Historical Truth in Fifteenth-Century Italy Giuliano Mori,2024-01-22 While humanists agreed on identifying the main requirement of the historical genre with truthfulness they disagreed on their notions of historical truth Some authors equated historical truth with verisimilitude thus harmonizing the quest for truth with other ingredients of their histories such as their political utility and rhetorical aptness Others instead rejected the notion of verisimilitude identifying historical truth with factuality Accordingly they sought to produce bare and exhaustive accounts of all the things that pertained to their historical explorations often resorting to innovative disciplines such as archeology philology and the history of institutions The humanist historiographical debate is especially significant because the notion of verisimilitude encompassed crucial elements required for the development of methods of critical assessment By perceiving verisimilitude and factuality as irreconcilable Quattrocento humanists reached a critical impasse those who were interested in factual truth mostly lacked the means to ascertain it while those that developed embryonic notions of historical criticism were not eminently concerned with the factual account of the past This critical weakness exposed humanists to considerable risks including that of accepting non verisimilar historical forgeries passed off as factual Such forgeries eventually served as a testing ground for sixteenth and seventeenth century scholars who sought to restore factual truth by means of critical criteria grounded in verisimilitude thus overcoming the humanist impasse Historical Truth in Fifteenth Century Italy addresses Renaissance history philosophy rhetoric and jurisprudence to shed light on how humanists conceptualized truth and more specifically historical truth

The Renaissance and the Ottoman World Anna Contadini, 2016-12-05 This volume brings together some of the latest research on the cultural intellectual and commercial interactions during the Renaissance between Western Europe and the Middle East with particular reference to the Ottoman Empire Recent scholarship has brought to the fore the economic political cultural and personal interactions between Western European Christian states and the Eastern Mediterranean Islamic states and has therefore highlighted the incongruity of conceiving of an iron curtain bisecting the mentalities of the various socio political and religious communities located in the same Euro Mediterranean space Instead the emphasis here is on interpreting the Mediterranean as a world traversed by trade routes and associated cultural and intellectual networks through which ideas people and goods regularly travelled The fourteen articles in this volume contribute to an exciting cross cultural and inter disciplinary scholarly dialogue that explores elements of continuity and exchange between the two areas and positions the Ottoman Empire as an integral element of the geo political and cultural continuum within which the Renaissance evolved The aim of this volume is to refine current understandings of the diverse artistic intellectual and political interactions in the early modern Mediterranean world and in doing so to contribute further to the discussion of the scope and nature of the Renaissance The articles from major scholars of the field include discussions of commercial contacts the exchange of technological cartographical philosophical and scientific knowledge the role of Venice in transmitting the culture of the Islamic East Mediterranean to Western Europe the use of Middle Eastern objects in the Western European Renaissance shared sources of inspiration in Italian and Ottoman architecture musical exchanges and the use of East Mediterranean sources in Western scholarship and European sources in Ottoman scholarship

Angels of Light? Sanctity and the Discernment of Spirits in the Early Modern Period Clare Copeland, Johannes Machielsen, 2012-11-23 And no marvel for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light 2 Corinthians 11 14 Paul s warning of false apostles and false righteousness struck a special chord in the period of the European Reformations At no other time was the need for the discernment of spirits felt as strongly as in this newly confessional age More than ever the ability to discern was a mark of holiness and failure the product of demonic temptation The contributions to this volume chart individual responses to a problem at the heart of religious identity They show that the problem of discernment was not solely a Catholic concern and was an issue for authors and artists as much as for prophets and visionaries
