Africa's Green Revolution William G. Moseley, Matthew A. Schnurr, Rachel Bezner-Kerr, 2017-10-02 This volume examines the dominant neoliberal agenda for agricultural development and hunger alleviation in Africa The text reviews the history of African agricultural and food security policy in the post colonial period across a range of geographical contexts in order to contextualise the productionist approach embedded in the much heralded New Green Revolution for Africa This strategy supported by a range of international agencies promotes the use of hybrid seeds fertilisers and pesticides to boost crop production This approach is underpinned by a new and unprecedented level of public private partnerships as donors actively work to promote the private sector and build links between African farmers input suppliers agro dealers agro processors and retailers On the consumer end increased supermarket penetration into poorer neighbourhoods is proffered as a solution to urban food insecurity The chapters in this volume complicate understandings of this new approach and raise serious questions about its effectiveness as a strategy for increasing food production and alleviating poverty across the continent This book is based on a special issue of African Geographical Review

Culture History and Convergent Evolution Huw S. Groucutt, 2020-07-23 This volume brings together diverse contributions from leading archaeologists and paleoanthropologists covering various spatial and temporal periods to distinguish convergent evolution from cultural transmission in order to see if we can discover ancient human populations With a focus on lithic technology the book analyzes ancient materials and cultures to systematically explore the theoretical and physical aspects of culture convergence and populations in human evolution and prehistory The book will be of interest to academics students and researchers in archaeology paleoanthropology genetics and paleontology The book begins by addressing early prehistory discussing the convergent evolution of behaviors and the diverse ecological conditions driving the success of different evolutionary paths Chapters discuss these topics and technology in the context of the Lower Paleolithic Earlier Stone age and Middle Paleolithic Middle Stone Age The book then moves towards a focus on the prehistory of our species over the last 40 000 years Topics covered include the human evolutionary and dispersal consequences of the Middle Upper Paleolithic Transition in Western Eurasia Readers will also learn about the cultural convergences and divergences that occurred during the Terminal Pleistocene and Holocene such as the budding of human societies in the Americas The book concludes by integrating these various perspectives and theories and explores different methods of analysis to link technological developments and cultural convergence

African Farmers, Value Chains and Agricultural Development Alan de Brauw, Erwin Bulte, 2021-11-02 This book provides a thorough introduction to and examination of agricultural value chains in Sub Saharan Africa First the authors introduce the economic theory of agri food value chains and value chain governance focusing on domestic and regional trade in and consumption of food crops in a low income country context In addition to mainstream and heterodox thinking about value chain development the book pays attention to political economy considerations The book also reviews the empirical evidence on value chain development and performance in Africa It adopts multiple lenses to examine agricultural value chains zooming out from the micro level e g relational contracting in a context of market imperfections to the meso level e g distributional implications of various value chain interventions inclusion of specific social groups and the macro level underlying income population and urbanization trends volumes and prices etc Furthermore this book places value chain development in the context of a process the authors refer to as structural transformation 2 0 which refers to a process where production factors labor land and capital move from low productivity agriculture to high productivity agriculture Finally throughout the book the authors interpret the evidence in light of three important debates i how competitive are rural factor and product markets and what does this imply for distribution and innovation ii what role do foreign investment and factor proportions play in the development of agri food value chains in Africa iii what complementary government policies can help facilitate a process of agricultural value chain transformation towards high productive activities and enhancing the capacity of value chains to generate employment opportunities and food security for a growing population
