EC Declaration

The equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Article 18 and 20 of the EMC Directive. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. The equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If the equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one of the following measures:

- Reorient the equipment relative to the receiving antenna.
- Increase the distance between the equipment and the receiver.
- Connect the equipment to a different electrical outlet than the one to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or a competent radio technician for help.

These limits apply to CE-marked equipment used for the equipment in compliance with the EMC Directive. Changes in modifications not expressly approved by writing by AKG, Inc. may void the user's authority to operate the equipment. The system complies with Part 15.207 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) The device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) the device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.
