their lives. You will empathize with every character as this story gives you a feeling of connection. AGAPE Chapter One The Triangle taps at the center of the heart where it means to have unconditional love. The realism of each character learns the hard lesson of forgiveness after succumbing to love hurt and abandonment. Serena was disappointed with love and dared to try love again. She now faces the question to whether it was worth the risk to give her heart to another man. Robert loved unconditionally and without any choice of his own the love was taken away. Will he truly ever love the same again? Tiffany loved deeply but due to circumstance out of her control had to walk away from the one person who meant everything to her. Diamond, the oldest sister of Jade, portrays a sibling love to protect her youngest sister from family secrets. Jade, who was shielded from love, has to make a choice to forgive the people who tried to protect her from the truth about the identity. At 80,000 words, AGAPE Chapter One the Triangle is a quick and easy read that lures the reader into an authentic relationship with each character. Without a full warning of the addiction of this book, the reader is captured by sequential events of friendship, heartache, disappointment, excitement, and chaos. This is the first of a three-part series, whereas chapter one primarily introduces the characters of the book and the drama that is and has taken place in their lives. When the mood of honest love and romance is shadowed over with novels written more about erotica and fantasy, AGAPE Chapter One The Triangle reintroduces honest relationships into the hearts of people through a socially responsible drama that symbolizes love is more than hot sex. The motive behind this series is to provide a compelling story line with crisp characters that are believable and can be identified by all readers.
