Teaching Academic Writing as a Discipline-Specific Skill in Higher Education Ezza, El-Sadig Y.,Drid, Touria,2019-12-27 It is now held that writing influences and is influenced by the discipline where it occurs The representations that writers employ to produce and comprehend texts are said to be sensitive to the specificities of their disciplinary discourse communities This exposes writers to divergent disciplinary demands and expectations on what counts as good and appropriate writing in terms of generic structure discourse features and stylistic preferences reflecting dissimilar practices Because of such exigencies academic writing seems at times to be very challenging especially for novice scholars Thus any attempt to perceive the function of academic writing in higher education or to evaluate its quality should not discard the shaping force of the disciplines Teaching Academic Writing as a Discipline Specific Skill in Higher Education is a critical scholarly resource that examines the role of writing within academic circles and the disciplinary practices of writing in scholastic environments The book will also explore the particular difficulties that confront writers in the disciplines as well as the endeavors of educational institutions to develop discipline specific writing traditions among practicing and novice scholars. Featuring a range of topics such as blended learning, data interpretation and knowledge construction, this book is essential for instructors, academicians, administrators, professors, researchers and students.

Constructing academic essays, dissertations and research articles in this second or foreign language is even more challenging yet across the globe thousands of academics and students do so some out of choice, some out of necessity. This book looks at a major issue within the field of English for Academic Purposes (EAP). It focuses on the issues confronting non-native English speaking academics, scholars and students who face increasing pressure to write and publish in English now widely acknowledged as the academic lingua franca. Questions of identity, access, pedagogy and empowerment naturally arise. This book looks at both student and professional academic writers using qualitative text analysis, quantitative questionnaire, data corpus investigations and ethnographic approaches to searchingly examine issues central to the EAP field.
