The Red Kimono Jan Morrill,2013-03-01 In 1941 racial tensions are rising in the California community where nineyear old Sachiko Kimura and her seventeen year old brother Nobu live Japan has attacked Pearl Harbor people are angry and one night Sachiko and Nobu witness three teenage boys taunting and beating their father in the park Sachiko especially remembers Terrence Harris the boy with dark skin and hazel eyes and Nobu cannot believe the boys capable of such violence toward his father are actually his friends What Sachiko and Nobu do not know is that Terrence s family had received a telegram that morning with news that Terrence s father was killed at Pearl Harbor Desperate to escape his pain Terrence rushes from his home and runs into two high school friends who convince him to find a Japanese man and get revenge They do not know the man they attacked is Sachiko and Nobu s father In the months that follow Terrence is convicted of his crime and Sachiko and Nobu are sent to an internment camp in Arkansas a fictionalized version of the two camps that actually existed in Arkansas during the war While behind bars and barbed wire each of the three young people will go through dramatic changes One will learn acceptance One will remain imprisoned by resentment and one will seek a path to forgiveness

The Red Kimono Jan Morrill,2013-02-01 In 1941 California seventeen year old Nobu and his sister Sachiko witness an assault on their father by a group of teens that includes Nobu s friend Terrence and soon Terrence is jailed for his crime while Nobu and Sachiko are sent to an Arkansas internment camp

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Cyrus R. K. Patell,Deborah Lindsay Williams,2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public s attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States
