Handbook of Engineering Systems Design Anja Maier, Josef Oehmen, Pieter E. Vermaas, 2022-07-30 This handbook charts the new engineering paradigm of engineering systems It brings together contributions from leading thinkers in the field and discusses the design management and enabling policy of engineering systems It contains explorations of core themes including technical and socio organisational complexity human behaviour and uncertainty The text includes chapters on the education of future engineers the way in which interventions can be designed and presents a look to the future This book follows the emergence of engineering systems a new engineering paradigm that will help solve truly global challenges This global approach is characterised by complex sociotechnical systems that are now co dependent and highly integrated both functionally and technically as well as by a realisation that we all share the same climate natural resources a highly integrated economical system and a responsibility for global sustainability goals The new paradigm and approach requires the re designing of engineering systems that take into account the shifting dynamics of human behaviour the influence of global stakeholders and the need for system integration The text is a reference point for scholars engineers and policy leaders who are interested in broadening their current perspective on engineering systems design and in devising interventions to help shape societal futures

Hydrogen Powered Transportation Dr. Ayfer Veziroglu, 2017-02-28 The current status of fossil fuel and alternative energy is a hot topic of today Many different sides have many different opinions on the transition strategy that will work best as fossil fuel reserves slowly diminish Seeing the light at the end of the tunnel for fossil fuels allows us to begin envisioning the role of various alternative fuels to replace these energy sources Hydrogen fits into this transition mostly by replacing oil in the transportation sector as the main energy carrier Natural gas and biofuels seem to be the best short term solution but after 2050 hydrogen transportation must become the norm as we move into a sustainable energy sector by 2100 Fuel cell vehicles will be able to run off hydrogen more efficiently and be far cleaner than conventional gas powered vehicles As production of fossil fuels slows and proven reserves fall prices will rise and alternative sources will become economically competitive with fossil fuels Nuclear geothermal wind PV and wave energy will all be needed to provide for the total global energy demands A hydrogen platform will also be developed through this century for the transportation sector Hydrogen will serve as an energy carrier for vehicles and will be used as a form of chemical storage for energy in stationary applications produced most likely by off peak excess power Based on the above information all countries in the world can be analyzed to assess their potential to become early adopters for hydrogen energy Even though a basic statistical approach might not provide very accurate results it provides an insight on early adopters and the status of countries in terms of several commonly measured properties
