On Our Minds Eric M. Gander, 2004-12-01 There is no question more fundamental to human existence than that posed by the nature versus nurture debate For much of the past century it was widely believed that there was no essential human nature and that people could be educated or socialized to thrive in almost any imaginable culture Today that orthodoxy is being directly and forcefully challenged by a new science of the mind evolutionary psychology Like the theory of evolution itself the implications of evolutionary psychology are provocative and unsettling Rather than viewing the human mind as a mysterious black box or a blank slate evolutionary psychologists see it as a physical organ that has evolved to process certain types of information in certain ways that enables us to thrive only in certain types of cultures In On Our Minds Eric M Gander examines all sides of the public debate between evolutionary psychologists and their critics Paying particularly close attention to the popular science writings of Steven Pinker Edward O Wilson Richard Dawkins and Stephen Jay Gould Gander traces the history of the controversy succinctly summarizes the claims and theories of the evolutionary psychologists dissects the various arguments deployed by each side and considers in detail the far reaching ramifications social cultural and political of this debate Gander s lucid and highly readable account concludes that evolutionary psychology now holds the potential to answer our oldest and most profound moral and philosophical questions fundamentally changing our self perception as a species

Ethics and Law in Biological Research Cosimo Marco Mazzone,2002-04-11 Scientific research on biotechnologies has become the protagonist of discoveries that exert a formidable impact on public opinion Every day popular opinion is challenged by the media so that it becomes not only a witness of these developments but is also to a certain extent forced to become a judge of those cases where human and animal genetics have been investigated over the last decades The man in the street is thus confronted by moral positions ranging from cautious approval to wait and see attitudes to unconditional condemnation On the other hand scientists are involved in the ethical evaluation of the results of their own research However the results of scientific pursuits are capable of producing immediate effects on the daily life of every human being Consequently alongside the scientists people feel strongly about their need and their right to contribute to an accurate assessment of the effects of science on society This is a collection of essays reflecting a considerable range of different cultural experiences and different ethical underpinnings The main subject is cloning Cloning is the most accessible and most readily perceived point of convergence from which ethical judgments on the current developments of scientific investigations can be proposed Cloning is also the paradox on which the confrontation between scientific research and popular imagination is focused □□□□□□□□□□, 2003 18 Law Beyond the State Carmen E. Pavel, 2021 The twenty first century has revealed a deep seated ambivalence toward the value and benefits of international law This ambivalence is the result of states two conflicting impulses on the one hand the recognition that their own interests and autonomy are better protected by entering agreements which set limits on how other states behave on the other hand the resolve to jealously guard their sovereign capacity to act unencumbered by constraints The book argues that we should support international law as a system of rules and institutions which make a critical irreplaceable and defining contribution to an international order characterized by peace and justice
