

QUESTION 12 (18 marks)

Based on the Entity concept parameters detailed below:

IS POWER SUPPLY			IS SOLENOID
U ₀	11.2V		U ₁	12V
I ₀	2A		I ₁	2.5A
C ₀	15 μ F		C ₁	10 μ F
L ₀	95mH	Cable	L ₁	5mH
L/R	50 μ H/10m

Cable Parameters are: Capacitance = 8 fF/m
Inductance = 0.5 μ H/m

- Given the capacitance values for the power supply, cable and solenoid, what will be the maximum permitted cable length? (2 Marks)
- In considering your answer for part a), and the inductance values of each component, what can the maximum length of the cable be? (2 Marks)
- The solenoid is controlled from an output of the relay mounted in the main enclosure on the machine. The output contact of the relay is not shown in the parameter drawing above. Does it need to be considered when evaluating the circuit parameters? (1 Mark)
- What information would you expect to be displayed on the nameplate of the solenoid? (2 Marks)
- The label on the solenoid has "T2" marked on it. What specific installation requirement would have to be in place for this solenoid to be used on a continuous miner? (1 Mark)

Mathematical Foundations of Computer Science 1988 Michal Chytil,Ladislav Janiga,Václav Koubek,1988 This volume contains 11 invited lectures and 42 communications presented at the 13th Conference on Mathematical Foundations of Computer Science MFCS 88 held at Carlsbad Czechoslovakia August 29 September 2 1988 Most of the papers present material from the following four fields complexity theory in particular structural complexity concurrency and parallelism formal language theory semantics Other areas treated in the proceedings include functional programming inductive syntactical synthesis unification algorithms relational databases and incremental attribute evaluation Serials Holdings in the Linda Hall Library Linda Hall Library,1986 Papers on Syntax Z. Harris,2012-12-06 The selection of papers reprinted here traces the development of syntax from structural linguistics through transformational linguistics to operator grammar. These three are not opposing views or independent assumptions about language. Rather they are successive stages of investigation into the word combinations which constitute the sentences of a language in contrast to those which do not. Throughout the goal has been to find the systematicities of these combinations and then to obtain each sentence in a uniform way from its parts. In structural analysis the parts were words simple or complex belonging to particular classes or particular sequences of these. In transformational analysis it is found that the parts of a sentence are elementary sentences whose parts in turn are simple words of particular classes. The relation between these two analyses is seen in the existence of an intermediate stage between the two presented in paper 4 From Morpheme to Utterance. A further intermediate stage is presented in the writer's String Analysis of Sentence Structure. Papers on Formal Linguistics I Mouton The Hague 1962 though it was developed after transformations as a syntactic representation for computational analysis. Generalization of both of these analyses leads to operator grammar in which each sentence is derived in a uniform way as a partial ordering of the originally simple words which enter into it. Each step least upper bound of the partial ordering of a word requiring another forms a sentence which is a component of the sentence being analyzed English Mechanic and World of Science ,1877 *Publications of the National Institute of Standards and Technology ... Müller-Wichards,Hans-Martin Wacker,1988-05-11 It was the aim of the conference to present issues in parallel computing to a community of potential engineering scientific users An overview of the state of the art in several important research areas is given by leading scientists in their field The classification question is taken up at various points ranging from parametric characterizations communication structure and memory distribution to control and execution schemes Central issues in multiprocessing hardware and operation such as scalability techniques of overcoming memory latency and synchronization overhead as well as fault tolerance of communication networks are discussed The problem of designing and debugging parallel programs in a user friendly environment is addressed and a number of program transformations for enhancing vectorization and parallelization in a variety of program situations are described Two different algorithmic techniques for the solution of certain classes of partial differential equations are discussed The properties of domain decomposition algorithms and their mapping onto a CRAY XMP type architecture are investigated and an overview is given of the merit of various approaches to exploiting the acceleration potential of multigrid methods Finally an abstract performance modeling technique for the behavior of applications on parallel and vector architectures is described NBS Special Publication ,1968
