A Sourcebook For Responding To Student Writing:

A Sourcebook for Responding to Student Writing Richard Straub, 1999 A Sourcebook for Responding to Student Writing is a resource for writing teachers. It provides a range of teacher comments on a sampling of college student papers and an anthology of key statements on theory and practice of responding to student writing. Specifically, the book presents twenty-five sets of responses made on a sampling of five student papers including expressive, explanatory, evaluative, and argumentative writing comments by a variety of teachers, both well-recognized composition scholars who have contributed to the research on teacher response and college English teachers whose primary area of study is outside composition. Two additional essays without accompanying teacher comments for further practice, a detailed bibliography on teacher response, a collection of noted articles on reading, evaluating, and responding to student writing. Free of analysis and apparatus, the book may be used by teachers in their own ways according to their own assumptions, predilections, and goals to develop better ways of responding to student writing. From cover Response To Student Writing Dana R. Ferris, 2003-02-26 This volume synthesizes and critically analyzes the literature on response to the writing of second language students and discusses the implications of the research for teaching practice in the areas of written and oral teacher commentary on student writing, error correction, and facilitation of peer response. The book features numerous examples of student texts and teacher commentary as well as figures and appendices that summarize research findings and present sample lessons and other teaching materials. It is thus simultaneously comprehensive in its approach to the existing research and highly practical in showing current and future teachers how this material applies to their everyday endeavors of responding to student writing and teaching composition classes. Response to student writing, whether it takes the form of teachers' written feedback on content, error correction, teacher-student conferences, or peer response, is an extremely important component of teaching second language writing. Probably no single activity takes more teacher time and energy. Response to Student Writing is a valuable theoretical and practical resource for those involved in this crucial work, including L2 composition researchers in service and preservice teachers of ESOL/EFL writers and teacher educators preparing graduate students for the teaching of writing. Best of the Journals in Rhetoric and Composition 2019 Jessica Pauszek, David Blakesley, 2019-10-13 Best of the Journals in Rhetoric and Composition 2019 represents the result of a nationwide conversation beginning with journal editors but expanding to teachers, scholars, and workers across the discipline of Rhetoric and Composition to select essays that showcase the innovative and transformative work now being published in the field's journals. Representing both print and digital journals, the essays featured here explore issues ranging from classroom practice to writing in global and digital contexts, from border rhetorics to social justice research. Together, the essays provide readers with a rich understanding of the present and future direction of the field. The anthology features work by the following authors and represents these journals: Amber Simpson and Kristi Girdhar, Elaine Richardson, and Alice Ragland, Community Literacy Journal, Shari J.
