Art and Industry: (1892) Industrial and manual training in the public schools United States. Office of Education, Isaac Edwards Clarke, 1892      Cognitive Processing in Bilinguals R.J. Harris, 1992-01-23 This collection of 33 papers represents the most current thinking and research on the study of cognitive processing in bilingual individuals. The contributors include well known figures in the field and promising new scholars representing four continents and work in dozens of languages. Instead of the social political or educational implications of bilingualism the focus is on how bilingual people mostly adults think and process language      Senate documents ,1891      Resources in Education ,1994

Psychologia ,1991      Enhanced Learning and Teaching via Neuroscience Lorna Uden, Gregory Siy Ching, Amy Corrinne Roberts, 2023-11-15 Neuroscience contributes to the basic understanding of the neural mechanisms underlying human development and learning. Educational neuroscience is an interdisciplinary research field that seeks to translate research findings on neural mechanisms of learning to educational practice and policy and to understand the effects of education on the brain. It is an emerging multidisciplinary field where the aim is to link basic research in neuroscience, psychology and cognitive science with educational technology. Educational neuroscience is often associated with the science of learning and encompasses a broad range of scientific disciplines from basic neuroscience to cognitive psychology to computer science to social theory. It is an interdisciplinary research field that seeks to translate research findings on neural mechanisms of learning to educational practice and policy and to understand the effects of education on the brain. Neuroscience research usually focuses only on learning but there is a developing subfield within neuroscience called Mind Brain and Education (MBE) that attempts to link research with teaching. MBE researchers consider how to take advantage of the natural human attention span, how to use studies about memory systems to inform lesson planning and how to use research on the role of emotions in learning. In neuroscience research progress has been extraordinary including advances in both understanding and technology. Scientists from a wide range of disciplines are being attracted to the challenge of understanding the brain. In spite of discoveries regarding the structure of the brain we still do not understand how the nervous system allows us to see, hear, learn, remember and plan certain actions. Educators and schools around the globe are increasingly relying on the knowledge, techniques and programs developed based on a new understanding of how our brains work. This knowledge is being applied to the classroom. A growing amount of attention is being paid to neuroscience and how the results of empirical research may be used to help individuals learn more effectively. In this Research Topic academic scientists, researchers and scholars will share their experiences and research results on all aspects of brain based learning and educational neuroscience. Furthermore, it provides a premier interdisciplinary platform for researchers, practitioners and educators to present the latest developments, trends and concerns. In addition, it discusses practical challenges encountered and solutions adopted in the field of Educational Neuroscience. The focus of this Research Topic is to bring together academic scientists, researchers and scholars to exchange and share their experiences and research findings related to brain based learning and educational neuroscience Researchers practitioners and educators will also be able to present and discuss the newest innovations trends and concerns This will include practical challenges encountered and solutions adopted in Educational Neuroscience as well as in related fields All original and unpublished papers describing conceptual constructive empirical experimental or theoretical work in any area of Brain Based Learning and Educational Neuroscience or studies that explore the intersections between neuroscience psychology and education are highly encouraged Aspects topics and critical issues of interest include but are not limited to neuroscience applications in enhanced learning how students learn mathematics and language personal motivation social and emotional learning motivation the biology of learning brain functions and information processing and many others

Here's Looking at Euclid Alex Bellos,2010-06-15 Too often math gets a bad rap characterized as dry and difficult But Alex Bellos says math can be inspiring and brilliantly creative Mathematical thought is one of the great achievements of the human race and arguably the foundation of all human progress The world of mathematics is a remarkable place Bellos has traveled all around the globe and has plunged into history to uncover fascinating stories of mathematical achievement from the breakthroughs of Euclid the greatest mathematician of all time to the creations of the Zen master of origami one of the hottest areas of mathematical work today Taking us into the wilds of the Amazon he tells the story of a tribe there who can count only to five and reports on the latest findings about the math instinct including the revelation that ants can actually count how many steps they ve taken Journeying to the Bay of Bengal he interviews a Hindu sage about the brilliant mathematical insights of the Buddha while in Japan he visits the godfather of Sudoku and introduces the brainteasing delights of mathematical games Exploring the mysteries of randomness he explains why it is impossible for our iPods to truly randomly select songs In probing the many intrigues of that most beloved of numbers pi he visits with two brothers so obsessed with the elusive number that they built a supercomputer in their Manhattan apartment to study it Throughout the journey is enhanced with a wealth of intriguing illustrations such as of the clever puzzles known as tangrams and the crochet creation of an American math professor who suddenly realized one day that she could knit a representation of higher dimensional space that no one had been able to visualize Whether writing about how algebra solved Swedish traffic problems visiting the Mental Calculation World Cup to disclose the secrets of lightning calculation or exploring the links between pineapples and beautiful teeth Bellos is a wonderfully engaging guide who never fails to delight even as he edifies Here s Looking at Euclid is a rare gem that brings the beauty of math to life
