Agricultural Biotechnology and Transatlantic Trade Grant Isaac, 2002-02-21 Genetically modified GM agricultural crops which are approved as safe in North America Canada and the United States are facing significant regulatory hurdles in gaining access to the European Union The development and commercialization of GM crops illustrate a complex challenge facing trade diplomacy the challenge of regulatory regionalism created by social regulatory barriers Regulating Agricultural Biotechnology Richard E. Just, Julian M. Alston, David Zilberman, 2006-12-26 This book presents the first thorough economic analysis of current agricultural biotechnology regulation The contributors most of whom are agricultural economists working either in universities or NGOs address issues such as commercial pesticides the costs of approving new products liability benefits consumer acceptance regulation and its impacts transgenic crops social welfare implications and biosafety Transatlantic Environment and Energy Politics Stacy D VanDeveer, Mr Henrik Selin, Professor Miranda A Schreurs, 2013-03-28 Environmental and energy policies have become increasingly significant in European and North American politics This fascinating book uses a wide range of case studies that embrace climate change product standards chemical regulations renewable energy policies food safety and genetically modified organisms to examine areas of conflict and cooperation in the transatlantic relationship While there are many areas where the European Union and the United States are following divergent policy paths there are also many signs that a more cooperative transatlantic relationship could emerge in the future Transatlantic Environment and Energy Politics is highly relevant to understanding how the European Union and North America can cooperate more effectively in meeting today's many global environmental and energy policy challenges It is essential reading for all advanced students and scholars An Analysis of Trade Related International Regulations of Genetically Modified Food and their Effects on Developing Countries Guillaume P. Gruère, Conflict, Chaos and Confusion William A. Kerr, 2010-01-01 The Estey Centre Journal of International Law and Trade Policy has become required reading among trade policy specialists not least for Bill Kerr's Editor's Pages essay in each volume Kerr has the ability in a dozen pages to engage inform and entertain the reader with his careful scholarship interesting choice of topic and highly readable style Kerr sets the tone for the volume and whets the appetite for the other articles Over the ten years of the Estey Journal's life Kerr's pages have drawn our attention to a range of trade law topics from the golf club like voting rules of the WTO to the delights of sipping incorrectly labeled port The decision to bring these twenty short papers together in a volume was inspired Students and teachers will benefit from the convenience of the collection as source material for classes on trade law and policy But above all scholars in the fascinating area of the interplay of economics and law in multilateral trade institutions will have the wisdom of Bill Kerr readily to hand Handbook on Agriculture, Biotechnology and Development Stuart J. Smyth, Peter W.B. Phillips, David Castle, 2014-03-28 This book is a compendium of knowledge experience and insight on agriculture biotechnology and development Beginning with an account of GM crop adoptions and attitudes towards them the book assesses numerous crucial processes concluding with detail

Sugar and Related Sweetener Markets Andrew Schmitz, 2002 Sugar is a major crop for many less developed countries but major barriers exist to its international trade Both the EU and US distort the world sugar market through various internal policies With the growth in production of other sweeteners such as high fructose corn syrup the controversy surrounding international sweetener markets has further increased This book addresses these issues and reviews world sweetener markets with particular chapters devoted to important players such as the US and EU as well as other producers such as Australia Brazil Cuba Eastern Europe and India Topics such as international trade negotiations trade liberalization US policy reform and regional integration in Latin America and the Caribbean are also addressed

Emerging Technologies Edna F. Einsiedel, 2009-07-01 How should we think about these radical technologies Too often our social reactions to new technologies occur only in hindsight after a technology has penetrated the marketplace However recent experience teaches that much may be gained by practising forethought and foresight Emerging Technologies addresses the ethical legal and social dimensions of emerging technologies and assesses their social and policy implications Contributors examine the development impact and governance of new technologies emerging from a variety of fields including biotechnology genetics stem cell research pharmacology and nanotechnology

Socio-Economic Considerations in Biotechnology Regulation Karinne Ludlow, Stuart J. Smyth, José Falck-Zepeda, 2013-12-03 Within the context of the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD the Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety CPB was established as an implementing agreement The CPB is an international agreement establishing the rights of recipient countries to be notified of and to approve or reject the domestic import and or production of living modified organisms LMOs Decisions regarding import production are to be on the basis of a biosafety assessment Article 26 1 of the CPB allows for the optional inclusion of socio economic considerations SECs into that biosafety assessment process This book compiles expert assessments of the issues relevant to SEC assessment of LMOs and fundamental for decisions regarding whether to undertake such assessments at all It includes an overview of the inclusion of SEC assessment in the regulation of LMOs that looks at the rationale for the inclusion of SECs in the context of the existing science based risk assessment systems This book reviews the various factors that can and have been suggested for inclusion in SEC assessment and provides a meaningful dialogue about the contrasts benefits and tradeoffs that are and will be created by the potential move to the inclusion of SECs in the regulation of LMOs making it of interest to both academics and policy makers

Banana Wars Timothy Edward Josling, T. Geoffrey Taylor, 2003-03-12 In 2001 the EU and US announced the end of a trade dispute over the sale of bananas into the EU market The allocation of import licences had been found to violate World Trade Organization rules and to discriminate against suppliers from Latin America This book examines the issues surrounding the dispute in particular the dependence of small Caribbean economies on European Banana Markets the role of the private sector in influencing public policy the relation between the banana trade and the political tensions of the EU

Common Agricultural Policy the domestic political influence of banana companies in the US and the role of the WTO and its settlement of trade disputes      Biotechnology Regulation and Trade Stuart J. Smyth, William A. Kerr, Peter W. B Phillips, 2017-03-02 This book discusses the regulatory and trade challenges facing the global adoption of biotechnological products and offers strategies for overcoming these obstacles and moving towards greater global food security The first section of the book establishes the context of the conflict discussing the challenges of global governance international trade and the history of regulation of genetically modified GM crops In this section the authors emphasize the shift from exclusively science based regulation to the more socio economically focused framework established by the Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety which was adopted in 2000 The second section of the book provides a snapshot of the current state of international GM crop adoption and regulation highlighting the US Canada and the EU The final section of the book identifies options for breaking the gridlock of regulation and trade that presently exist This book adds to the current literature by providing new information about innovative agricultural technologies and encouraging debate by providing an alternative to the narratives espoused by environmental non governmental organizations This book will appeal to students of economics political science and policy analysis as well as members of regulatory agencies and agricultural industry firms      Agriculture and International Trade Michael Cardwell, Margaret R. Grossman, C. P. Rodgers, 2003 The World Trade Organization WTO Agreement on Agriculture has had a fundamental impact on agricultural policy worldwide The new WTO agreements will cover agriculture sanitary and phytosanitary measures technical barriers to trade and trade in intellectual property rights This book addresses the interface between the law of international agricultural trade the emerging legal and economic order for agricultural trade under the auspices of the WTO and its impact on agricultural policy reform both in the European Union and the USA With contributions from leading authorities in the appropriate areas      Genetically Engineered Crops Iain Taylor, 2007-03-08 Take a closer look at the questions surrounding the long term impact of GE crops Genetically Engineered Crops examines current controversies surrounding the potential health environmental and social impacts of plants produced using molecular biology techniques Educators professionals and practitioners representing a wide range of di      Public Concerns, Environmental Standards and Agricultural Trade Floor Brouwer, David E. Ervin, 2002-01-01 This title reviews the issues relating to agricultural trade and competition Features include chapters on world trade and trade liberalization as well as chapters on the situation in the European Union USA Canada Australia and developing countries      Labeling Policies and International Trade of Genetically Modified Food Guillaume Pierre Adrien Gruere, 2005      Regulating the Liabilities of Agricultural Biotechnology Stuart Smyth, 2004 This book examines how government industry and society interact to reach a level of regulation that is deemed satisfactory for the newly emerged transformative technology that is agricultural biotechnology It considers issues of risk and trust surrounding genetically modified plants for the production of food and pharmaceuticals It describes how regulations have been produced to manage or in some cases ignore the risks from GM products The scope is international and the book makes a significant contribution to the literature in this growing field of interest What's the Beef? Christopher K. Ansell, David Vogel, 2006 Examines European food safety regulation at the national European and international levels as a case of contested governance illustrating issues of institutional trust and legitimacy Economic and Social Issues in Agricultural Biotechnology Robert E. Evenson, V. Santaniello, David Zilberman, 2002-07-01 There are currently many controversial socioeconomic issues concerned with the development and implementation of agricultural biotechnology This book presents selected revised and edited papers from the fourth and fifth meetings of the International Consortium on Agricultural Biotechnology Research held in Italy in 2000 and 2001

International Environmental Liability and Barriers to Trade Kareen L. Holtby, William Alexander Kerr, Jill E. Hobbs, 2007 Trade and the environment has become a major issue in international relations yet the surrounding debate remains polarised and hostile This book answers the question Can an international liability regime facilitate international trade while fostering environmental sustainability On the one hand the authors argue international trade is perceived as a major threat to environmental sustainability whilst on the other trade and the economic development arising from it is seen as the prerequisite to stronger environmental protection Nowhere is the debate more acrimonious than over trade in genetically modified organisms The Biosafety Protocol has been negotiated to govern trade in genetically modified products and includes provisions for an international liability regime to facilitate trade a subject that has been little studied This valuable study explores the role design and potential effectiveness of such a regulating body and addresses questions such as what are the options for an international environmental liability regime Why are some options unworkable Is there a set of options that will achieve the dual goals of trade facilitation and environmental protection Is international liability the best option for defusing the trade and environment debate This illuminating book will be an essential read for scholars and students senior undergraduate as well as postgraduate of international trade policy environmental economics international politics and international law Individuals working in international organizations those employed by environmental NGOs and government policy makers will also find much to engage them within this book Genetically Modified Foods Salah E. O. Mahgoub, 2016-04-19 An increasingly hot button issue genetically modified GM food is considered by some as the best way to feed the world's growing population and by others as an experiment gone wrong on the unsuspecting public Genetically Modified Foods Basics Applications and Controversy details the basics of biotechnology and its applications in the laborat
