

APUSH Ch. 14 Questions

US History

- 1) The Industrial Revolution not only further fueled the American economy, but changed the lives of women who up until that point had very limited opportunities in the working world. This in turn impacted family life as I will explain. When the Industrial Revolution came to America, it brought with it a new way of life. Women who had been working and doing housework were now in competition to men. Women from the South came and worked for men in the North. In the beginning of the Industrial Revolution, they were not allowed to work in the factories, which eventually allowed them to work and have privileges like men, clothes, and money to all. This changed family life because they were now having an increase number of children and working, even their working had helped in the growth of the economy. However, there were negatives in the sense that women had to work with machines and long hours, industrial became dangerous for the employees.
- 2) The Irish came over to America primarily due to the potato famine and poverty within the Germanic world for long periods. Despite both came in hopes of more economic opportunity. In addition, another primary was that both Ireland and Germany were suffering from overpopulation and had American jobs because they were willing to work for little pay. The Irish were more discriminated in comparison to the Germans because they had more negative stereotypes and looked more different than the Germans to the average American.
- 3) In terms of manufacturing tech, the most important innovation was the production line. Although not a direct machine, these men and women were able to produce more product due to being able to function like a well-oiled machine. In transportation, rails accompanied by the telegraph was important since telegraph allowed rails to be collected and supervised management which both boosted railroad economy. As for business, I want to say that the rail and system was a great idea because it allowed manufacturing workers who benefited the economy and were also given a taste of independence. Although it didn't work in the long term, it was something when it was in place.
