Military Review ,2017      Military Intelligence Professional Bulletin ,1994      Military Intelligence ,1995

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken,2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country s new security political and social environment since 1994 In South Africa s changed political state how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy This book presents an overview of the security environment how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement force preparation force employment and force sustainability The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy recruitment and retention military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged HIV AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness In closing the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation spelling out some lessons learned The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil military relations of countries around the world      Congressional Record ,      Subject Index to Unclassified ASTIA Documents Defense Documentation Center (U.S.),1960      Where do we draw the line? Alexandra Parker,Samkelisiwe Khanyile,Kate Joseph,2019-03-29 Graffiti is a controversial subject and fraught with ambiguities and contradictions However the recent global success of artists such as Banksy Melbourne s booming graffiti tourism and the rise of the creative city discourse have blurred the lines between what some regard as vandalism and some as public art As such graffiti has increasingly become part of mainstream culture and in some countries has been promoted as a contributor to the urban environment Thus as practices and perceptions of graffiti shift so does our need to better understand the role of graffiti in our urban environments Through a case study of the Maboneng precinct this GCRO Occasional Paper investigates the contribution made by graffiti to tourism and public and private investment in the inner city of Johannesburg The paper uses visual and spatial analyses of graffiti in Maboneng s development The research shows the extent to which the Maboneng precinct is branded through urban aesthetics including graffiti and demonstrates that graffiti contributes to placemaking by creating meaningful or identifiable spaces The analysis reveals graffiti s aesthetic value in the urban environment it signifies the redevelopment of Maboneng distinguishes the area at a local level from surrounding spaces and also projects a global aesthetic Using this case study of Maboneng we hope to show how graffiti is leveraged in nurturing urban development creative economies and tourism in the inner city The

Occasional Paper is comprised of two parts The first half of the paper aims to understand the role of graffiti in its urban context A first section examines the history of graffiti considering centuries old traditions of markings on walls the intersection of graffiti with the birth of hip hop culture and in the South African context the role of graffiti in anti apartheid protest politics A further section explores the spectrum of graffiti aesthetics from text based expressions to the murals of street art A third section traces graffiti s complicated relationship to the urban environment with changing perceptions of graffiti as vandalism or a mode of urban dialogue or a form of outdoor gallery The sections in this first half of the paper explore the transitions graffiti has made over time and highlight the fluid nature of graffiti both in space and in the way that it is conceived They illustrate how graffiti once perceived as synonymous with urban blight and decay vandalism and crime has over time gained a more legitimate social status for example through commissioned murals or the work of famed international artists in the process raising the question of who decides the aesthetic of the urban environment and who has a right to participate in the production of urban space In the second half of the paper we focus on a case study of Maboneng in the City of Johannesburg Maboneng is an area of redevelopment in Johannesburg s inner city established in 2009 The neighbourhood has transformed through investment in the public environment and the upgrading of dozens of buildings with a focus on the creative economy Graffiti and street art are prevalent in the area and have contributed to the branding of the area as a creative space Through a photographic essay and mapping we analyse the spatial and visual elements of graffiti in Maboneng exploring its various contradictions themes surfaces and the media used to create it The detailed mapping examines different types of graffiti and their locality density scale and visibility The case study shows in detail the relationship between graffiti and the local urban environment but also how graffiti relates to larger processes of urban and economic development in the city

Learning About World War I and World War II with Arts & Crafts

Paul Challen, 2014-12-15 World War I and World War II both had a huge impact on the modern world Readers explore the history of these wars in a very creative way through making crafts inspired by these events in American history Readers learn about different styles of warfare as they make their own periscopes and they learn about the role the United States played in each conflict as they make their own war posters These projects are accompanied by enlightening text including helpful sidebars and fact boxes Photographs from this period in history engage readers with each turn of the page

Africa and Urban Anthropology

Deborah Pellow, Suzanne Scheld, 2023-03-08 This volume offers valuable anthropological insight into urban Africa covering a range of cities across a continent that has become one of the fastest urbanizing geographic areas of the globe Consideration is given to the structures social formations and rhythms that constitute the definition of an African city town or urban space and to current concepts for thinking about African cities in the twenty first century The contributors examine topics including notions of belonging the effects of globalization colonialism and transnationalism on African urban life the cultural dimensions of infrastructure and public resources mobility labor issues spatial organization language and popular culture trends among other themes The book reflects on how the ethnography of urban Africa fits within anthropology and urban studies and on new theoretical concepts and methodologies that can be created through anthropological fieldwork in African cities It will be of particular interest to scholars and students from anthropology African studies and urban studies as well as sociology and geography

Military Assistance on Request and the Use of Force Erika De Wet, 2020-03-26 In countries such as Syria Iraq South Sudan and Yemen internationally recognized governments embroiled in protracted armed conflicts and with very little control over their territory have requested direct military assistance from other states These requests are often accepted by the other states despite the circumvention of the United Nations Security Council and extensive violation of international humanitarian law and human rights In this book Erika De Wet examines the authority entitled to extend a request for or consent to direct military assistance as well as the type of situations during which such assistance may be requested notably whether it may be requested during a civil war Ultimately De Wet addresses the question of if and to what extent the proliferation of military assistance on the request of a recognized government is changing the rules in international law applying to the use of force

Triumph and Betrayal Alexander Johannes Edmonds, 2025-04-21 While the study of Assyria as the world's first empire has never been more popular the events of the foundational early Neo Assyrian period 935-745 BC remain only poorly understood and explained This book re-examines the historical question of Assyria's expansion presenting a novel reconstruction of the early Neo Assyrian period with the latest data including new Assyrian kings detailed regional studies synthesising the newest historical and archaeological findings and interpretative essays outlining new historical factors The resultant history is unprecedentedly complex containing newly discovered succession conflicts difficult compromises with neighbouring powers local dynasties appointed to Assyrian governorships self-serving high officials and sudden reverses in policy In place of circular structuralist arguments for the Neo Assyrian expansion it presents a new model emphasising internal political conflict and competing visions for Assyria's future This book is intended for historians and archaeologists of Assyria for whom it will provide a new basis for research and also for scholars of neighbouring disciplines and laypersons interested in what happens to an ancient state before it becomes an empire

Fighting at the Legal Boundaries Kenneth Watkin OMM, CD, QC, 2016-05-03 The international law governing armed conflict is at a crossroads as the formal framework of laws designed to control the exercise of self-defense and conduct of inter-state conflict finds itself confronted with violent 21st Century disputes of a very different character Military practitioners who seek to stay within the bounds of international law often find themselves applying bodies of law IHRL IHL ICL in an exclusionary fashion and adherence to those boundaries can lead to a formal and often rigid application of the law that does not adequately address contemporary security challenges Fighting at the Legal Boundaries offers a holistic approach towards the application of the various constitutive parts of international law The author focuses on the interaction between the applicable bodies of law by exploring whether their boundaries are improperly drawn or are being interpreted in too rigid a fashion Emphasis is placed on the disconnect that can occur between theory and practice regarding how these legal regimes are applied and interact with one another Through a number of case studies Fighting at the Legal Boundaries explores how the threat posed by insurgents terrorists and transnational criminal gangs often occurs not only at the point where these bodies of law interact but also in situations where there is significant overlap In this regard the exercise of the longstanding right of States to defend nationals including the conduct of operations such as hostage rescue can involve the application of human rights based law enforcement norms to counter threats transcending the conflict spectrum This book has five parts Part I sets out the security legal and operational challenges of contemporary conflict Part II focuses on the interaction between the jus ad bellum humanitarian law and human rights including an analysis of the historical influences that shaped their application as separate bodies of law Emphasis is placed on the influence the proper authority principle has had in the human rights based approach being favored when dealing with criminal non State actors during both international and non international armed conflict Part III analyzes the threats of insurgency and terrorism and the state response This includes exploring their link to criminal activity and the phenomenon of transnational criminal organizations Part IV addresses the conduct of operations against non State actors that span the conflict spectrum from inter state warfare to international law enforcement Lastly Part V looks at the way ahead and discusses the approaches that can be applied to address the evolving diverse and unique security threats facing the international community

From Alliance to Union Joseph A. Kéchichian, 2016-05-24 After the conservative Arab Gulf Monarchies Bahrain Kuwait Oman Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates UAE joined forces on 25 May 1981 within the Gulf Co operation Council GCC few fathomed that security requirements on and around the Arabian Peninsula would be so precarious and for so long To answer their search for permanent stability Arab Gulf rulers erected a regional alliance that sought to integrate internal and regional defences as well as strengthen their existing socio economic ties Several of the monarchies even hoped that co ordination on foreign policy issues over which near unanimity existed could eventually lead to a full fledged union as envisaged in the organisation s founding charter Between 1981 and 2015 these Arab Gulf monarchies experienced major socio political transformations resulting from upheavals throughout the Arab and Muslim worlds The perceived necessity to bring about a full fledged union has come into conflict with entrenched viewpoints from regimes that value traditional military political roles and norms In this new study Joseph A Kechichian provides an evaluation of GCC States military institutions to better evaluate whether a stable alliance is capable of enduring over the next few decades and how civilian leaders perceive the role and influence of their military officers for the task Kechichian raises fundamental questions over internal regional and international threats including an existential challenge emanating from the Islamic revolutionary government of Iran and assesses how GCC professionals may be preparing to tackle them He further elucidates on the best methods to meet security challenges not only to secure political survival but also to determine whether conservative Arab

Gulf regimes can flourish outside an effective alliance The volume concludes with an examination of evolving civil military relations in the GCC States

The South China Sea Arbitration Alfredo C. Robles, 2019-01-01 The South China Sea Arbitration which marks the first time that the Philippines and China have been parties to a compulsory dispute settlement procedure is a landmark legal case The Tribunal tackled head on critical issues in the interpretation and application of the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea that other international courts have failed to address particularly the compatibility of historic rights with the Convention the identification of maritime features as permanently submerged or above water at high tide and the distinction between features that are fully entitled to maritime zones and those that are not In addition the Tribunal also had to decide on issues as diverse as near collisions at sea illegal fishing of giant clams and sea turtles and the destruction of fragile coral reefs resulting from island building The Tribunals task was rendered arduous by Chinas refusal to appear before it In these circumstances understanding the Tribunals decisions is a challenging undertaking Chinas public relations campaign targeting the proceedings raised issues that the layperson could readily grasp notably African states support for its non appearance the integrity of the judges and the validity of arbitral awards Understanding the Awards and Debating with China aims to facilitate understanding of the South China Sea Arbitration by presenting detailed summaries of the two Arbitral Awards The author rebuts the questionable claims raised by Chinas public relations campaign and highlights Chinas covert actions during the proceedings
