Aggravating Ladies Ralph Thomas, 1880 Aggravating Ladies Ralph Thomas, 2017-10-15 Excerpt from Aggravating Ladies Being a List of Works Published Under the Pseudonym of a Lady IN the course Of collecting materials for my Handbook Of Fictitious Names Of Authors Of the Nineteenth Century I came across the titles of a number Of works purporting to be written by A Lady the authorship Of which appeared to be unknown It occurred to me that I might probably ascertain the names Of many Of the authors and also proper descriptions Of such Of the books as I had not seen and was unable to see if I printed a list Of them As however the essen tial points to be attended to in the proper description Of a book are little understood I thought it would be desir able to prefix to the list a few suggestions on the way to supply correct information These gradually developed SO that I soon found the subject required more space more time and more consideration than I at first imagined In the hope that I might Obtain assistance from others and with a view to getting hints and exciting discussion I wrote an article for Notes and Queries which was printed in the numbers for January and April Of 1872 entitled How to describe a Book I now go more fully into the matters that I consider require attention in the proper description Of a book An explanation Of the title Of this essay will no doubt be looked for in the preface It is very simple In my searches for the Authors names the ladies in this list have resisted all enquiry in the most aggravating manner Therefore I took the title Of Aggravating Ladies as being concise and appropriate About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The English Catalogue of Books Published from January, 1835, to January, 1863, 1864 Publishers' circular and booksellers' record, 1886 The International Directory of Booksellers and Bibliophile's Manual James Clegg, 1899

Gender and the Journal Cinthia Gannett, 1992-02-06 This book explores the gendered historical and social contexts and discursive traditions that have characterized journals and diaries in academic discourse The tension between the term journal which has a variety of positive public and scholarly connotations and the term diary which is currently understood as a feminized trivial and confessional kind of writing inappropriate for school is a critical part of the problem This book uses the developing and shifting notions of diary and journal to explore several critical questions about the larger relations between gender language canonicity and academic discourse Chambers's Encyclopaedia, 1888 Catalogue of Periodical Literature, Journals and Transactions of Learned Societies, Issues from Government and Private Presses, Collections Bernard Quaritch, 1882 The Manuscript Inventories and the Catalogs of Manuscripts, Books, and
