Great Britain. Parliament, 1864 Hansard's Parliamentary Debates Great Britain. Parliament, 1864 Findings from the Survey on Officer Careers, 1996 June T. Jones, 1999 This report summarizes findings from the 1996 Survey on officer Careers SOC SOC is a continuation of the Longitudinal Research on Officer Careers LROC survey research program The LROC program called for similar surveys to be mailed to a longitudinal sample of company grade officers each year over a number of years Surveys were administered in 1988 1989 1990 and 1992 The SOC was first administered in May of 1996 Samples for SOC included all officers who had responded to any of the LROC surveys and who were still on active duty as well as a new randomly drawn cross sectional sample of officers at all ranks This report summarizes findings for the new 1996 cross sectional sample of officers The SOC continues to provide data on the values attitudes family situations and career experiences of Army officers who are serving in Army Competitive Category branches SOC results will be used to test models of work career family and personal factors that influence officers career decisions The SOC also provides a rich longitudinal database for examining the Army experience from a long term perspective DTIC

Faculty Retirement Jean McLaughlin, Lauren Duranleau, Claire Van Ummersen, 2023-07-03 Co published with ACE This book addresses the critical and looming issue of retirement in higher education as the cohort of boomer generation faculty come to the close of their careers On the one hand institutions need to replenish themselves and so need older employees to retire On the other mass retirements can decimate departments creating the need for mass hirings that will create another crisis in the future At the same time with the elimination of mandatory retirement many faculty are working on into and beyond their seventies because they feel they still have much to contribute because their identities are closely tied to their work because they wish to remain connected to their institutions or for financial reasons Given institutions legal constraints and planning exigencies and faculties varied motivations what are the options that can satisfy the needs of both parties This book presents a range of examples of how institutions of all types and sizes are addressing these dilemmas and how faculty members have helped create or shape policies that address their needs and allow them to continue to play meaningful roles at their institutions The contributors describe practices that address the concerns of those already nearing or in retirement propose approaches to creating opportunities to start these sensitive discussions and address financial planning at early career stages and outline strategies for developing clear structures and policies and communication so that individuals have a full understanding of their options as they make life changing decisions This book presents models from fifteen colleges and universities identified by the American Council on Education through a competition for having developed innovative and effective ways to help faculty transition into retirement It offers clear messages about the need for greater transparency in addressing retirement and transitions for better communication and for close coordination between human resources and academic administrators It offers a roadmap for HR personnel senior administrators department chairs and faculty themselves
