Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the performance of a group of 10 male and 10 female subjects. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a training group. The training group received a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week. The control group did not receive any training. The subjects were tested at the beginning and end of the 12-week period. The results showed that the training group had significantly better performance than the control group at the end of the 12-week period.
