Photosynthesis Bibliography volume 1 1966/1970 Zdenek Sesták, J. Catský, 2012-12-06 It is generally accepted that photosynthesis whereby solar is transformed into geobiochemical energy is one of the most important processes in the biosphere. When we realize that the human population most of which is starving will double in 20-30 years and that photosynthesis is in practice the only source direct or indirect of food not only for men but for all living beings its importance becomes even plainer. This fact was recognized from the outset of the International Biological Programme when photosynthesis was selected as one of the principal problems to be concentrated on. The significance of the IBP in initiating a broader based approach and worldwide collaboration need not be emphasized here it is merely necessary to consider the rapid increase in the number of papers on photosynthesis since its inception. It is of fundamental importance for scientists working on photosynthesis to get information on what has been done in recent years in this discipline. Thus as complete as possible a bibliography is badly needed. The complexity of this problem requires also that the progress of ecology chemistry and physics as far as they concern photosynthesis be followed. Such a bibliography covering at least the last ten years will be indispensable for final synthesis of the results of the IBP photosynthetic programme.

It features 147 of the most frequently used medicinal plants 43 animals and 10 minerals in Northeast Asia as selected by the international editorial board. Soviet Life, 1974 Different Shades of the Past Mateusz Kamionka, Przemysław Łukasik, 2023-01-30 In his book 21 Lessons for the 21st Century the historian Yuval Noah Harari wrote that man had the possibility to conquer the world precisely because he could create fictional stories and believe in them. People created more and more complex stories about themselves that served and continue to serve according to the professor of the University of Jerusalem building unity social harmony and gaining power. A narrative about past in which memory fragmentation and victimisation play a large role may be a temptation to instrumentalise the past. This is especially true in relation to the events of the twentieth century when a series of bloody war conflicts occurred As shown in the following post conference volume today the wars of the past World War I and World War II Indian Pakistani war and current conflicts Russo Ukrainian war war in Sudan or Nagorno Karabakh are also a catalyst for the process of instrumentalisation This process can be analysed both at the level of the evolution of the language of conflict including the erosion of the values of democratic dialogue and the use of specific means of commemorating the past monuments museums the Internet
