backgrounds and global spread adequately reflect the international focus of the three books that make up the collection. The contributions in their various ways demonstrate the many advances and ingenious solutions adopted by African theatre practitioners in tackling some of the challenges arising from the adverse colonial experience as well as the one-sided advance of globalisation. The contributions attest to the thriving nature of African theatre and performance which in the face of these challenges has managed to retain its distinctiveness while at the same time acknowledging, contesting and appropriating influences from elsewhere into an aesthetic that is identifiably African. Consequently, the three books are presented as a comprehensive exploration of the current state of African theatre and performance both on the continent and diaspora. Performative Inter Actions in African Theatre 3. Making Space: Rethinking Drama and Theatre in Africa offers essays that seek to re-conceptualise notions of drama and theatre in Africa and therefore redefine our understanding of the practice, role and place they occupy in a constantly evolving African socio-cultural contexts. Contributions in Making Space: Rethinking Drama and Theatre in Africa range from essays that explore notions of space in performance to those that challenge the perceived orthodoxy of conventional forms and approaches to theatre.

Transforming Universities in South Africa

,2020-08-31 The idea of transformation in higher education underpins all policy documents, academic literature and on-going debates in South Africa. Transforming Universities in South Africa: Pathways to Higher Education Reform responds to the pressing need to comprehensively review the post-apartheid experience and assess where South Africa's higher education stands across the continent and globally, particularly within the country's efforts to overcome decades of socio-economic imbalances. It addresses the question of whether South Africa's transformation strategy from apartheid to democracy was simply a symbolic new flag-raising and new anthem singing exercise reflecting a transition akin to those limited decolonization projects elsewhere in the world or whether something more fundamental was possible and was achieved with political and policy implications for other countries in Africa and globally. This volume's ultimate purpose is to provide a basis for imagining new futures in which South Africa's higher education in the context of Africa and the global world takes centre stage.

From an Ethic of Sufficiency to its Policy and Practice in Late Capitalism Manu V. Mathai, Sylvia Lorek, Wolfgang Sachs, 2023-12-13 That the notion of sufficiency is essential for a good life is an idea that enjoys support across many ethical, philosophical, religious and cultural persuasions. This notion reasserted itself in the study of sustainability once modern society reluctantly took cognizance of the limited low-entropy energy and matter available for human appropriation. There is today therefore a general recognition of, i.e. not necessarily wide agreement on the merits of or needs for notions of sufficiency as a species of environmentalism within secular communities. In this context, a critical question that invites our attention is how to effect sufficiency and in particular of dealing with the daunting challenge of injustice as well as questions of distribution within and between countries that it brings to attention. Given sufficiency's original home as it were in tradition, the modern world has tended to dismiss it or to plead to individual voluntary simplicity when faced with evidence asserting its necessity Sufficiency is also often written away as a spiritual problem The domain of ascetics and the religious How to habilitate sufficiency in a political economy for the secular modern facing its biggest existential challenge yet in the form of the environmental crisis Structuring Mass Higher Education David Palfreyman,Ted Tapper,2012-10-12

Undoubtedly the most important development in higher education in recent years has been the seemingly inexorable expansion of national systems In a comparatively short time period many countries have moved from an elite to a mass model Furthermore expansion has invariably changed the whole experience of higher education for all the interested parties from presidents rectors and vice chancellors to first term undergraduates Structuring Mass Higher Education examines the impact of this change upon the existing national structures of higher education It also defines and highlights what makes an elite university something which institutions must strive for in order to gain their position as global players With case studies and contributions from a wide range of international authors the book explores questions such as Do higher education institutions retain a national significance even though the vestiges of an international reputation have long faded Has expansion undermined the quality of higher education because governments sought to expand on the cheap Is the elite institutional response to mass higher education perceived as a threat to be responded to with purposeful action that sustains their elite status Does the emergence of the international league tables pose a challenge to those responsible for governing elite institutions These are critical issues with which both policy makers and institutional leaders will have to grapple over the next ten years making Structuring Mass Higher Education a timely relevant and much needed text It will appeal to policy makers and practitioners within higher education as well as student and scholars worldwide Design of Functional

Polymer Nanocomposites Rotimi Sadiku,Oluranti Agboola,Kokkarachedu Varaprasad,Mapula Lucey Mavhungu,2025-07-01 Design of Functional Polymer Nanocomposites Interface and Interphase Reactions Compatibilization and Bond Behavior and Functionalization Procedures reviews the latest developments in this fast moving research field The book discusses interface and interphase interactions in polymer nanocomposites as well as compatibilization behavior and different functionalization procedures It illustrates how each of these essential tools can be used in the design of new polymer nanocomposites for a broad range of different industrial scale applications In the research and development of polymer nanocomposites the interface and interphase reactions of different constituents is extremely important They play a vital role in introducing additional features and in the final resultant properties of the nanocomposite In addition final properties are also dependent upon the bond behavior and the reaction and interface created between the two constituents Covers interface and interphase reactions Discusses compatibilization behavior and different functionalization procedures as essential design tools Presents preparation strategies such as polycondensation copolymerization and free radical chains polymerization Provides a diverse focus on a wide range of high performance applications Growing Information: Part I Eli B. Management " Vladlena Benson, Fragkiskos Filippaios, 2016-05-20 International Education Daniel Ness, Chia-Ling Lin, 2015-03-17 This encyclopedia is the most current and exhaustive reference available on international education It provides thorough up to date coverage of key topics concepts and issues as well as in depth studies of approximately 180 national educational systems throughout the world Articles examine education broadly and at all levels from primary grades through higher education formal to informal education country studies to global organizations Mergers and Alliances in Higher Education Adrian Curaj, Luke Georghiou, Jennifer Cassingena Harper, Eva Egron-Polak, 2015-03-31 This volume casts light on mergers and alliances in higher education by examining developments of this type in different countries It combines the direct experiences of those at the heart of such transformations university leaders and senior officials responsible for higher education policy with expert analysts of the systems concerned Higher education in Europe faces a series of major challenges The economic crisis has accelerated expectations of an increased role in addressing economic and societal challenges while at the same time putting pressure on available finances Broader trends such as shifting student demographics and expectations globalisation and mobility and new ways of working with business have contributed to these increased pressures In the light of these trends there have been moves both from national or regional agencies and from individual institutions to respond by combining resources either through collaborative arrangements or more fundamentally through mergers between two or more universities After an introductory chapter by the editors which establishes the context for mergers and alliances the book falls into two main parts Part 1 takes a national or regional perspective to give some sense of the historical context the wider drivers and the importance of these developments in these cases Included are both systemic accounts for countries as France Sweden Romania Russia Wales and England and specific cross cutting initiatives including a major facility at Magurele in Romania and a Spanish programme for promoting international campuses of excellence Part 2 is built from specific cases of universities either in mergers or alliances with examples from different countries such as France UK Romania Spain Germany Denmark Finland Switzerland A concluding chapter by the editors assesses these experiences and indicates the implications and future needs for understanding in this domain

Decolonising Journalism Education in South Africa Ms Zubeida Jaffer ,Prof. Ylva Rodney-Gumede ,Dr Mvuso Ponono ,Prof. Colin Chasi ,2021-12-20 With 342 years of colonialism and apartheid in South Africa a book of this calibre is essential to contribute to scholarly debates on the decolonisation of the media After the democratic dispensation in 1994 there was a narrow pursuit of transformation and media freedom while neglecting decolonisation patriarchal tendencies and the plight of black women journalists who are often vilified while discharging their duties It was two decades after democracy that the RhodesMustFall movement which later evolved into FeesMustFall movement reignited debates on decoloniality in the academia Moreover the book is published during the second wave of FeesMustFall student protests and the demand for decolonised free education is inevitable as no permanent solution to student funding crisis was crafted In the same vein the book advocates for decolonised pedagogy in universities including journalism curriculum That ownership of the media is still skewed towards white and with only few black companies gradually joining the industry also brings into doubt media freedom editorial independence ethics and integrity among media practitioners Therefore the decoloniality movement seeks to confront these structural challenges head on via dialogue to ensure the integrity of the journalism profession Decolonising journalism in South Africa is published at a time in which journalism serves a watchdog and a critique of a democratic government and needs to follow a bottom up social justice approach and become a voice to the voiceless Therefore this book seeks to revolutionise the media in a way that even the language of reporting of certain issues needs to be changed to a balanced kind of reporting characterised by principles of no fear or favour Higher Education in the BRICS Countries Simon Schwartzman,Rómulo Pinheiro,Pundy Pillay,2015-03-24 In spite of the increasing attention attributed to the rise in prominence of the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa countries few studies have looked at the ways in which broader social expectations with respect to the role of higher education across the BRICS have changed or not in recent years Our point of departure is that contrary to the conventional wisdom focusing on functionalistic perspectives higher education systems are not just designed by governments to fulfill certain functions but have a tendency for evolving in a rather unpredictable fashion as a result of the complex interplay between a number of internal and external factors In reality national higher education systems develop and change according to a complex process that encompasses the expectations of governmental agencies markets the aspirations of the population for the benefits of education the specific institutional traditions and cultures of higher education institutions and increasingly so the interests and strategies of the private firms entering and offering services in the higher education market This basically means that it is of outmost importance to move away from conceiving of universities or higher education as single monolithic actors or sector One way of doing this is by investigating a selected number of distinct but nonetheless interrelated factors or drivers which taken together help determine the nature and scope of the social compact between higher education its core actors and institutions and society at large government industry local communities professional associations Socio-ecological-economic reflections on the impacts of COVID-19 in Africa Willie Chinyamurindi,Philani Moyo,2025-02-28 This scholarly book magnifies reflections from young scientists in South Africa Africa and beyond around the COVID 19 pandemic With contributions by upcoming scientists this scholarly book provides a synopsis of socio ecological economic views on the impact of COVID 19 Through its chapters the book takes a multi disciplinary approach to reflecting on what it was like to be a scientist during the COVID 19 pandemic By doing so each chapter re imagines science from the viewpoint of its discipline offering insights from the perspective of young scientists that could benefit other scholars academics and policymakers
