Active Learning Through Drama Podcasting And Puppetry:

Active Learning Through Drama, Podcasting, and Puppetry Kristin Fontichiaro, 2007-03-30 Contrary to the trend to do away with arts education as an unnecessary expense in schools trying to boost student test scores this book promotes and explains the value of integrated arts instruction in furthering the accomplishment of curricular objectives and fostering student achievement Accomplished library media specialist and arts instructor Kristin Fontichiaro discusses how drama shadow puppetry and podcasting can be used as tools to meet curriculum objectives in the K 8 media center By concentrating on the process of creating a piece of drama or puppetry or a podcast as opposed to the goal of performance and by infusing the arts with curriculum objectives in story or research these techniques can intensify a child's learning and provide context for classroom curriculum objectives A discussion of the affective and academic benefits of this process based work as well as sample lessons are included Photographs and examples of student work illustrate the techniques Grades K 8

Foundation of Digital Badges and Micro-Credentials Dirk Ifenthaler, Nicole Bellin-Mularski, Dana-Kristin Mah, 2016-06-29 This edited volume provides insight into how digital badges may enhance formal non formal and informal education by focusing on technical design issues including organizational requirements learning and instructional design as well as deployment It features current research exploring the theoretical foundation and empirical evidence of the utilization of digital badges as well as case studies that describe current practices and experiences in the use of digital badges for motivation learning and instruction in K 12 higher education workplace learning and further education settings Play: A Theory of Learning and Change Tara Brabazon, 2015-12-12 This book examines the question of why play is a happy and benevolent verb in childhood yet a subjective label of behaviour in adulthood It studies the transformation of the positively labelled term child's play used to refer to our early years into an aberrance or deviation from normal social relationships in later life when we speak of playing up or playing around It answers the question by proposing play as a theory of learning an ideology that circumscribes behaviour and a way of thinking Written by scholars of early childhood through to further and higher education the book presents research on play enacted in a way that arches beyond the specificity of age groups or predictive normative patterns It is international in its focus moving beyond insular inward and parochial educational standards and limitations in one city province state or nation Finally it demonstrates the value of play to educational policy and theories of learning

Story Starters and Science Notebooking Sandy Buczynski, Kristin Fontichiaro, 2009-05-19 Story Starters and Science Notebooking Developing Student Thinking Through Literacy and Inquiry is designed to provide a meaningful comfortable framework in which teachers and parents can encourage elementary children to explore scientific ideas in an inquiry oriented format The basis for each scientific concept presented in Story Starters and Science Notebooking is embedded in a story appropriate for elementary aged children The activity that follows each narrative encourages learners to observe compare gather data organize or classify and draw conclusions about the problem posed from the story Because current scientific knowledge and understanding guide scientific investigations background information in each chapter provides teachers with a synopsis of the scientific concept involved in the activity for that story The story starters present a framework for inquiry which eliminates the free wheeling uncontrolled and unstructured view some teachers have of inquiry These are either original stories or familiar children s stories that ask learners to investigate a possible scientific explanation for a problem or scenario Learners then communicate their findings in an oral written pictorial or technological form back to a lead character from the story Extension activities provide an opportunity for learners to compare their answers with what scientists already know about the world and also motivate them to frame new questions Grades 3-6 Growing Schools Debbie Abilock, Kristin Fontichiaro, Violet H. Harada, 2012-06-11

Presenting examples of school librarians leading professional learning in numerous contexts and for diverse learning goals with remarkable success this book will inspire other practitioners to initiate and refine professional learning in their schools and districts School administrators are recognizing that school librarians are ideal to lead professional development because they service the entire school network from the students and faculty to families and the community As a national downturn in educational funding is diminishing districts ability to optimally staff libraries investing energy in professional development is a sound strategy to bring information literacy skills to every student especially in buildings with part time librarians or districts with only a single librarian of record Growing Schools Librarians as Professional Developers stands apart from other works as the first book that directly addresses the potential role of the school librarian as a staff developer Within the chapters the authors relate their professional development journeys collectively representing experience within K-12 public and private institutions district and regional units and universities across the United States and Canada The work provides various approaches to professional development with a range of processes and techniques that have been proven effective in different contexts and in achieving diverse learning goals Practitioners at the building and district levels as well as school principals state and district personnel and library educators will find this book insightful and instructive The Web and
