Aharon Appelfeld's Fiction Emily Miller Budick, 2005-01-17 How can a fictional text adequately or meaningfully represent the events of the Holocaust Drawing on philosopher Stanley Cavell's ideas about acknowledgment as a respectful attentiveness to the world Emily Miller Budick develops a penetrating philosophical analysis of major works by internationally prominent Israeli writer Aharon Appelfeld Through sensitive discussions of the novels Badenheim 1939 The Iron Tracks The Age of Wonders and Tzili and the autobiographical work The Story of My Life Budick reveals the compelling art with which Appelfeld renders the sights sensations and experiences of European Jewish life preceding during and after the Second World War She argues that it is through acknowledging the incompleteness of our knowledge and understanding of the catastrophe that Appelfeld's fiction produces not only its stunning aesthetic power but its affirmation and faith in both the human and the divine This beautifully written book provides a moving introduction to the work of an important and powerful writer and an enlightening meditation on how fictional texts deepen our understanding of historical events Jewish Literature and Culture Alvin H Rosenfeld editor

The Story of a Life Aharon Appelfeld, 2024-08-15 An astonishing memoir of the Holocaust through the eyes of a child and an exquisite meditation on memory and trauma Aharon Appelfeld was the beloved only child of middle class Jewish parents living in what is now Ukraine at the outbreak of World War Two Their peaceful life is upended when soldiers invade their town His mother is shot dead in her own garden The then seven year old Aharon does not witness her murder but he does hear her scream Aharon and his father are sent to a concentration camp and separated Memory and trauma combine to create a patchwork of reminiscences Aharon is ten years old when he escapes from the camp into the forests of Ukraine and is overwhelmed by the sight of an apple tree laden with fruit Living off the land for two years before making the long journey south to Italy and eventually Israel and freedom Appelfeld finally found a home in which he could make a life for himself eventually becoming one of Israel's most acclaimed writers This is the extraordinary and painful memoir of his childhood and youth and a compelling account of a boy coming of age in a hostile world only in the words but also in the silences between them Suddenly, Love Aharon Appelfeld, 2014-05-06 Aharon Appelfeld is one of the subtlest most unorthodox and most exactly perceptive novelists to make the memory of the Holocaust his abiding project Philip Gourevitch The New Yorker A lonely older man and his devoted young caretaker transform each other's lives in ways they could never have imagined Ernst is a gruff seventy year old Red Army veteran from Ukraine who landed almost by accident in Israel after World War II A retired investment adviser he lives alone his first wife and baby daughter were killed by the Nazis he divorced his shrewish second wife and spends his time laboring over his unpublished novels Irena in her mid thirties is the unmarried daughter of Holocaust survivors who has been taking care of Ernst since his surgery two years earlier she arrives every morning promptly at eight and usually leaves every afternoon at three Quiet and shy Irena is in awe of Ernst's intellect And as the months pass Ernst comes to depend on the gentle young woman who runs his house listens to him read from his work and occasionally offers a spirited commentary on it But Ernst's writing gives him no satisfaction and he is haunted by his godless Communist past His health already poor begins to deteriorate even further he becomes mired in depression and seems to lose the will to live But this is something Irena will not allow As she becomes an increasingly important part of his life moving into his home encouraging him in his work easing his pain Ernst not only regains his sense of self and discovers the path through which his writing can flow but he also discovers to his amazement that Irena is in love with him And even more astonishing he realizes that he is in love with her too Interview, Aharon Appelfeld Ann Parson, Ahron Apelfeld, 1982 World of Aharon Appelfeld , 2005 The Man Who Never Stopped Sleeping Aharon Appelfeld, 2020-01-07 A young holocaust survivor tries to create a new life in the newly established state of Israel Erwin doesn't remember much about his journey across Europe when the war ended because he spent most of it asleep carried by other survivors as they emerged from their hiding places or were liberated from the camps and made their way to Naples where they filled refugee camps and wondered what was to become of them Erwin becomes part of a group of boys being rigorously trained both physically and mentally by an emissary from Palestine for life in their new home When he and his fellow clandestine immigrants are released by British authorities from their detention camp near Haifa they are assigned to a kibbutz where they learn how to tend the land and speak their new language But a part of Erwin clings to the past to memories of his parents his mother tongue the Ukrainian city where he was born and he knows that despite what he is being told who he was is just as important as who he is becoming When he is wounded in an engagement with snipers Erwin spends months trying to regain the use of his legs As he exercises his body he exercises his mind as well copying passages from the Bible in his newly acquired Hebrew and working up the courage to create his own texts in this language both old and new hoping to succeed as a writer where his beloved tormented father had failed With the support of his friends and the encouragement of his mother who visits him in his dreams Erwin takes his first tentative steps with his crutches and with his pen Once again Aharon Appelfeld mines personal experience to create dazzling masterly fiction with a universal resonance
