Bernthal, 2016-09-02 This book is the first fully theorized queer reading of a Golden Age British crime writer Agatha Christie. She was the most commercially successful novelist of the twentieth century, and her fiction remains popular. She created such memorable characters as Hercule Poirot and Jane Marple and has become synonymous with a nostalgic conservative tradition of crime fiction. J.C. Bernthal reads Christie through the lens of queer theory, uncovering a playful, alert, and subversive social commentary. After considering Christie's emergence in a commercial market hostile to her sex in Queering Agatha Christie, Bernthal explores homophobic stereotypes, gender performativity, queer children, and masquerade in key texts published between 1920 and 1952. Christie engaged with debates around human identity in a unique historical period affected by two world wars. The final chapter considers twenty-first century Poirot and Marple adaptations with visible LGBT characters and poses the question: might the books be queerer? VII, Vol. 2 Antonis Kotsonas, 2024-02-15 New insights from the archaeology and pottery of the sanctuary of Hermes and Aphrodite at Syme Viannou, Crete. The Sanctuary of Hermes and Aphrodite at Syme Viannou VII. The Greek and Roman Pottery presents in two volumes the Greek and Roman pottery recovered from the excavation of the sanctuary of Syme Viannou, one of the most long-lived and important cult sites of ancient Crete and the Aegean. The site, which is known as the Cretan Delphi, was dedicated to Hermes and Aphrodite for much of its history. The present study analyzes and catalogs 865 pieces dating from across the early first millennium BCE to the mid first millennium CE. Kotsonas integrates traditional typological and chronological inquiries with contextual considerations, macroscopic and petrographic analyses of ceramic fabrics, and quantitative studies. The resulting work provides detailed documentation of the pottery from Syme Viannou and explores its ritual and other roles within the diachronic panorama of cultic and other activities at the site. It also supports a broader understanding of the role of ceramics in sanctuary contexts by introducing systematically comparative perspectives on the evidence of pottery from other Cretan and Greek sanctuaries. Volume 2 presents synthetic studies of the material, exploring the use of different ceramic fabrics, the relationship between the form and function of the vessels, and the place of ceramic items in the cultic practice and daily life at the sanctuary in Greek and Roman antiquity. The Getaway Guide to

Harmon compares the episodes that constitute the British TV series Agatha Christie's Poirot with David Suchet with their

The Rhetoric of Topics and Forms Gianna Zocco, 2021-01-18 The fourth volume of the collected papers of the ICLA congress The Many Languages of Comparative Literature includes articles that study thematic and formal elements of literary texts Although the question of prioritizing either the level of content or that of form has often provoked controversies most contributions here treat them as internally connected While theoretical considerations inform many of the readings the main interest of most articles can be described as rhetorical in the widest sense given that the ancient discipline of rhetoric did not only include the study of rhetorical figures and tropes such as metaphor irony or satire but also that of topoi which were originally viewed as the places where certain arguments could be found but later came to represent the arguments or intellectual themes themselves Another feature shared by most of the articles is the tendency of undeclared thematology which not only reflects the persistence of the charge of positivism but also shows that most scholars prefer to locate themselves within more specific often interdisciplinary fields of literary study In this sense this volume does not only prove the ongoing relevance of traditional fields such as rhetoric and thematology but provides contributions to currently flourishing research areas among them literary multilingualism literature and emotions and ecocriticism
