

The Adolescent History and Physical

In the adolescent patient, a detailed medical history and physical exam are essential components of the well-adolescent visit. A history should include the same elements as a general pediatric H and P, with the addition of the following areas of questioning.

HEADSS

H- Home environment-

How are things going at home? How is the interaction between the teen and the parent/s? Does the teen feel safe at home?

E- Education-

How is school going? How are the teen's grades? What does the teen like/dislike about school? Is the teen involved in any extra-curricular activities or team sports?

A- Activity-

Does the teen get regular physical activity? How often does the teen exercise?

D- Diet/Drugs/Depression-

How is the teen's diet – is it well balanced or include a lot of junk food? Is the teen worried about his/her weight? Does the teen use drugs of any kind, like marijuana, crack, cocaine, or heroin? Does the teen or his friends smoke cigarettes or drink alcohol? If so, how often? Has the teen ever been drunk? Does the teen ever feel sad or overwhelmed by the events in his life? Does the teen feel any loss in interest in usual activities?

S- Sexuality-

Is the teen sexually active? If so, is the teen sexually active with men, women, or both? Does the teen use protection- if yes, what kind? Has the teen thought about becoming pregnant or getting a girl pregnant? What are the teen's feelings about his/her sexuality?

S- Suicidal ideation-

Does the teen have thoughts about ending his/her life or committing suicide? Has the teen ever thought of hurting someone else? Does the teen have a plan to do so?

Clinical Handbook of Adolescent Addiction
 Richard Rosner, 2012-11-19

Since 1960, the burden of adolescent illness has shifted from the traditional causes of disease to the more behavior-related problems such as drinking, smoking, and drug abuse. Nearly half of American adolescents have used an illicit drug sometime during their life. Instilling in adolescents the knowledge, skills, and values that foster physical and mental health will require substantial changes in the way health professionals work and the way they connect with families, schools, and community organizations. At the same time, the major textbooks on addiction medicine and addiction psychiatry devote relatively little attention to the special problems of diagnosing and treating adolescent addicts. Similarly, the major textbooks on general and child and adolescent psychiatry direct relatively little attention to the issues surrounding adolescent addiction. The Clinical Handbook of Adolescent Addiction is one response to the challenge of meeting the mental health needs and behavior-related problems of addicted teenagers. The work has been edited as an independent project by members of the American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry, the oldest professional organization of psychiatrists devoted solely to the mental health care and treatment of teenagers in the USA. The forensic psychiatry perspective permeates the entire book. It will help to produce health providers with a deep and sensitive understanding of the developmental needs and behavior-related problems of adolescents. The Clinical Handbook of Adolescent Addiction is a practical tool for all those who help adolescents: practitioners of family medicine, general psychiatrists, child and adolescent psychiatrists, adolescent psychiatrists, addiction psychiatrists, non-psychiatric physicians specializing in addiction medicine, forensic psychiatrists, psychologists, clinical social workers, mental health administrators, Court Probation Parole, Correctional health workers. The book is organized in a user-friendly format so that readers can easily locate the chapters that provide the information that is required. In some instances, topics of special importance have been addressed in more than one chapter to illuminate the topics from a variety of vantage points. One aim of the editors is to move the topic from being a specialist area to a generalist one by providing tools for generalists to use.

Child and Adolescent Behavioral Health
 Edilma L. Yearwood, Geraldine S. Pearson, Jamesetta A. Newland, 2012-01-18
