Fallenness in Victorian Women's Writing Deborah Anna Logan, 1998 Logan s study is distinguished by its exclusive focus on women writers including Charlotte Bronte George Eliot Elizabeth Gaskell Harriet Martineau Elizabeth Barrett Browning Florence Nightingale Sarah Grand and Mary Prince Logan utilizes primary texts from these Victorian writers as well as contemporary critics such as Catherine Gallagher and Elaine Showalter to provide the background on social factors that contributed to the construction of fallen woman discourse

Writing with a Vengeance Carol A. Mossman, 2009-01-01 Writing with a Vengeance examines the life and works of a nineteenth century French courtesan C leste V nard later the Countess de Chabrillan A notorious Paris courtesan Chabrillan married into the nobility taught herself to write penning two series of memoirs and upon being widowed wrote novels to support herself ten between 1857 and 1885 These novels and memoirs constitute exceptional literary and historical documents particularly as very few sex workers before the twentieth century have left written records of their lives Writing with a Vengeance intertwines the courtesan s autobiographical account of the horrors of her life on the streets with that era s political medical and cultural discourses surrounding prostitution Though French society both silenced and refused to pardon the prostitute Carol Mossman s literary analysis of Chabrillan s novels contends that it is through the process of writing itself that she arrived at self forgiveness and ultimately refashioned for her damaged self a new identity and narrative

Palgrave Handbook of Transnational Women's Writing in the Long Nineteenth Century Claire Emilie

Martin, Clorinda Donato, 2024-03-14 This handbook explores the rich and as yet understudied field of women's writing during the nation building years that characterized the global politics of the long nineteenth century. In the wake of the American and French Revolutions, the waning of the Spanish Empire, subsequent Latin American uprisings, and the Italian Risorgimento, nineteenth-century women writers cracked wide open the myths of gender, race, and class that had sustained the ancien régime. This volume shows that the transnational networks of women writing about politics, sexuality, economics, and the forging of the modern nation were much broader and more inclusive at a global level than has previously been understood. The handbook uniquely foregrounds French, Italian, Latin American, and Spanish women writers, focusing on the transnational nature of their relationships and cultural production within a growing body of research that casts an ever wider net in the effort to document women's voices.

Romancing the Self in Early Modern Englishwomen's Life Writing Julie A.

Eckerle, 2016-04-01 Juxtaposing life writing and romance, this study offers the first book-length exploration of the dynamic and complex relationship between the two genres. In so doing, it operates at the intersection of several recent trends: interest in women's contributions to autobiography; greater awareness of the diversity and flexibility of autobiographical forms in the early modern period; and the use of manuscripts and other material evidence to trace literacy practices. Through analysis of a wide variety of life writings by early modern Englishwomen, including Elizabeth Delaval, Dorothy Calthorpe, Ann Fanshawe, and Anne Halkett, Julie A. Eckerle demonstrates that these women were not only familiar with the controversial romance genre but also deeply influenced by it. Romance, she argues, with its unending tales of unsatisfying love, spoke to something in women's experience: offered a model by which they could recount their own disappointments in a world where arranged marriage and often loveless matches ruled the day and exerted a powerful, pervasive pressure on their textual self-formations. Romancing the Self in Early Modern Englishwomen's Life Writing documents a vibrant, secular form of autobiographical writing that coexisted alongside numerous spiritual forms, providing a much more nuanced and complete understanding of sixteenth and seventeenth-century women's reading and writing literacies.

Beyond Nature Writing Karla

Armbruster, Kathleen R. Wallace, 2001 Ecocriticism, a field of study that has expanded dramatically over the past decade, has nevertheless remained until recently closely focused on critical analyses of nature writing and literature of wilderness. The authors push well beyond that established framework with this collection of essays by respected ecocritics and scholars from the literary and environmental arenas.

a Word of Thought, a Lover's Heart, and a Passion for the Renown Isaac

Jones, 2012-02-15 Throughout my life I have gone through many highs and lows. I battled depression, heart break, and loss for many years. Then God found me, saved me, and called me to a life driven by his grace and love. All these experiences have been blended together in my poetry, and this book is simply the culmination of everything that has been swimming in my head since I was very young. Poetry is the reflection of my soul, my emotions, and my love for Jesus. I hope you enjoy and thank you.

for reading     Life and Writings Samuel Johnson,1860     Books & Life Jan Clausen,1989     Women Writing Trauma in Literature Laura Alexander,2022-10-17 This collection features studies on trauma literary theory and psychoanalysis in women s writing It examines the ways in which literature helps to heal the wounded self and it particularly concentrates attention on the way women explain the traumatic experiences of war violence or displacement Covering a global range of women writers this book focuses on the psychoanalytic role of literature in helping recover the voices buried by intense pain and suffering and to help those voices be heard Literature brings the unconscious into being and focus reconfiguring life through narration These essays look at the relationship between traumatic experience and literary form     The Oxford History of Life-writing Karen Anne Winstead,Alan Stewart,2018 The Oxford History of Life Writing consolidates recent academic research and debate to provide a multi volume history of life writing Each volume provides a selective survey of the range of life writing in a given period with particular focus on the most important or influential authors and works within the genre VOLUME 1 The Middle Ages explores the richness and variety of life writing in the Middle Ages ranging from Anglo Latin lives of missionaries prelates and princes to high medieval lives of scholars and visionaries to late medieval lives of authors and laypeople VOLUME 2 Early modern explores life writing in England between 1500 and 1700 and argues that this was a period which saw remarkable innovations in biography autobiography and diary keeping that laid the foundations for our modern life writing     The Collected Writings of Franz Liszt: F. Chopin Janita R. Hall-Swadley,2011-07-15 Shortly after Chopin s death in 1849 Franz Liszt wrote the first full length biography of his fellow composer As one of Chopin s friends Liszt created a unique biography that allows the reader to experience the world of Chopin through the memories of one of his most adamant supporters This translation is the starting volume of Janita Hall Swadley s The Collected Writings of Franz Liszt the very first production of Liszt s entire literary collection in English In addition to the English translation of Liszt s Gesammelte Schriften collected and edited by Lina Ramann and published in Germany in 1880 83 each volume contains a Foreword written by a scholar and expert on Liszt and that volume s topic New research and perspectives in the field of Liszt studies are presented in the introduction to each book in the series and the translations themselves are enhanced with annotations in accordance with modern standards of musicological research In Volume 1 Liszt provides insight into Chopin s early childhood and musical development the cultural traditions and customs that inspired the polonaises and mazurkas and the final days and hours of the composer before he died Liszt also offers the reader a psychological view of the composer that had not been seriously undertaken by anyone prior to Liszt Although Liszt offered what some scholars regard as perhaps an idealized image of the composer readers will enjoy the personal anecdotes and memories that only one close to the late composer could have known Liszt even takes on the sensitive topic of the love affair between Chopin and the great French woman writer George Sand much to the displeasure of the former s family The Collected Writings of Franz Liszt Volume 1 F Chopin includes a thorough discussion of Liszt as an author and the tainted past that surrounded his writings beginning in the 1930s The much neglected topic of Liszt's relationship with his publishers is explored and the critical questionnaires that Liszt had sent to Chopin's sister in preparation for writing the biography are included Finally a discussion of the professional and personal relationship between Chopin and Liszt is provided making this volume a valuable addition to the study of both composers

A Christian Biographical Dictionary, containing an account of the lives and writings of most distinguished Christians and Theologians, ... in every nation, etc John WILKS (Jun.),1821

Writing the Lives of Painters Karen Junod,2011-01-27 Writing the Lives of Painters explores the development of artists' biographies in eighteenth and early nineteenth century Britain During this period artists gradually distanced themselves from artisans and began to be recognised for their imaginative and intellectual skills The development of the art market and the burgeoning of an exhibition culture as well as the foundation of the Royal Academy of Arts in 1768 all contributed to redefining the rank of artists in society This social redefinition of the status of artists in Britain was shaped by a thriving print culture Contemporary artists were discussed in a wide range of literary forms including exhibition reviews art critical pamphlets and journalistic gossip columns Biographical accounts of modern artists emerged in a dialogue with these other types of writing This book is an account of a new literary genre tracing its emergence in the cultural context of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries It considers artistic biography as a malleable generic framework for investigation Indeed while the lives of painters in Britain did not completely abandon traditional tropes the genre significantly widened its scope and created new individual and social narratives that reflected and accommodated the needs and desires of new reading audiences Writing the Lives of Painters also argues that the proliferation of a myriad biographical forms mirrored the privileging of artistic originality and difference within an art world that had yet to generate a coherent British School of painting Finally by focusing on the emergence of individual biographies of British artists the book examines how and why the art historiographic model established by Giorgio Vasari was gradually dismantled in the hands of British biographers during the Romantic period

Imperialism, Labour and the New Woman Liz Stanley,2014-03-18 Olive Schreiner 1855-1920 was the best known feminist theorist and writer of her time Her writings spanned a number of conventionally separate genres including the novel short story allegory political essay polemic and theoretical treatise which she crafted to produce a highly distinctive feminist and analytical voice A feminist who was contemporaneously an internationally renowned social commentator Schreiner's developing political analysis was and still is highly original She developed a materially based socialist and feminist analysis of labour which led her to theorise social and economic change divisions of labour in society and between women and men capitalism and imperialism around innovative ideas about how and by whom economic and social value was produced She combined with this a keen attention to inter personal relations between women as literally or politically sisters between respectable and sexually outcast women between feminist women and the New Men and within the family Distinctively Schreiner's writings on economic and political life in South Africa criticised the policies and practice of Rhodes in the Cape

Colony and British imperialism in southern Africa more widely She opposed the South African War of 1899 1902 promoted federation rather than union as the form the South African state should take and insisted on equal political rights for all Schreiner steadfastly opposed the development of apartheid segregationist policies and provided a radical analysis of the relationship between race and capital Imperialism Labour and the New Woman is based on primary archive research making particular use of Schreiner s unpublished letters and other major manuscript sources to provide a major reconceptualisation of the scope and importance of her writings and innovative and experimental ideas about genre and form It offers a major rethinking of Schreiner s political writings on South Africa and it emphasises the distinctiveness of Schreiner s contribution as the major feminist theorist of her age and that which followed The book will appeal particularly to readers interested in the development of social theory in influential feminist ideas and writing of the fin de siècle period in the contemporary critique of capitalism and imperialism and in the age of imperialism in Southern Africa as well as to Women s Studies scholars across the academic disciplines

Doing Time, Writing Lives Patrick W. Berry, 2018 Doing Time Writing Lives offers a much needed analysis of the teaching of college writing in U S prisons a racialized space that despite housing more than 2.2 million people remains nearly invisible to the general public Through the examination of a college in prison program that promotes the belief that higher education in prison can reduce recidivism and improve life prospects for the incarcerated and their families author Patrick W Berry exposes not only incarcerated students hopes and dreams for their futures but also their anxieties about whether education will help them Beginning by exploring the need to move beyond narratives of hope when discussing literacy initiatives within prisons Berry then illustrates how teachers and students frequently hold on to different beliefs about literacy and its power in the world After discussing the possibilities and limitations of professional writing courses in prisons the author argues that we need to pay greater attention to teachers and their motivations in prison education initiatives Finally he offers a case study of one formerly imprisoned student who uses writing in his current life and how this does and does not connect with what he learned in his prison education program Combining case studies and interviews with the author s own personal experiences teaching writing in prison Doing Time Writing Lives chronicles how incarcerated students attempt to write themselves back into a society that has erased their lived histories It challenges polarizing rhetoric often used to describe what literacy can and cannot deliver suggesting more nuanced and ethical ways of understanding literacy and possibility in an age of mass incarceration
